HINES'S MEMORY PLAYS ODD TRICKS IN LORIMER CASE

Remembers Every Detail of Funk Talk; Rest of Day's Doings Nearly Blank.

His Indignation Failed to Hurry Him in Communicating with Edward Tilden.

CONTRADICTS STORY OF C. F. WIEHE

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—[Special.]—Edward Hines, president of the Hines Lumber company, underwent a stiff cross examination today by Attorney Marble before the senate Lorimer investigating committee.

The most interesting development of the proceeding was the exactitude of Mr. Hines with respect to every detail of his celebrated conversation with Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, and his failure to remember other incidents of the previous day and even his movements in and out of Washington last winter.

He knew that on May 27, 1909—more than two years ago—Mr. Funk grasped him by the lower left arm just below the elbow, but he could not recall specially what had occurred the previous day following a conversation with Herman H. Hettler, president of a Chicago lumber company.

His counsel had caused Mr. Hines to introduce into the record bills rendered by the Willard Hotel company here for accommodations from Jan. 31 until March 4 niclusive, to show he had not been in Chicago at the time Mr. Funk says he went to his (Funk's) office for the purpose of muddling his memory as to the Union League club conversation.

Office Records Shown Defective.

Mr. Hines also testified that the records of his Chicago office, prepared from notifications he gave it each day, established his daily location.

Under cross examination he admitted visits to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York which were not shown in his office record nor in the bills of the hotel.

He said he never had until yesterday revealed the offer of Mr. Funk to contribute a share to the Lorimer election expenses. He did not tell the Helm committee because that body did not question him along that line and because he did not connect Mr. Funk's offer with any impropriety at the time the alleged offer was made. He presumed the offer related only to "the honorable legitimate expenses" of a man running for office.

When he testified before the Helm committee he had not the slightest idea of Mr. Funk intending to make any such statements as he did, he said. Senator Jones asked:

"You did not understand that his suggestion was in regard to raising money to help elect Mr. Lorimer?"

Indignation Failed to Move Him.

Mr. Hines said he was decidedly indignant when he learned of the character of Funk's testimony, but he did not communicate with Mr. Tilden, in spite of his indignation, until the next morning. Nor did he inform Mr. Tilden of the Funk offer before the packer testified before the Helm committee. He insisted, in spite of the statement of Christian F. Wiehe, his brother-in-law, that he did not authorize Wiehe to urge William O'Brien, as well as Wirt H. Cook, last May to get out of Chicago at midnight in order to escape a subpœna from the grand jury then sitting in the Browne case. His message was sent to Cook alone.

The witness said his reason for this was his desire not to embarrass either Senator Lorimer or Gov. Deneen, who might have been placed at political disadvantage if the fact had become public that he had brought a message to the governor from Washington urging him to assist in Lorimer's election.

He regarded Cook's statement that he had talked with Gov. Deneen from Cook's room, wherein Cook alleged Hines said he would take down all the money required for Lorimer's election, as a reflection upon the governor, but he was not a friend of Mr. Deneen and saw no reason to communicate with him in regard to any development before the Helm committee.

The witness testified positively that Sen-

100 WISE MEN

In May more than 100 different display advertisers used no morning paper in Chicago but The Tribune. The number of classified advertisers using The Tribune exclusively is, of course, very much larger than that.

These advertisers know that The Tribune brings results. Some of them have made costly experiments to learn finally the wholesome truth that the value of a newspaper is not measured by the initial cost of space but by the return on the investment. Cut rates and bargain offers may temporarily tempt, but they cannot make advertising pay.

At the half year mark The Tribune is far ahead of every other Chicago paper in volume of advertising. Here is The Tribune's official record compared with that of the paper next in rank:

	June, 1911	First Six Months 1911	Gain Over First Six Months 1910	Loss Over First Six Months 1910

NOTE—These statistics are prepared by the Washington Press, an independent audit company whose sole business is to measure, certify and furnish to its subscribers the advertising figures of all Chicago papers.

MONOPOLY IN ORE SECRET OF POWER OF STEEL COMBINE

Smith Says Trust Owns 75 Per Cent of All Lake District Deposits of Metals.

GIVES HISTORY OF MERGER

Tells Taft Restriction of Competition Is Main Object Sought in the Move.

MUCH "WATER" IN THE STOCK

Washington, D. C., June 30.—Restriction of competition is declared to have been the main object of the organizers of the United States Steel corporation, which, capitalized at $1,402,000,000, had property worth only $682,000,000.

The corporation, having concentrated its efforts to obtain ore properties, now owns 75 per cent of the lake ores, upon which the present steel industry is based.

These are some of the conclusions reached in the long expected report of Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith on the steel industry, part 1 of which was submitted to the president today.

Describes Evasion of Contest.

Discussing in detail how "the impending struggle of the giants" was averted almost over night by the formation of the great combination of combinations, taking in 250 subsidiary companies controlling 60 per cent of the total crude and finished steel production of the country, the report says:

"Until 1898 the bulk of the business was distributed among a considerable number of concerns. There was sharp competition, modified by frequent pools of greater or less duration and effectiveness."

Then came an era of great combinations, the report continues, with capitalizations ranging from $30,000,000 to $100,000,000, mergers of many smaller companies, which, instead of eliminating competition, threatened to bring price cutting on a larger scale than ever before.

Three Great Combines Formed.

In 1899-1900 there were three great companies—the Carnegie company, Federal Steel and National Steel—dominating the production of crude and semi-finished products, and six concerns—the American Steel and Wire, American Tin Plate, American Steel Hoop, American Sheet Steel, National Tube, and American Bridge—controlling the lighter finished products.

This was the period when the "struggle of the giants" was impending and when the formation of the United States Steel corporation was conceived and brought about.

All nine of the companies named were combined, and later the Union Steel company, the Clairton Steel company, and, in 1907, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company were taken over. The promoting syndicate putting the deal through netted $62,500,000 in cash.

Dividends Higher than Shown.

During the ten years of its operation, the report says, the steel trust has paid average annual profits of 12 per cent on the money invested. In this connection attention is called to the fact that a considerable part of the investment is in undeveloped or unworked properties, showing that dividends from paying properties must be much larger than the average would indicate.

Insisting upon computing profits upon a tangible property value basis, the report says that the steel corporation, in defending its book valuation, undoubtedly would claim that there was a "merger value." As to this, the commissioner says:

"It is probably true that the various properties acquired by the steel corporation, taken together with the organization of this company as a going concern, do have a value in excess of the sum of their values as separate entities. The coördination and integration made possible by the combination of such properties under a single control undoubtedly tend to reduce costs either through economies or through removing the necessity of paying profits to others.

Monopoly Aids Earning Power.

"Further, in so far as the concentration of the industry under control of a single concern gives to it a monopolistic power over prices and production, this may result in an increase in its earning power and consequently in an increase in its value as a going concern. This involves, however, the reduction of actual or potential competition.

"To allow a single company, which has secured the bulk of a given industry, credit for such merger value as a basis on which to earn profits raises, therefore, a question of far reaching public policy. To regard a valuation so arrived at as justifying such profits under these conditions would be reasoning in a circle, because the real question is whether the profits themselves, used to determine the capitalization, were reasonable."

Since the corporation has been directing its efforts toward acquiring and extending complete control over ore properties, its percentage of production has decreased. As against 60 per cent of all crude and finished production in 1901, says the report, the corporation now has not much over 50 per cent, indicating conclusively the continuous presence of strong and increasing independent production."

Gary Dinners Cut Competition.

The commissioner finds that competition, so far as prices are concerned, has been modified by the policy of "coöperation" inaugurated at the "Gary dinners," about which so much has been said before the congressional steel investigating committee.

The present valuation of the combine's tangible property is placed at $1,178,000,000, as against $1,468,000,000 outstanding securities, an increase of about $487,000,000 in property,

TRAIN CHILDREN? GO TO ANIMALS!

Noted Biologist Says They Learn Much Alike; Tells of Experiments.

EXPLODES MANY NOTIONS

BANG! GO OLD THEORIES.

Animals, perhaps babies, learn as quickly through fear of punishment as through hope of reward.

Chickens don't know how to peck when they come out of the shell; they have to learn.

Ducks can't drink skillfully at the first attempt; they learn by trying.

Monkey's don't learn by imitation; they won't learn to do the simplest things shown them.

—From the experiments of Prof. John B. Watson.

Laboratory experiments in the psychology of the orang-outang and the chimpanzee may enable the world to revise its methods of teaching children in the light of exact science, according to Prof. John B. Watson of Johns Hopkins university.

Prof. Watson told in a lecture on "Animal Psychology" at the University of Chicago yesterday of simple experiments with white rats which already hint at the solution of much debated educational problems.

Says, "Chicks Don't Peck."

Incidentally, Prof. Watson exploded the popular notion that young chickens know how to peck as soon as they come out of the shell and that ducks can drink without having to learn.

"We have found in the laboratory that the first attempts at drinking or pecking result in a large percentage of failures," he said. "The animal gradually learns how to perform these operations by trying and failing and trying again."

One series of experiments performed under Prof. Watson's direction was aimed at the old question whether the fear of punishment or the hope of reward is the stronger motive. The answer is: "both."

Tries Fear vs. Reward Experiments.

"In a series of 600 experiments with each motive," Prof. Watson said, "followed by a series of 600 with the two motives combined we used a 'problem box.' This was so arranged that a rat entering the box might choose between going down a passage illuminated through a ground glass with a sixteen candle power electric bulb or down one illuminated by a two candle power bulb.

"In the first series the rats were rewarded with food whenever they chose the passage leading to the light we had determined on. The result was that the rats succeeded in 60 per cent of the cases. In the next series we punished the rats which chose the wrong light. They registered 80 per cent of successes. In the final series we rewarded the rats which succeeded and punished those which failed. The result was that they learned their lessons perfectly and we marked them 100 per cent."

Slow Learning Makes Rats Wise.

Other experiments were directed to decide whether the animals learned faster when they did a problem five times a day than when they did it only three times a day. The animals which practiced only three times a day succeeded best, while those which practiced only once a day far exceeded the others in quickness.

Prof. Watson said that animals cannot reason, in his experience, and that 90 per cent of their learning is gained by the trial and error method.

"I have had no success in teaching monkeys to do things by showing them how. I experimented for two or three years in the hope of teaching some of them to use a rake to reach food which had been placed outside the bars of their cages, but they seemed incapable of learning the trick.

YOUTH, CRAZED, FLEES TO SEA IN NIGHT CLOTHES; SUICIDE?

Kenneth Linn, Said to Be Chicagoan, Victim of Baseball Injury, Vanishes in East—$1,000 Reward for Return.

Cotuit, Mass., June 30.—[Special.]—Kenneth Linn, whose home is said to be in Chicago, his widowed mother, and a trained nurse, R. L. Sawyer, arrived here last evening. Fatigued by the journey, they retired early. Linn, who is 20 years old and has been an invalid about a year, disappeared from his room a short time later during the temporary absence of Sawyer. Apparently, in his night clothing, he had climbed down the waterspout to the lawn.

A thorough search was made for him and at dusk today it was discovered that the sailboat Water Witch was missing. Soon after a fisherman reported having seen an overturned boat far out on the ocean. It is supposed the youth committed suicide, but there is a possibility that he was picked up at sea. A rumor current tonight is that he was rescued by a steamer from Portland bound for New York.

It is said that a year ago, while a student in a western college, he was struck on the head by a ball during an intercollegiate baseball game. Ever since he has been subject to spells of dementia, it is said, and during these attacks he has suffered from a suicidal mania.

His mother has published an advertisement offering $1,000 reward for his return.

New London, Conn., June 30.—[Special.]—While Harold Vanderbilt and Miss Eleanora Sears were in the railroad station here today a newspaper photographer set his camera to snap them. The next thing the people in the train shed knew was that the photographer and the aristocrat were mixing it up. It was a battle royal for a few minutes, and when the plebeian emerged from the mass his collar was hanging dejectedly from one side of his neck and Mr. Vanderbilt bore unmistakable evidence that he had been a-milling. Policemen separated the combatants, but did not make any arrests. Miss Sears appeared to enjoy the battle greatly.

SAYS HE'S HEIR TO $300,000,000

Joliet Man Hears Wonderful Story of Family Wealth from Alleged Relative in Chicago.

On the strength of a story told to him by a man who represented himself as Joseph Hermes, a mill and steel tester of Chicago, Peter Hermes, a retired mill man of Joliet, is hoping that he will get a share of $300,000,000. This money, according to the Chicago man, who claims relationship to the Joliet Hermes, is to be distributed by the French government to the heirs of George Hermes, who was a diamond merchant of Germany, and who, according to the same authority, loaned Louis XV. $60,000,000 to build a navy. The difference in the amounts represents interest to date at 3 per cent.

ONE CIPHER COSTS $99,900.

Four Heirs of Mrs. E. P. Allis Get $100 Instead of $100,000, Because of Error in Will.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 30.—[Special.]—Because Mrs. E. P. Allis, widow of the engine builder, who founded what is now the Allis-Chalmers company, forgot one cipher in writing her will, four grandchildren, whom she meant to give $25,000 each, are cut off with $25. This decision was rendered in the Circuit court today, after an appeal from the Probate court. The will gave each child $25.00. The court ruled that the period between the five and the ciphers could not be interpreted as a comma and a third cipher added.

ROB FAST TRAIN OUTSIDE ERIE, PA.

Masked Men Place Obstacles on Track and Rifle Mail and Express Cars.

NEARLY 100 SHOTS FIRED.

Erie, Pa., June 30.—A fast mail and passenger train on the Philadelphia and Erie railroad was held up tonight five miles from this city by a band of a dozen masked men.

The mail and express cars were rifled and three of the crew, C. H. Block of Erie, mail clerk, H. D. Rooney, Erie, conductor, and C. F. Bemis, a brakeman, were injured. Block was shot in the right side and was taken to a hospital. He probably will die. Rooney was struck by a stone thrown by one of the robbers. Bemis was shot in the arm.

Within a few moments after word of the holdup was received here every officer in the city was called into action. Many of them boarded a special train for the scene, while others were taken there in automobiles and other conveyances.

Late tonight the surrounding country was dotted with men and lanterns searching for the robbers and contents of mail bags and valuable packages taken from the train.

Held on Sharp Curve.

The holdup occurred on the sharpest curve on the division and at one of the most deserted places. Dispatchers at the division office here received a report at 10 o'clock that the train had passed Belle Valley, the last telegraph station before this city. The train then was on time and due here ten minutes later. At 11 o'clock a weak voice called by telephone and said:

"We've been robbed, we've been robbed. Maybe lots are shot."

It was the report of Conductor Rooney to the officials and their first intimation of the robbery.

As the train was rounding the curve the engineer saw an obstruction ahead. He stopped the train, but not before it crashed into ties and telegraph poles that had been placed across the track.

When the train struck the obstruction it was first believed by the passengers that there had been a collision with another train. The next moment, however, the crack of revolvers acquainted them with the real cause of the train's stop.

Brakeman Bemis Shot.

Bemis, the brakeman, rushed from one of the coaches into the mail car. He had no more than reached the door when he fell with a bullet through his arm. The robbers then kicked Bemis out of the car.

Conductor Rooney fired four shots at the men, all the cartridges he had in his revolver, without any apparent effect. One of the bandits hurled a stone at Rooney. It struck him and he dropped. Later he recovered and made his way to a telephone, one mile from the robbery, where he reported the holdup.

With all the members of the crew either injured or under guard, the robbers rifled the cars.

Shots Cause a Stampede.

As the train came to a standstill several of the passengers alighted to ascertain the trouble. Their presence drew the fire of the masked men and there was a stampede to reënter the cars.

A passenger, whose name was not learned, caught hold of one of the robbers, but was picked up bodily and thrown over a 300 foot embankment.

Almost before the train had reached the obstruction, the masked band had taken up their position at practically every entrance to the cars. When the passengers began pouring from the track there was a few sharp cries from the men to get back into the cars. When a number of the excited passengers failed to take this advice the bandits opened fire. They shot along the sides of the cars, level with the windows, and this effectively put an end to the curiosity of the passengers. Nearly 100 shots were fired.

Within the cars there was a panic. A number of women fainted, while the screams of others caused much confusion.

ELECTION BOARD SPENDS $942,500, BUT FACES COURT

Voting Machine, Not Yet Made, Ordered to Number of 1,000 for Chicago.

CROOKED DEAL CHARGED

Empire Company Gets Contracts; Rivals, Barred from Room, Plan Suits.

CZARNECKI FIGHTS IN VAIN.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.
[Late Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.]

The election commissioners decided yesterday afternoon to purchase 1,000 Empire voting machines at a total cost of $942,500. Commissioners Kellermann and Taylor voted in favor of the scheme. The other commissioner, Anthony Czarnecki not only voted aganist it, but made seven different motions to obtain a reasonable delay.

The question of money with which to pay for the devices was not even discussed. Not even a sample of the required capacity of the machine they decided to purchase has been constructed, and, of course, the machine has not been approved by the state board of examiners, in accordance with the law.

No public exhibition of machines will be given, although this is a direct violation of the board's specifications.

Rival Makers Get No Chance.

All of the competing machine men say the model of the Empire machine on exhibition does not comply with the state law. This they offered to prove if given an opportunity. They were denied a chance to show anything.

They were barred from the room in which the board held its star chamber session. After the order for buying the machines had been put over Kellermann and Taylor blandly denied responsibility for having barred the other voting machine men from the session. Disclaimor was also made by Chief Clerk Bill Stuart, who was charged with having issued the order. All three competing companies say they will appeal to the courts at once.

"It was the coarsest piece of business I have ever seen, and I have been in politics for twenty years," J. J. Farrell of the Triumph company said to Chairman Kellermann. "This proposition to buy machines has looked wrong from the start. If you had treated us half way decent I would be the last to kick. It was a roughshod transaction and the whole thing looks mighty queer."

Winslow Calls It Coarse Work.

"It was the rawest thing I ever experienced," interrupted L. R. Winslow of the company bearing his name. "You need not think we are a lot of monkeys because we have had to sit outside on the same bench. You can never get away with that coarse work."

"It looks very queer that you did not want any information in expending $1,000,000 of the people's money," put in a representative of the International company. "We have been waiting three months for this opportunity to talk, which was denied us this afternoon."

"You could have come in. No one kept you out," said Mr. Kellermann.

"I was literally shoved out of the door," replied Frank E. Shopen, attorney for the International.

"The door was open to you," suggested the commissioner.

"That door there was slammed in our faces," shot back Mr. Winslow, "and no one dared pass it except this TRIBUNE man."

Mr. Kellermann tried in vain to explain. The machine sellers refused to be satisfied, insisting that some one had given the order that they be barred. The machine men were told it was Commissioner Czarnecki. The fact is that Czarnecki actually suggested that the machine men be invited into the meeting. He said after the session that he did not know the representatives had been denied admission.

Door Into Hallway Locked.

For the first time in three weeks the door of the hallway leading to the board room was locked early yesterday afternoon. It was explained that the commissioners were considering civil service matters. In half an hour it was unlocked.

Later the door to the chief clerk's office was shut and the guard outside said he had orders not to open it. Before the voting machine topic was taken up newspaper representatives were admitted. Within a few minutes Commissioner Czarnecki suggested to Chairman Kellermann that the machine men be invited in.

"I guess there is no objection," replied Mr. Kellermann.

"I don't see why we should invite them in," said Chief Clerk Stuart. "They have had their day in court. When a jury gets a case it does not invite the defending and prosecuting witnesses to assist in arriving at a verdict."

"I don't think they ought to be in here," said Commissioner Taylor. "An attorney approached me today and asked to be heard, and if we let him in everyone will have to come in."

"When we started on this proposition the record showed that all of the machine men were present," commented Commissioner Czarnecki. "Let the record now show they are not present, if you are not going to invite them in."

Says It Was Cut and Dried.

"Invited?" commented Mr. Winslow afterwards. "They had their program before they went into session."

Probably they did, for Commissioner Taylor was seen correcting the resolution for the purchase of voting machines early yesterday morning. The resolution comprises the affirmative action taken by the board. It has a preamble with four paragraphs.

These recite that the agitation for machines started ten years ago, the law was passed eight years ago and approved by the Supreme court six years ago. In addition it asserts that the voters of the city, by a vote of 9 to 1, approved of the law, that machines have been used in Chicago elections on various occasions, and that there have been several tests of machines.

The last "whereas" attempts to give the impression that the public is now clamoring for voting devices because it is declared that "the press and the people have long heretofore demanded the speedy equipment of all precincts with voting machines and the duty of responding to this demand rests upon the board."

How the Resolution Reads.

The remainder of the resolution reads as follows:

> Resolved, That this board do at once proceed to arrange for the purchase of 1,000 voting machines deliverable in installments approximately as provided by the specifications hitherto adopted by the board.
>
> Resolved, That we concur in the opinion of the committee of experts recently rendered to this board in favor of the Empire voting machine and that the company owning said machines and the patents thereof be notified that this board is ready to enter into a formal contract for the purchase of 1,000 Empire voting machines upon compliance by the company with the specifications hitherto adopted by this board, including the actual production of an efficient Empire voting machine in the office of this board, having nine party columns with seventy places for names of candiates in each column, and with twelve places for propositions, which machine shall first have had the approval of the state board of voting machine commissioners, and upon the further condition that said contract shall provide that if, after the acceptance of any installment of said machines, it shall be found on actual use of said machines that said machines so installed do not fully comply with the laws of Illinois relating to voting machines, then thereafter all provisions in said contract for the acceptance of and payment for all future installments of said machines shall be null, void, and of no effect.

Czarnecki Question Dodged.

At the beginning of the discussion on voting machines Commissioner Czarnecki said that he wanted to know whether all of the defects pointed out by the experts hired by the old board had been corrected on the machines submitted.

"Will they prevent a voter from voting for sixteen candidates when there are only fifteen in the group to be elected?" asked the commissioner. "That could be done on the old machines."

Commissioner Taylor engaged his colleague in a long explanation as to what information he desired by the question. Actually it was never answered.

"None of those machines permits a voter to cast three votes at on time for a legislativ candidate," said Chairman Kellerman.

Commissioner Taylor, Chief Clerk Stuart, and Attorney Mitchell assured the chairman that he was wrong. He insisted upon showing every one on the machine that he was right. The machine showed that three votes could be cast for a legislative candidate, but not at one time.

Commissioner Czarnecki then began with his seven motions. None of them received a second, and they were not even put to a vote.

What Board Refused to Do.

Those motions are as follows:

1. That the attorney of the board supply its members with his legal opinion regarding the possible source of the money for the purchase.
2. That the board purchase not more than 120 machines.
3. That the board consult with the mayor, controller, and chairman of the council finance committee regarding funds before a purchase is made.
4. That the Empire company correct the five defects pointed out by the experts before the order is approved by the board.
5. That the board have a public exhibition of the machines before any purchase is made, in conformity with section 18 of the specifications.
6. That the proposition of spending $1,000,000 for the Empire machine be submitted to the voters for approval.
7. That the question of purchase be delayed for a reasonable time, that the board may gain all the information possible.

In the course of debate on these motions their author said: "The best test of a machine is in an election. Why contract for a large number of machines when the purchase of a few will prove whether they are reliable? Why buy 1,000, anyway?"

Taylor Champions Machines.

Dr. Taylor did most of the talking for the machines. He began by saying that only 700 were needed as a starter.

"But you know we must look to the future," he went on. "Chicago is growing. We will annex more territory—probably shortly. Then we will need some machines to take the place of machines which get out of order."

The last sounded like a good reason for purchasing more than could be actually used, if Dr. Taylor had not said later that Milwaukee had used machines for eight years and never had one disabled in an election. The other two reasons would also have sounded fine had not Chief Clerk Stuart later asserted that Chicago really needed 1,000 machines. He said that machines would only reduce the number of precincts one-third and that the city now has practically 1,840 and will have 1,500 before the machines are delivered.

"That's right," interjected Dr. Taylor. "Besides we asked bids on 1,200 machines and the makers submitted prices on that understanding, and it is improbable that they would deliver less than 1,000 at the price they bid."

All three of the losing companies said they would sell 120 machines at the price they submitted for a lot of 1,200.

Makes Charge of Procrastination.

"I recognize in all of these motions of Commissioner Czarnecki that old procrastination which has encircled the board for years," said Dr. Taylor. "The time has come for action. The time for those dilatory tactics has passed, I say, go ahead."

"I would like to know where we are going to get the money," said Commissioner Czarnecki. "I would like to see the opinion of the attorney."

"The county judge and the attorney are satisfied that we can get the money," responded Commissioner Taylor.

"They are satisfied," added Chief Clerk Stuart. "That is a matter for the machine men to worry about."

"If we cannot find the money, that ends it," opined Dr. Taylor. "We are just notifying the company we are ready to enter into a contract."

"Why give that notice until they correct the defects in the machine they have and build a machine of the capacity we require in Chicago," suggested Commissioner Czarnecki.

Mr. Czarnecki, as a matter of fact, first heard about it when he accidentally saw Commissioner Taylor remodeling his resolution. Mr. Taylor bluntly accused his colleague of being impolite, inquisitive, and almost impertinent, when the latter sought information about the resolution. That was before the board meeting.

CIVIL SERVICE IN; POLITICIANS OUT

Many Leaders Lose Jobs When New Statewide Law Goes Into Effect.

HAAS GETS GOOD PLACE.

Chicago Man Made Secretary of Joint Boards of Pardon and Parole.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—[Special.]—Civil service blanketed the state at midnight and under the theory of the merit law about all of the practical politicians in the Republican organization went out of commis-

Joseph F. Haas, former Cook county clerk, a two termer as state senator and one of the mainstays of the northwest side Republican organization, drew down the fattest plum in the eleventh hour settlement.

He was made secretary of the board of pardons and of the board of parole, the joint salaries amounting to $3,500, but eliminating him, under the law, from further active participation in politics. He is to move to Springfield and take charge of the force of parole agents which is authorized by the revised law. He succeeds D. B. Breed of Freeport, Stephenson county, who resigned. The arrangement is reported to be satisfactory to all concerned.

Advice to Fire Marshals.

The new force of fifteen new deputy and assistant fire marshals who become the lieutenants of Fire Marshal C. J. Doyle started at midnight to be one of the most important branches of the executive department. Fire Marshal Doyle addressed them.

"Men," he said, "I am about to say things to you today which cannot be said tomorrow. This is the last time that we can talk cold turkey, because tomorrow you will be in the fix of the postmasters and the other fellows who are protected by civil service. Remember this, however. Do not be more perniciously active than those same postmasters. Remember that you have been appointed here through the recommendations of perhaps your congressman, your neighbors, or influential friends, and that the time may come when it is well to remember just why you are here."

This brief statement of Mr. Doyle is said to be the last word of the political leaders who have been handling the state politics of Illinois for nearly a decade.

Fire Marshal's Office Appointees.

The appointees in the state fire marshal's office are:

C. J. Doyle, Greenfield, state fire marshal.

F. R. Morgaridge, Sterling, assistant marshal.

A. A. Bach, Chicago, chief deputy.

W. S. Hoopes, Sumner, first deputy.

Frank E. Salisbury, Chicago, second deputy.

Field deputies—R. B. Connelly, Waukegan; Ira D. Adams, Lexington; Charles J. Roberts, Champaign; S. Logereid, Centralia; J. B. Lytton, Metropolis; Henry J. Sloan, Danville; James F. Galvin, East St. Louis; Niels Juul Jr., Chicago; H. S. Lovejoy, Rockford; Harry Moss, Paris; D. N. Blaiser, Aledo; A. H. Bogardus Jr., Springfield; Leonard McMurtrie, Lacon.

State Game Warden J. A. Wheeler becomes a civil service appointee, as his appointment under the game law is not by confirmation. Mr. Wheeler's name was certified to the civil service commission. He is the only head of a department who goes under the certified list.

Many Demand Own Retention.

The heads of the different departments which passed under civil service were in hot water all day long. Hundreds of state employés were in Springfield attempting to preserve their rights and to remain on the pay roll until the magical moment which carried them under the blanket clause.

The state civil service commission has made heavy additions to its force in order to prepare for the work which will be entailed by the active operation of the new law.

DEMOCRATS CLEAN UP COOK.

Frank Pasdeloup, for more than a dozen years chief clerk of the county clerk's office, was tossed out of his job yesterday that State Senator A. F. Gorman of the Fourth district might be appointed before the civil service law became effective at 1 minute after midnight today. The state senator thereby escapes the bother of showing his competency by taking an examination. Mr. Pasleloup is a Republican. Gorman, as a supporter of County Clerk Sweitzer, was rewarded.

That was only one of the many changes in the county service yesterday for the purpose of putting inexeperienced partisans under the cover of the merit system. Six thousand other county employés breathed sighs of relief when the clock struck midnight, for at that hour they passed automatically into the classified service under the protection of the new law.

Graham Henchman Gets Plum.

Former Ald. Daniel V. Harkin also received a plum. He was given the position of recorder of efficiency for the civil service commission. He was chairman of the speakers' bureau in the Andrew J. Graham mayoralty fight. The position was created by the county board to relieve the merit board from the embarrassment of making an eleventh hour appointment, which they have been criticising. President Bartzen ordered Mr. Harkin's name placed on the pay roll.

Edward J. McCarthy, chief clerk in the controller's office, was one of the lucky Republicans who had enough backing to retain his place. Mr. McCarthy was the chief aid to the former controller, who happened to be James Monaghan, chief lieutenant in the Thirty-fourth ward of Senator Lorimer. The present head of the office is Frank S. Ryan and he is a Democratic leader of this same ward. Perhaps there is some connection between these relationships.

Some of "Old Guard" Remain.

There was other evidence of bipartisanship in the new appointments to less conspicuous positions. A number of Republicans have been appointed in several offices during the week and a number of Republicans continued from the old administrations have been retained.

Robert Catherwood of the Chicago Civil Service Reform association warned county officials yesterday that pay roll padding by means of adding "extra" employés would be at their own risk.

TRAMP SHOOTS CHICAGO GIRL.

Marauder Fatally Wounds Former Inmate of Geneva Home on Farm Near Elgin.

With a bullet in her abdomen, Anna Dieball of Chicago, a paroled inmate of the Geneva home for girls, was found dying yesterday at the home of C. H. Yeoman, a farmer living near Elgin, by whom she was employed. She says a tramp shot her. Yeoman found her unconscious upon his return from Bartlett. She was taken to the Sherman hospital. No hope is held out for her recovery.

HOUSEWIVES WANT A LEADER

Employes in the Homes Favor Ten Hour Day, but Anonymously.

SET FORTH THEIR DEMANDS.

Complaints of Working Conditions Given by Many Women.

DEMANDS OF HOUSEWIVES.

The night key.
Matinée tickets twice a week.
Husbands must darn their own hose.
Half the bank roll.

The housewives are up in arms. Suffragetism may go to blazes. Votes for women may be favored by a militant few. But the stay-at-home women of Chicago are almost determined to strike—while the flatiron is hot.

All that is needed now is a leader sufficiently "lady and mistress" of her own house to come out in the open and fight for the ten hour law—and the bonbons of victory are ready to be tasted.

Many Chicago housewives called up THE TRIBUNE yesterday to give their experiences in favor of the ten hour workday. However, so personal were their remarks that again it is necessary to use the blanket of anonymity. Here is a composite interview:

Work Like Perpetual Motion.

"I've been wanting to speak my mind regarding that brute husband of mine for years," said Mrs. La Salle Jones, "and now that I have the chance, I want to say that lowbrowed male makes me work like perpetual motion.

"Here's a sample half hour of the twenty-four: First, in the morning, I must prepare his shaving water. Then I put the buttons in his shirt, turn his stockings outside in, part his hair—because he can't make it lay down behind, open his eggs—because the hot shells burn his hands, fix his baked potato for the same reason, pour his coffee, and then stare across the table at the back side of the newspaper he reads through the meal.

"Then I have to put a butter plate in his pocket, so he'll feel it when he gets downtown and remember to mail my letters, fasten his cuffs, and look pleased when he doles out his good-by peck."

Some Resigned to Slavery.

Some Chicago women, a minority, declared the ten hour day for housewives an impossibility.

Mrs. D. Harry Hammer said that the housewife who does her work unassisted is a slave—a willing slave, however, that no reformer could change. Mrs. Herman Falkenstein of the Esther Falkenstein settlement says that it is impossible for a woman to finish her work before bedtime.

Mrs. Julia Goddriaux, 2818 Maplewood avenue, mother of ten children, who does all of her own work, asserts that mothers generally are contented, even though their work lasts from sunrise to bedtime. She feels sorry for the women whose time for work is regulated by law and says that ten hours is too much for them.

ATTACK POLICE PENSION LAW.

Operators Start Mandamus Proceedings to Force City to Allow Them to Receive Benefits.

Mandamus proceedings were begun in the Superior court yesterday to force the city authorities and members of the board of trustees for the police pension fund to allow all police operators to participate in the benefits of the police pension fund. The suit was commenced by counsel representing John P. Reed, Frank J. Sullivan, and George J. Nealin, police operators.

Mrs. Anneta Cook, as the widow of William P. Cook, a police operator who served on the department for thirteen years prior to his death in February, filed mandamus proceedings in the Circuit court yesterday to force the trustees to allow her a pension.

It was charged in her suit that under a true construction of the act creating the fund she is entitled to receive the benefits of the fund as the widow of a member of the police department.

FIX PROBATION OFFICER RULES

Municipal and Circuit Court Judges Outline Plans.

$3,000 SALARY FOR CHIEF.

Newspaper Man Said to Be Choice of Jurists for This Job.

Nine rules governing adult probation were adopted yesterday at a joint meeting of circuit and municipal court judges in the assembly room of the Municipal court. The rules outline the duties of the chief and other probation officers and fix their bonds respectively at $5,000 and $1,000.

The salaries have not been fixed, but $3,000 has been mentioned as that of the chief. The judges will appoint the officers, and it is expected that the first appointments will include a chief and five assistants. Names of applicants were kept secret, but it was admitted that there had been several, and it was said that a newspaper man was favored for the position of chief.

If the rules adopted are followed probation records will not be court records. One paragraph of rule 6 says:

"Records shall be open to inspection by any judge or probation officer pursuant to order of court, but shall not be a public record, and its contents shall not be divulged otherwise than as above provided, except under order of court."

All applications for release on probation must be in writing. The application must state the financial condition of the person and must set forth the relationship, ages, and conditions of those dependent upon him for support, maintenance, and education.

DEMOCRATS MEET AND PLAN.

Fourteen Members of Progressive Committee on Organization Assemble at La Salle Hotel.

The State Progressive Democratic committee on organization met yesterday at Hotel La Salle. Fourteen members were in attendance, including Mayor Harrison, Corporation Counsel Sexton, and Sheriff Michael Zimmer. Judge Owen Thompson of Jacksonville sent his regrets in response to the call for the meeting. State Senator Burton of Carlinville and Judge John E. Owens of Chicago also were absent.

It was decided to organize a committee of 250 members, ten from each congressional district. A meeting of this new committee will be called in Chicago for Sept. 7.

LOOP SITES GO TO FIELD ESTATE

Chicago Opera House and White Washington Street Property Net $3,000,000.

ENDS LONG TRANSACTION.

No Plans Made for Improvements, but Big Building Probably Will Result.

The announcement was made yesterday that the Marshall Field estate had closed the purchase of the Chicago opera house property, at the southwest corner of Washington and Clark streets, and the White estate property adjoining on the west at 126-130 Washington street, old number.

For the Chicago opera house property the Field estate paid about $2,100,000 and for the White property over $900,000, making a total the ultimate improvement of the property of approximately $3,000,000 for the two. With which, it is thought, will cost $6,000,000 or more, the total investment will approximate $10,000,000, bringing it on a par with the great project of the Continental-Commercial National bank at La Salle, Adams, Quincy streets, and Fifth avenue.

Big Improvements Are Planned.

It was announced, however, that no plans have been formed regarding the improvement of the property, but as it was bought for investment purposes there is little doubt that it will be improved in a high class manner in accordance with the general policy of the Field estate.

Inasmuch, however, as existing leases in the opera house will not make that property available for improvement until 1914, it is thought the White property will be improved prior to that time, to be followed later on by the improvement of the opera house section.

The two properties have a frontage of 197 feet on Washington street, with a depth of 180 feet to an 18 foot alley, while on the west of the White property is a 35 foot easement between it and the Chamber of Commerce building.

The opera house property, which fronts 107 feet on Washington and 180 feet on Clark, was conveyed by Clarence I. Peck, Ferdinand W. Peck, and the heirs of Harold W. Peck, title being taken by John P. Wilson, who transferred to the trustees of the Field estate. Albert L. Strauss was the broker in the deal.

Ground Leased in 1884.

The property was purchased in 1849 and the early '50s by the late P. F. W. Peck, the father of C. L. and F. W. Peck, for about $60,000, and has remained in the family for about sixty years.

The ground was leased in 1884 for a term of thirty years to the Chicago Opera House company of which the late David Henderson was a controlling factor and the present ten story building erected.

The theater became famous through the elaborate spectacular productions of Henderson, who was a pioneer in this field. His productions including the "Silver Slipper," "Sinbad," etc. He expended fabulous sums in the production of these spectacles, and while his receipts were large for several years they gradually dwindled until he was in financial trouble.

The lease is of the revaluation kind and for the closing five years of the term is $75,000.

Representatives of the Filed estate have for some time been seeking the bonds of the Opera House company and are understood to have acquired nearly all of them at about 40 cents on the dollar. It is said that in the transaction no value was given to the building, which originally cost about $850,000, and which is carried by the board of review at $200,000 and the land at $1,245,635.

Gives Section Real Boost.

One of the interesting features of the transaction is that it solves the long standing puzzle as to the identity of the purchaser of the White property. The continued silence in this respect, together with the many previous reports regarding the sale of the property, all of which have been unfounded, led many to the belief that the present transaction would also come to nothing.

The fact, however, that it, together with the opera house property, has fallen into such strong hands as the Field estate is believed a most encouraging sign by real estate men generally and especially those interested in the north end loop district.

WIFE OF BRIDGES WORLD REDEEMER

Husband's Letters to Spouse Also Call See "Man of Understanding."

TERMS MILDRED "BABY."

Communications Show Influence of "Revealer"; Mrs. Rees Tells Own Story.

Marital letters which revealed Stephen H. Bridges as the unsuspecting "come-on" in a confidence game of which Evelyn Arthur See was mechanician, and Bridges' wife and daughter "the spoils" were read yesterday in the trial of the "revealer" for abduction.

They were the letters of a man doubly duped by his trust in his wife and his own vanity. In one he not only acquiesced in her See-given position as "mother of the new race," but congratulated her upon it. He wrote her that he thought "she was the chosen one to redeem the world." For the man who has shattered his home, he at first had nothing except the most trustful and admiring words—"a man of splendid understanding"; a man "with great good in his heart."

In all of them Mrs. Bridges is saluted as "mama." The writer signs himself as "papa." He speaks of Mildred as "baby."

What Bridges Wrote to Wife.

The first letter read into the evidence was dated "Ottumwa, Ia., Nov. 9, 1909." Here is the letter:

> I think I said some things in it that will put you to thinking, and one of them is that you should rest on your self instead of See, as you in yourself have more power in this world than a thousand people like him, as you are the one to give it to the world, and God put you here for that purpose and no one else.
>
> I see it and know it, and I must take care of you. And that's my purpose and that's why I am making money for you to spend and give to the world what they never knew.
>
> I am not going with you, for you are going alone and single handed and the people will look up to you wherever you go. No one has to care about that, as I know it. I must stop and get to bed. I hope you are feeling much better and you will never know what another ache or pain is; and you will come to that as you have the power to get and have anything in this world without asking for it.
>
> Well, my Angel, I hope this will find you well and happy with all my love and kisses from PAPA.

Shows Distrust of Cult.

The defense hopes to prove among other things by this letter that at that time Bridges declared he was opposed to the See cult he really was friendly to it.

The first hint of the actual undermining of character which Bridges himself had sustained through the flattering insinuations of See appeared in the third letter. See had offered to make Bridges "Master of the World."

The letter is dated Des Moines, May 18, 1909. Beginning again "Dear Mamma," it goes on to say:

> I know that God has put me on earth for a purpose. What it is I know not, but he does, also you and Mildred, and if he hadn't we couldn't be together today, though there are many miles between us. I can't turn the world upside down, but if I had the understanding Mr. See has I would turn the world upside down and put a new life into it.
>
> Well, darling, will close and send love and kisses to you and baby from PAPA.

Mrs. Rees Goes on Stand.

As predicted, the defense put Mrs. Felicia Rees on the stand in the afternoon to prove that she, not See, was responsible for many of the seemingly incriminating statements in "Manuscript 13" of the "Book of Truth." Court was adjourned before she got far into her testimony, but she had time to say that the most of the "Book on Personality"—from which comes the extract speaking of Mildred as "the virgin child"—was written in 1905, while Mildred was yet in short skirts, and that she had personally taken a part in the writing of the "Book of Truth."

She also told of delivering her daughter into the "life" in 1907.

ASKS DISBARMENT OF HARPER; ECHO OF L. M. SNELL SUICIDE.

Brother of Dead Man Causes Inquiry Concerning Attorney Who Advised Unfortunate Client.

Charges which, if sustained, probably will result in the disbarment of Attorney Francis A. Harper were filed yesterday with the Chicago Bar association by H. J. Snell, manager of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia.

The charges recall the suicide of Snell's brother, L. M. Snell, who on May 26 leaped from a window at the Albes hotel in North Clark street. The reason for Snell's suicide was that he feared arrest for perjury in connection with a government land case in Texas.

"Mr. Harper told me that my brother was in serious trouble," said Snell, "and he said he had talked with United States District Attorney Sims regarding the case. Mr. Harper said that Sims would arrange for a settlement of the case for $2,000, and that finally $500 was the amount agreed upon. I declined to furnish it."

District Attorney Sims was informed by Snell of the interview with Harper, and he gave Mr. Snell a letter to the bar association.

LAW MAY CONTROL AVIATORS.

State Senator Gorman Plans to Introduce Measure to Regulate the Sport of Flying.

Believing that the progress of aviation will be best aided by prohibiting its abuse, State Senator A. J. Gorman of the Fourth Chicago senatorial district will introduce at the next session of the legislature a bill providing for the regulation and control of air craft and aerial navigation in the state of Illinois.

HEAT KILLS 2; OVERCOMES 3.

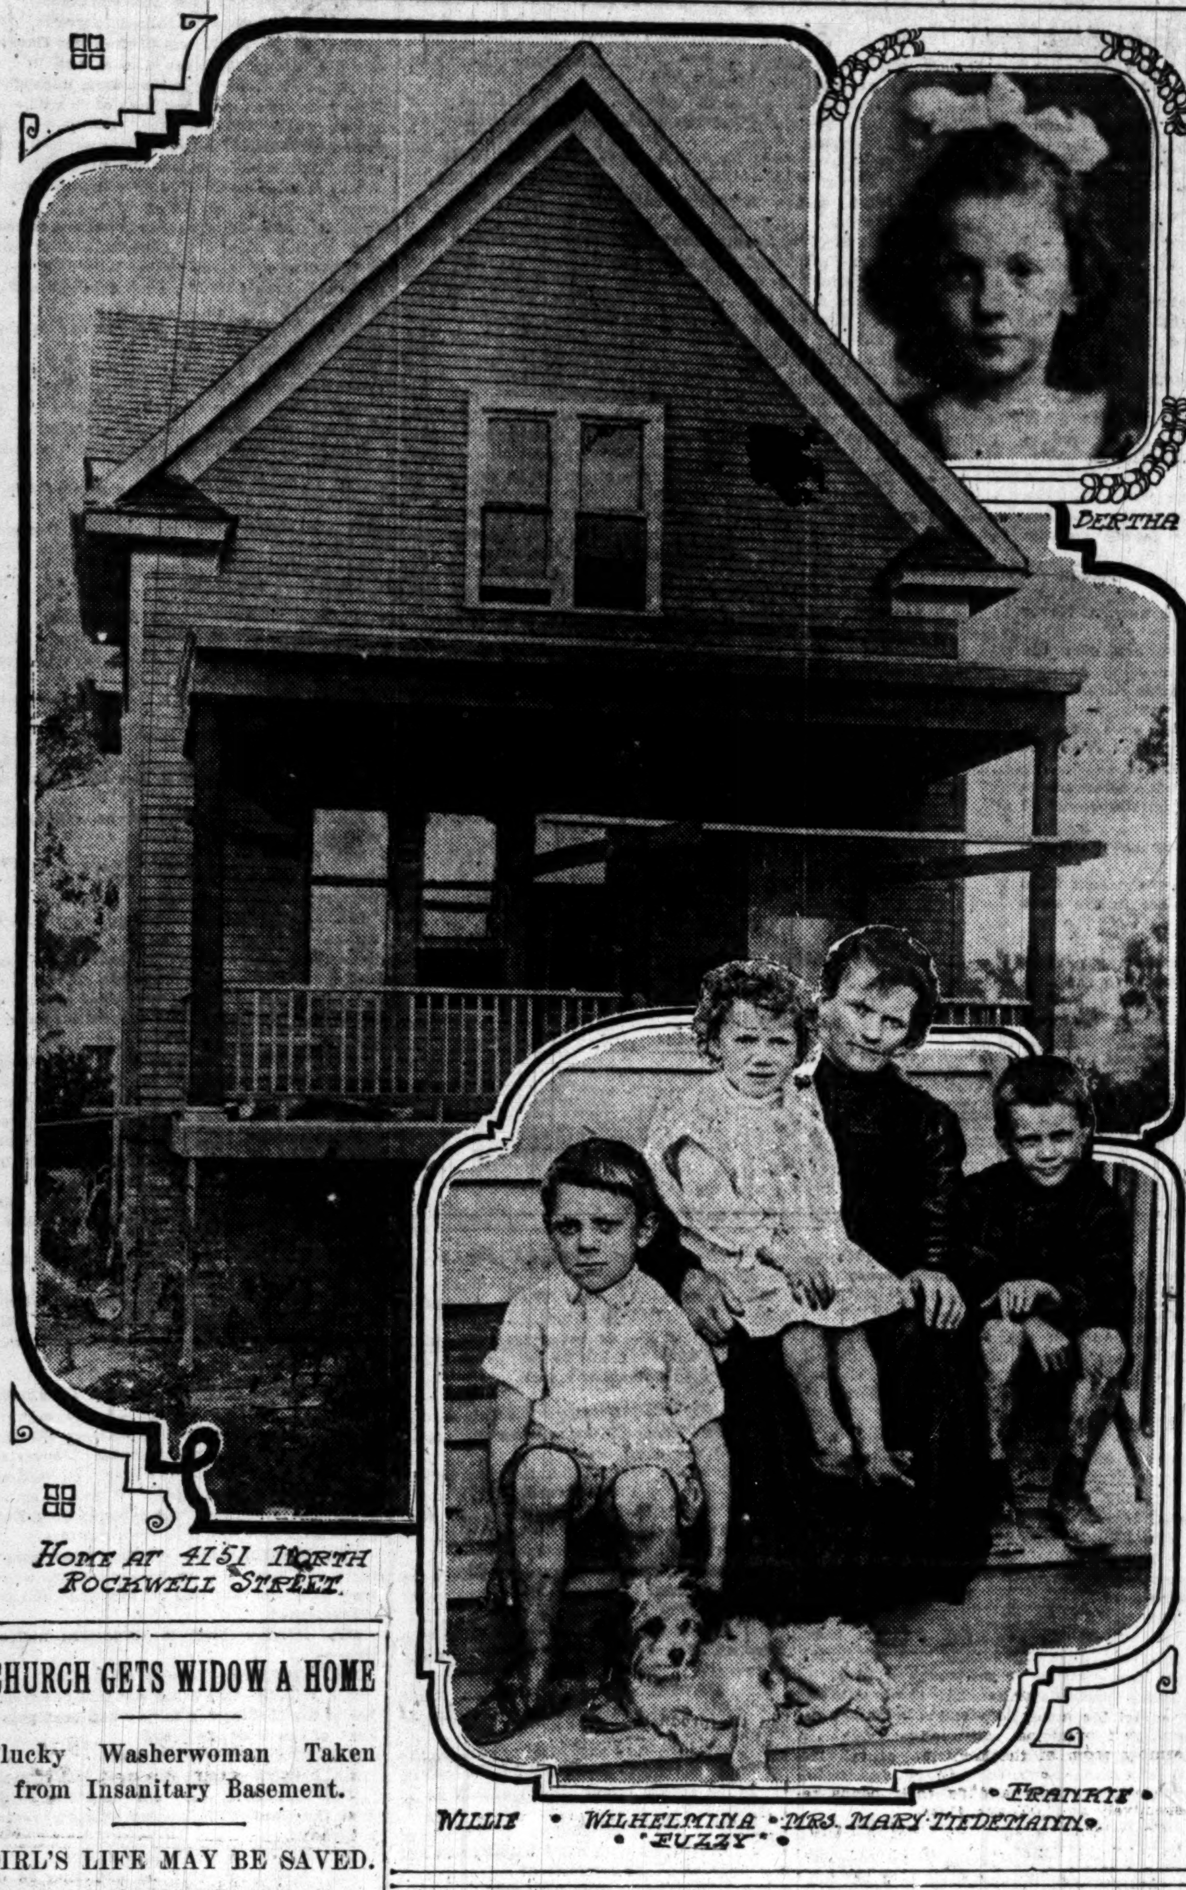
Torrid Wave "Comes Back"—Weather Man Sees No Relief in Sight for Chicago.

Two men died and three were overcome as a result of the heat wave which returned to the city yesterday morning. The weather man forecasts continued heat for today.

Enright Inquiry Goes On.

State's Attorney Wayman and Inspector Nicholas Hunt interrogated several witnesses yesterday in connection with the evidence that will be introduced against Maurice Enright, alleged murderer, slugger, and extortionist, when he is placed on trial for the murder of Vincent Altman.

Widow and Family and New Home Church Made Possible.



BERTHA
HOME AT 4151 NORTH ROCKWELL STREET
WILLIE • WILHELMINA • "FUZZY" • MRS. MARY TIEDEMANN • FRANKIE •

CHURCH GETS WIDOW A HOME

Plucky Washerwoman Taken from Insanitary Basement.

GIRL'S LIFE MAY BE SAVED.

Generous Couple Send Invalid Daughter to Germany.

Not long ago a poor washerwoman was told that unless she moved from a dark, dusty cellar at 1471 Clybourn avenue her little girl, Bertha, would die. When the parishioners of the North Shore Congregational church heard this story they resolved to help.

Yesterday a TRIBUNE reporter found Mrs. Marie Tiedemann, the washerwoman, moving into a cozy little cottage at 4151 North Rockwell street, her very own, the gift of the congregation. The daughter, Bertha, was on a steamer bound for Germany, in the hope that the sea voyage would restore her health.

Willie and Frankie Tiedemann were rolling in the clean dirt and enjoying the fresh air and sunshine as only boys of 10 and 12 years can. Wilhelmina, 5 years old, smiled a bright baby smile and dangled her chubby brown legs over the steps. All were waiting for 16 year old Henrietta to come from her work before sitting down to the dinner that was ready for them in the big dining room. What a change from the gas lighted basement!

Women Admire, Then Help.

The little washerwoman used to serve the women of the north shore at their teas and other social affairs. They admired her for her pluck and the cheery way in which she had borne her battle since the death of her husband five years ago.

When Myron McKinnon, 4608 Beacon avenue, a member of the church, heard of Bertha's illness he said to his wife: "I think I'll send the child to Germany. That's what the doctor says she needs."

"Good," agreed his wife; "and I'll buy her clothes."

So one day the little girl, who had known no playground but the basement, found herself seated in Mrs. McKinnon's automobile. She was dressed in white from hat to shoes and she carried a suitcase just like other tourists. She was going to catch a train that would carry her to New York, where a big steamer would be waiting to take her to Germany.

Pastor Makes Home Possible.

But even before this the Rev. Dr. S. J. Ainslie, pastor of the church, had been busy in another direction. He saw the directors of the State bank and arranged for a loan of $800, without interest, on a vacant lot on Rockwell street, which Mrs. Tiedemann had inherited from her husband. Then he got $400 as a free gift from Mrs. Tiedemann's brother-in-law in Germany. All this was done without the widow's knowledge.

Myron McKinnon heard of the plan and asked to be counted in for the cost of surveying the lot. C. L. Ibson, a contractor at 917 Eastwood avenue, another member of the congregation, agreed to furnish doors, windows, and interior finishings without cost. The rest of the material he gave at cost price.

One day last April Mrs. Tiedemann was at her tubs at the home of Mrs. W. S. Palmer, 855 Windsor avenue, when Dr. Ainslie arrived and asked her to come out to see the foundation of her new home.

Then came another surprise, when the money for moving the few household belongings of the widow was placed in her hands and the dream was complete. The money had come from the children of Dr. Ainslie's Sunday school, each of whom gave 1 penny for love.

Courts Yield Big Return.

The annual report of the Municipal court for the year ending Dec. 4, 1910, appeared yesterday. It shows district and branch court cash receipts to the amount of $640,631.67 for the year, $240,654.41 being in civil suits and $399,977.26 in criminal cases.

CHICAGO GIRL SPREADS FEVER

Dairyman's Daughter Like "Typhoid Mary" of New York.

BLAMED FOR EPIDEMIC.

Englewood Cases Traced to Her; County to Take Action.

Typhoid Rosie—the double of "Typhoid Mary" of New York, who, although strong, ruddy, and apparently healthy, carried typhoid fever into every family by whom she was employed and who finally was isolated on an island to prevent her spreading disease germs—has been found in Chicago. She is Rose Boersma, 20 years old, a farmer's daughter, living at One Hundred and Eleventh street and Kedzie avenue.

According to Acting Health Commissioner Gottfried Koehler, typhoid germs that had remained dormant for three years in the person of Miss Boersma are responsible for an epidemic of the fever in Englewood.

Works in Dairy, Spreads Germs.

There has been typhoid in the Boersma family ever since she was taken ill in 1908. Her father, two brothers, and a sister, Alice, became affected. Alice died.

Dr. Koehler told Miss Boersma's mother yesterday that when the young woman washed cans from which milk was sold in Chicago, disease germs were transmitted to consumers. As a result of the discovery Rose will be taken to the county hospital and given treatment in the hope of exterminating the death dealing bacilli she is said to carry.

Trace Thirty-four Cases.

Five new cases of typhoid fever developed in Englewood on Monday, bringing the total up to thirty-four. It was found that all these families have received their milk through a dealer who gets it from the Boersma farm.

Boersma denies that the typhoid epidemic is due to his daughter or the milk he sells. He attributes it to an open sewer in the vicinity which drains two cemeteries.

GIRL PICKPOCKET AND AID CAUGHT BY POLICE IN CHASE.

Man Is Her "Stall"—Maddened Prisoner Throws Purse at Woman She Robbed.

Young in years, but old in the ways of the underworld, Lottie Pohmar was arrested yesterday afternoon. Assisted by her "stall," John Vine, she robbed Mrs. S. Hirsch, 2110 Crystal street, of a pocketbook containing $55. After an exciting chase, in which three policemen and the victim of the robbery participated, the pickpockets were caught.

Mrs. Hirsch edged her way to a car at Dearborn and Adams streets. She felt Vine jostling her. At the same time Miss Pohmar's hands deftly opened Mrs. Hirsch's handbag and extracted the purse. The pickpockets jumped from the car, but were quickly caught.

When the girl was taken back to where her pal was in the custody of the two policemen she threw the purse at Mrs. Hirsch. At the station Miss Pohmar was searched and a quantity of opium was found in her possession. She is 21 years old.

FARMER WOOER WAITS IN VAIN

Sits in Northwestern Depot for Hours for "Mamie."

CAME FROM SOUTH DAKOTA.

She Told Him to Beware of Thieves and He Is.

Wearing a large white carnation in the top buttonhole of his coat and with two dilapidated looking satchels tightly clutched in his right hand, Adam Weaver of Huron, S. D., waited in the lobby of the new Northwestern depot yesterday for the arrival of "Mamie Henderson," who had promised to "share his loneliness on the ranch." Although Weaver arrived early in the afternoon, it was not until dusk that he became suspicious.

Time and again he shifted the weather beaten satchels from one hand to another, afraid to set them down. "Mamie" warned him to be careful, for she had written him that "thieves walked unmolested in every street in Chicago." He was not taking any chances.

It was not until long after the lights had been turned on in front of the station that Sergt. Mulvihill and Detective Cullet while passing noticed Weaver and spoke to him. He would not believe he had been duped.

Tells of His Romance.

"I'd have waited here until daybreak," he exclaimed, "for Mamie sent her picture and it struck me to the heart. She must be a clever girl. I lost no time in saying I would meet her in Chicago. I sold a few sheep, and after reading Mamie's instructions started. I spent a dime for a flower. Mamie told me she would wear a red one.

"While I was waiting a fine looking young woman, dressed in creaking silks and wearing a tall hat with a great big blue feather walked past me. My heart was in my mouth, for I was sure it was Mamie. I spoke to her. 'You will come back home with me,' I said. The look that that there gal gave me was enough to last me the rest of my life."

Goes Back to Farm.

Detective Cullet accompanied Weaver to 1018 West Randolph street, the address given in Mamie's letter, but no trace of the woman was obtained. The ranchman told the detectives that he had been sending his mail "general delivery" and that it was not until the last letter that he learned her address. Weaver had more than $100 in an inside pocket.

He went back to Dakota last night. He is 58. The girl is 25.

QUITS IN MIDST OF HAIRCUT.

Harry Day, a Barber, Fined $5 and Costs for Turning Out Half Finished Customer.

Harry Day, employed at the North Shore barber shop, 1023 Wilson avenue, was fined $5 and costs yesterday for having turned a customer out of the shop in a half barbered condition. William H. Rummel, 4815 Sheridan road, told the court that he commented on the style of hair cutting the barber was using on him, and as a result was ejected from the place. He had to go to another shop to get the haircut finished.

HUSBAND NAMES SEVEN OTHER MEN

Attorney Charles A. Churan Says Wife Also Smoked Cigarets and Drank.

TOOK MANY LONG TRIPS.

Mrs. Jean Driver Gets Divorce, $10,000 Cash, and $200 a Month Alimony.

Seven "other men," combined with a mean disposition, an apparently unquenchable "thirst," a craving for cigarets, and a constant desire to be traveling away from her husband and children make Mrs. Charles A. Churan an undesirable wife, according to her husband, who is an attorney living at 519 Surf street.

Mr. Churan has drawn and filed his own papers for divorce and also has applied to Judge William Fenimore Cooper for an injunction preventing his wife from taking either their son or daughter out of the state pending the settlement of the divorce action.

According to her husband Mrs. Churan has a versatile taste in "affinities." One mentioned is a dancing teacher, William Perrin of Chicago and Waukegan. Another is a globe trotter, W. Churchill Merks, whom Mrs. Churan is said to have met at Lucerne, Switzerland, where, the bill recites, he borrowed money from her.

Says She Liked Actors.

Actors hold the palm in point of numbers, two of them being named. St. Clair Bayfield, Mr. Churan charges, was more familiarly known to the defendant as "Jack, dear old boy," while Martin Haydin is the other thespian she is alleged to have encouraged in friendly attentions. A traveling salesman, R. A. Holmes, and a doctor, Robert Wadhams, M. D., of New York, are the other two affinities identified, the latter being charged with addressing Mrs. Churan as "Dear Jessie," while she called him "Bobbie."

The seventh man, whose name apparently is not known to the husband, leads to a discussion in the bill of Mrs. Churan's alleged convivial habits. He is said to have brought the lawyer's wife home in a taxicab at 3:30 o'clock in the morning in an intoxicated condition. Afterward, Mr. Churan charges, his wife admitted that she had been with "one Wolf" at the Blackstone hotel. Presumably Mr. Wolf's first name was "Curly."

The husband says that, in addition to her other faults, Mrs. Churan smoked too many cigarets, had an ungovernable temper, and took her small daughter with her to after theater suppers at notorious cafés, where she smoked, drank, and used improper language in the presence of the child. She is also said to have made a number of costly trips to Europe and to faroff sections of the United States.

Mrs. Driver Gets Divorce.

A divorce was granted yesterday to Mrs. Jean Ellis Driver, who sued J. Raymond Driver, a wealthy resident of Riverside.

Mrs. Driver's suit was filed in the clerk's office at 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon and she was allowed alimony of $10,000 and $200 a month in a decree granted at 4:30 p. m. by Judge Tuthill.

The custody of her daughter, Helen Elizabeth Driver, 13 years old, was given to Mrs. Driver.

Mrs. Driver took the stand and told of her husband's alleged cruel treatment toward her. On June 1, she said, he struck her a violent blow in the face with his fist. He struck her on the jaw and in the face June 14, also, Mrs. Driver said.

Boy Chooses His Father

Roger Dandurand, 10 years old, decided in favor of his father yesterday. He was confronted with a choice of parents—a father who gives him 5 cents each day and a mother who gave him good advice and a whipping each day—because he accepted the nickel from his father.

Before Master in Chancery Horatio L. Wait, Roger, who is 10 years old, decided to stick to his father, Alphonse Dandurand, superintendent of weighing for Armour & Co.

"I like my father best," he said.

OPEN GAMBLING WITHIN LOOP

McWeeny Fails to Stop Crooked Games at 352 State Street.

CAPPERS LURE THE UNWARY.

Reporter Sees Houseman "Win" $125 "Come-on" Drops $45.

"If there is any gambling in Chicago it is under cover. Open or under, it has got to stop."—Chief McWeeny, June 20.

Evidently when Chief McWeeny made the above statement he had not penetrated the dark and mysterious recesses of the loop district. If he had wandered so far as 352 South State street at any time in the last week he would have found a wide open gambling game running in Mills' Edisonia at that number—a game fully equipped with cappers, bouncers, "short men," and the other paraphernalia of the crooked gambler.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE not only watched the game in full blast for half an hour yesterday, but, on returning later with other reporters and a photographer, was warned loudly to keep away. In the meantime Chief McWeeny had been notified of the game and had announced his intention of stopping it at once. If he had made any such move the gang of bouncers and cappers showed no evidence of the consternation which might have been expected.

No Chance for Stranger.

The game was a corruption of the ancient pastime of roulette, with certain appurtenances added to make it more of a sure thing for the house. The wheel had been eliminated, and pasteboard boxes, containing red and black numbered squares served in its stead. The red numbers, being in the minor precentage, were valued at four times the price which had been paid to draw; the black numbers were worthless. Every one except the cappers drew black which was appropriate.

There was no concealment whatever. The gamekeeper seemed to feel assured that there would be no police interference.

"Spend a quarter," was his enticing slogan. "Spend a quarter and win a dollar. It's easy. You get five for one. Spend a quarter, boys."

A fat man in greasy blue serge responded to these solicitations. He picked out a red number and received a dollar and his original quarter.

"Play it again," invited the gamekeeper. "Play the whole bean. It's five wheels for one, pal, five for one. Shall I take it?" The fat man drew red again.

Capoer Wins $125; Quits.

"Don't stop," encouraged the other. "Your luck's just startin'. Play the whole twenty-five iron men." The fat man tried again, and, picking the red with uncanny precision, drew $125. The keeper instantly renewed his entreaties, but the fat man was reluctant.

"No," he said finally, in a loud voice. "I've won $125 now and I'm goin' to quit."

The keeper's fac was the picture of jovial assent.

"All right, old man. Quit whenever you want to. It's a free game." The fat man sauntered away, to return ten minutes later and repeat the performance.

He Was a Capper.

Not so fortunate was G. Erickson, 1539 Talman avenue. Erickson started with a quarter, and, having won $5, yielded to the keeper's invitation to boost the stakes. He won just once more, after which he lost steadily until his entire fortnight's salary of $45 was gone.

Then Erickson perceived that he had been swindled and registered a protest. A capper led him softly to the door and hustled him out.

HINES'S MEMORY PLAYS ODD TRICKS

Cross Examination Occupies Entire Day in the Lorimer Scandal Inquiry.

ator Aldrich told him after visiting the president that the latter said he would do anything he could to "assist" Mr. Lorimer. He was "absolutely certain" Aldrich told him the president was anxious to have Mr. Lorimer elected. This has been denied at the White House, which made public today an extract from a letter written by the president as follows:

"The reports, rumors, or statements that I consciously lent any weight of the administration to the election of Lorimer are wholly untrue."

Mr. Hines swore he never said to Mr. Hettler immediately after learning of Lorimer's election: "I elected Lorimer; I did it myself, personally." He confirmed Hettler's testimony before the Helm committee that he met him on that day as he was coming out of the telephone booth of the Union League club. He asserted his relations with Hettler and the latter's father before him had been bitter, and this, in his opinion, explained Hettler's statements.

Fortunate as to Confidants.

"Don't you think you've been unfortunate in your choice of gentlemen with whom to talk?" Mr. Marble inquired.

"On the contrary, from what they say, I do not," replied Hines.

When he was asked to come to Washington and help to make the fight to retain the lumber duty he said he represented the lumber trade generally and denied that any large sum had been raised to carry on the tariff fight. He declared neither $75,000 nor anything like it has been spent for statistical work.

The committee tomorrow will examine Mr. Baker, buyer for the Edward Hines Lumber company; Miss Carroll, telephone operator, and one or two employés of the same company who have been offered as witnesses by Mr. Hines to support his testimony.

The detectives who were subpœnaed as a result of the revelations of Mr. Funk have been "excused" until the call of the committee. This probably means they will not be put upon the witness stand.

Marble Takes Tilden in Hand.

Beginning his testimony, Mr. Hines said he had known Tilden only slightly and had seen him only a few times. After Mr. Funk gave his testimony to the Helm committee, the witness said he had telephoned Tilden and denied Funk's story. Since then he had seen Tilden once in the Fort Dearborn National bank, but did not talk with him. Then Attorney Marble for the committee took the witness in hand and began questioning him upon his connection with the Lorimer candidacy for senator.

MR. MARBLE—Will you say that your interest in the senatorship did or did not have any relation to your fight upon that matter of the duty on lumber?

MR. HINES—I would say not.

MR. MARBLE—You separated your mind and your interest, so that when you thought of the senatorship in Illinois you did not think of the lumber duty, and when you thought of the lumber duty you did not consider the senatorship in Illinois?

MR. HINES—In a minor way I might say, yes. Naturally, knowing Senator Lorimer to be a Republican and believing in the protectionist principles of the Republican party, and the fact that the lumber duty at that time had not been voted upon, I would have supposed that if he was elected he would assist as a senator and as a Republican in voting for some duty on lumber. Yes, sir.

Felt More Secure About Senate.

SENATOR JONES—There was not much question as to the closeness of the vote on the $1.50 duty on lumber in the senate, was there?

MR. HINES—In the senate we felt much more secure on the vote for $1.50 than we did in the house on a dollar.

MR. MARBLE—Did you regard the election of Senator Lorimer as a success which you had materially aided to bring about?

MR. HINES—I did not know how much I had aided. I was really in the part of carrying a message. How much that would accomplish in the result I did not know at that time. I had no way of knowing it.

SENATOR KERN—Did you mention it to anybody in the Union League club—the fact of your having received the first news of it?

MR. HINES—As I came out of the telephone booth that day, I met Herman H. Hettler of Chicago between the cigar stand and the little shelf on the east side of the office. He said: "You seem pleased. What is new?" I had not seen Mr. Hettler for, I think, several months. I told him I was pleased and that I had just heard some good news. He asked me what it was. I told him I had been talking with the Associated Press and they told me Mr. Lorimer was practically elected—had been elected or was elected senator. He seemed surprised. I told him I was glad to hear it, and that was all the conversation we had upon the matter.

Bitter Feeling toward Hettler.

MR. MARBLE—Were you friendly with Mr. Hettler?

MR. HINES—Mr. Hettler and I never have been friends. We are engaged in the same line of business, but there has been a very bitter feeling for many years in a business way. But we have met and exchanged greetings.

MR. MARBLE—Mr. Hettler joined in that bitter feeling?

MR. HINES—I have seen evidence, decided evidence, of it.

MR. MARBLE—What evidence of it have you seen?

MR. HINES—His evidence at Springfield.

The witness said Hettler had tried to commit the Chicago lumber exchange to free lumber in 1908 or 1909, but could not name the month. He and Hettler also had differences, he said, on terms of lumber sales. Hines said the ill feeling began with Hettler's father, who was lumber purchasing agent for the Pennsylvania railroad. He had questioned the honesty of the elder Hettler.

SENATOR KERN—Was there any bitterness manifested when you met him there at the Union League club?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Did you say, "I am feeling happy over it?"

MR. HINES—I might have used that expression, that I was feeling happy over this election.

Denies Saying "I Elected Him."

MR. MARBLE—Did you say, "I elected him. I did it personally myself?"

MR. HINES—No; absolutely not.

The witness admitted he did not volunteer to the Helm committee to contradict Hettler's version of the incident.

SENATOR KERN—You knew at the time that the statement that he made was absolutely false?

MR. HINES—Yes, sir, and I contradicted Mr. Funk's statement in the Chicago papers and supposed I would be called back.

SENATOR KERN—Why were you contradicting Funk and not Hettler?

MR. HINES—Because Hettler's testimony did not have the direct bearing that Mr. Funk's did.

MR. MARBLE—How large a fund did this committee of the National association expend during 1908 or 1909 in its work with congress in Washington in advocacy of the duty upon lumber?

MR. HINES—I really could not give you an intelligent idea, because I never was interested to know the amount of money it spent. I do not think, in that sense, it was a large sum, though.

Contributed to Lumber Lobby Fund.

MR. MARBLE—You did contribute to make up a deficiency?

MR. HINES—Yes.

MR. MARBLE—And you did that without having any idea of the amount that had been spent?

MR. HINES—I think at that time the amount may have been known, but just what it was I have forgotten. I did not consider it a large amount.

MR. MARBLE—How many firms contributed to make up that deficiency?

MR. HINES—I think there were only seven or eight firms who made up the deficiency.

MR. MARBLE—You said your firm gave about $300.

MR. HINES—I think so—two or three hundred dollars. It seems to me it was $250.

MR. MARBLE—Do you know whether or not as much as $75,000 was expended for gathering statistics?

MR. HINES—O, no. I do not think the whole sum expended was a matter of more than $10,000 or $15,000, or $20,000 for everything—the hiring of stenographers, postage, and everything, as I understood at the time, in a general way. I have had to do with raising sums from lumbermen, and I know a little bit how hard it is getting a large amount of money. I assisted in raising the $100,000 fund for the Yale forestry school. I know what a terrible task it was to accomplish that.

Ignorant as to Committee's Books.

MR. MARBLE—Do you know where the books of that committee are?

MR. HINES—No, I do not. I do not think they had any books. The committee did not have any books. I am positive of that. They might have kept just one book of expenditures and disbursements. That is all the books they had. I do not know whether that was kept in bookkeeping or not. I may have been.

Attorney Marble examined Hines minutely on his story of the negotiations with Aldrich and Penrose for the selection of an Illinois senatorial candidate.

MR. MARBLE—Did you discuss this matter with any gentleman from Illinois?

MR. HINES—I discussed the matter with Charles G. Dawes, a banker in Chicago. I discussed Congressman Boutell's candidacy. Mr. Dawes spoke favorably of Mr. Boutell, but said in his judgment it would be impossible on account of the attitude, as I remember, of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE toward Mr. Boutell.

MR. MARBLE—Did you discuss it with Speaker Cannon?

MR. HINES—I did not.

MR. MARBLE—Or with Congressman Copley?

MR. HINES—No, sir. I never met him.

Ignored Cullom and Rodenberg.

MR. MARBLE—Did you discuss it with Congressman Rodenberg or Senator Cullom?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Did you not regard any of these gentlemen as having any relationship to the Illinois legislature or any influence in Illinois politics?

MR. HINES—I did not consider the question at all at the time.

MR. MARBLE—Was there any chance for you to have misunderstood Senator Aldrich when he came to you and said he had seen the president and the president desired that you urge Mr. Lorimer to get into this fight.

MR. HINES—Judging from the telegram I sent a few moments after the conversation, I do not think any reasonable person would figure out that I could misunderstand Senator Aldrich.

MR. MARBLE—Do you say now that you are convinced you understood Senator Aldrich correctly?

MR. HINES—Absolutely.

MR. MARBLE—This is the telegram marked "D" by the stenographer; the one dated "Washington, D. C., May 25, '09," addressed to "William Lorimer, Springfield, Ill.," and beginning: "Aldrich authorizes governor calling him on telephone." Where did you get this telegram?

MR. HINES—At this moment I cannot recollect where these different messages came from. I got one or two messages from Senator Lorimer that I think I did not have a copy of or could not locate my copy of. I think I got others from my shorthand notes—my secretary got them.

Memory Fails as to Telegram.

The witness could not remember whether the telegram was a carbon copy or who made the copy or where it came from.

MR. MARBLE—Then why did you present it to the committee?

MR. HINES—Because I remember distinctly sending this telegram at that time. I remember the occasion of it.

MR. MARBLE—You do? Then I will ask you again who wrote it.

MR. HINES—It was in Washington. I dictated it or wrote it.

MR. HINES—I cannot say at this moment.

MR. MARBLE—Then your memory is not very distinct, is it, on the positive act of constructing that telegram?

MR. HINES—It is not. But it is absolutely, distinct as to my sending this telegram.

MR. MARBLE—Is your memory equally distinct in regard to this other telegram dated May 21, which I have before me here?

MR. HINES—If you will let me see it I can tell you.

Marble Applies Memory Test.

MR. MARBLE—No, I want to know how you know these are correct copies.

MR. HINES—Why, from my memory.

MR. MARBLE—All right, repeat this telegram.

MR. HINES—I cannot. If you will let me see it I can tell you the details.

MR. MARBLE—No, sir. I think if you are giving these from memory and you do not know who made the copies we ought to have your memory without reference to the copies. I will remind you how it begins. It is the one beginning, "Leaving for Chicago today."

MR. HINES—O, yes. I remember all about that. "Leaving for Chicago today"; either "going direct to Springfield" or "via Chicago." "Bring message," I think, "direct." "Answer me at Harrisburg, care train," or something to that effect.

MR. MARBLE—All right; what else?

MR. HINES—I have forgotten what else is in the message, just now.

SENATOR JONES—Where did you get this paper that you hold in your hand—this other telegram which was just shown you?

MR. HINES—At just this time I cannot tell. I can refer to my secretary. He got all of this stuff together for me.

Reverts to Hettler Meeting.

MR. MARBLE—After meeting Mr. Hettler at the Union League club, immediately after coming out of the telephone booth, what did you do next?

MR. HINES—I cannot say exactly.

MR. MARBLE—Whom did you next see?

MR. HINES—Why, I think the next person I saw was Mr. Wiehe, immediately after coming out of the telephone booth. He was with me.

MR. MARBLE—You told him the news?

MR. HINES—Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And now I come back to my first question. After the conversation with Mr. Hettler, what occurred that day next?

MR. HINES—I do not recall specifically just what occurred that day next.

MR. MARBLE—Do you recall any other incident of that afternoon at the club?

MR. HINES—No other incident at the club, no, sir.

Mr. Marble—Do you recollect any incident of that afternoon?

MR. HINES—I recollect going back to the office.

MR. MARBLE—Do you recollect where you went between the club and the office?

MR. HINES—I do not recollect.

MR. MARBLE—Did you communicate to Senator Lorimer your congratulations in any way?

MR. HINES—No, sir. I expected to see him in Chicago the next day.

MR. MARBLE—Were you indignant when you read Mr. Funk's testimony?

MR. HINES—Well, I think it was the one thing of my life that I was most indignant about.

Tells of Calling Up Tilden.

MR. MARBLE—You called Mr. Tilden then?

MR. HINES—I think I called Mr. Tilden either that afternoon or the next morning. I think the next morning.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not call him right away, if you were indignant?

MR. HINES—Because I had not read this testimony.

MR. MARBLE—Did anybody advise you of that testimony on the day it was given?

MR. HINES—Somebody telephoned me the evening or the afternoon before, but simply told me in general terms what it was. I think some newspaper man did.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not telephone to Mr. Tilden immediately?

MR. HINES—I did not know anything about the details of the testimony. In fact, I was so shocked and so surprised that I did not know what to think about it.

MR. MARBLE—At any rate, you did not communicate with Mr. Tilden until the next day. What did you say to him?

MR. HINES—I asked him if he had read what Mr. Funk had testified to at Springfield.

Kept Funks Proposition from Tilden.

MR. MARBLE—What did he say?

MR. HINES—He said either he had heard or he had read it; I don't know which. I said: "Mr. Tilden, what do you think about such testimony? Is there anything, in any shape, form, or manner, connecting your name with the matter?" He said: "There was not." I said: "As far as I am concerned it is absolutely the same condition. I cannot understand it"—or words to that effect.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not tell Mr. Tilden in that conversation that Mr. Funk offered to contribute money?

MR. HINES—Because at the time and under the circumstances, over the telephone, I was shocked and so surprised that I could hardly collect my wits on that occasion.

MR. MARBLE—Had you thought of it?

MR. HINES—I tried to remember the conversation.

MR. MARBLE—Had you thought of the fact that Mr. Funk offered to contribute money, at the time you telephoned to Mr. Tilden?

MR. HINES—Yes.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not tell him about it?

MR. HINES—Because I first waited to see my lawyer and talk the matter over with him, which I did that day.

MR. MARBLE—What did you want to see your lawyer about?

MR. HINES—Because I thought it was a most serious charge.

MR. MARBLE—It certainly was.

MR. HINES—Yes; and I wished to counsel with him before I said a word to anybody about what I had in my mind or what proof I had to the contrary.

Waited to Talk with Lawyer

MR. MARBLE—Your indignation, then, was not so great but what you wanted to see your lawyer before you told that Mr. Funk had offered money.

MR. HINES—My indignation could not have been any greater.

MR. MARBLE—How much indignation would it have taken to have caused you to say to Mr. Tilden: "When I talked with Mr. Funk, he offered to contribute money. He raised he subject?"

MR. HINES—I just told you my indignation could not be any greater. Nothing could change that extent.

MR. MARBLE—Whom did you first tell about that circumstance of Mr. Funk offering money?

MR. HINES—I think the first person I told of that fact was former Judge Hanecy, or possibly John J. Herrick, one of my counsel in Chicago.

MR. MARBLE—Was Mr. Hanecy your attorney?

MR. HINES—No, sir; he had not been.

MR. MARBLE—I thought you said you wanted to wait to consult your attorney.

MR. HINES—Mr. Hanecy had been Mr. Lorimer's attorney and I had known of him for a number of years in the capacity of Senator Lorimer's attorney. I felt obligated to go and tell Mr. Hanecy immediately as much of the situation as I knew about it. I told Mr. Hanecy that day—I think I did—or, at the farthest, the next day. I told him and Mr. Herrick about the same time, and Charles Allen, Mr. Herrick's partner.

MR. MARBLE—You testified at Springfield. Did you tell it to the Helm committee?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Nor in any way make it public until you testified on the stand here yesterday?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Yesterday was the first public utterance which you have given to that conversation in the shape that you testified yesterday—that Mr. Funk offered to contribute money, instead of being asked by you?

MR. HINES—Yes, sir.

Why He Did Not Tell Helm Committee.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not tell it to the Helm committee?

MR. HINES—Becaues the Helm committee did not ask it, and because I did not understand at the time he made the suggestion that it was along the lines of which he stated I made the suggestion.

MR. MARBLE—What is that?

MR. HINES—Because I did not understand at the time he made the suggestion of standing a proportion of Mr. Lorimer's expenses—I did not connect it in the same way as Mr. Funk testified I had made the request of him, in form, shape, or manner.

MR. MARBLE—Did your recollection of what Mr. Funk said to you change after he testified?

MR. HINES—No, sir, I did not accept his request in the form of which he stated I made the request, at no time.

MR. MARBLE—Do you now?

MR. HINES—No, sir, I would not so assume it.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not tell the Helm committee, if you have the same understanding now that you had all the time?

MR. HINES—Because—I have tried to explain to you—I supposed in his willingness to stand part of the expense, it was a part of what was to be considered the honorable, legitimate expenses of a man running for office and not what Mr. Funk stated I had requested of him.

Saw Counsel as to Contradicting Funk.

SENATOR JONES—Did you testify before or after Mr. Funk at the Helm committee?

MR. HINES—I testified before Mr. Funk testified, and immediately after Mr. Funk testified I went to Mr. Hanecy, and I had arranged a conference between Mr. Hanecy, Mr. Herrick, and Mr. Allen, and was anxious to go down to the Helm committee and testify again. I was advised by my counsel that in all probability I would be called back, and to hold myself in readiness to go back. I remained in Chicago continuously until that committee adjourned.

SENATOR JONES—So that when you testified before the Helm committee you had no idea of Mr. Funk's intending to make any statement of that character?

MR. HINES—Not in the slightest, Senator.

SENATOR JONES—And the suggestion that he had made to you you did not consider anything especially improper?

MR. HINES—No. I considered it along honorable lines that he was simply wanting to defray a part of Mr. Lorimer's expenses that he was put to while running for office, or working for the office. I never suspected anything to the contrary.

SENATOR FLETCHER—You were never called back to testify before the Helm committee?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

Considered Funk's Talk Unimportant.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Did you attach any importance at all to that conversation with Mr. Funk in the club?

MR. HINES—No; I did not. When I sent word to him there was no expense, I immediately dropped the incident. I did not think anything more about it and his meeting me since has been such as to indicate that there was no such thought in his mind, until a short time ago, coming to me, unsolicited and asking a favor of me and meeting me.

MR. MARBLE—Did you denounce Mr. Funk as a man who was telling an untruth about you, and tell the truth of that conversation, after he had given his public testimony?

MR. HINES—I immediately told, as I have said, Mr. Hanecy, Mr. Herrick, and Mr. Allen, and I asked Mr. Hanecy if he would come over to Mr. Herrick's and Mr. Allen's office, which I think he did the same day or the next day.

MR. MARBLE—Did you insist that you be recalled?

MR. HINES—No, sir, I did not. I wanted to be recalled and so stated to my attorneys. I made no formal request.

MR. MARBLE—You did have to do with the volunteering of some witnesses to the Helm committee, did you not?

MR. HINES—Yes, Mr. Wiehe arranged that.

MR. MARBLE—Did he advise with you?

MR. HINES—I think he did, or with our counsel, I do not know which.

Wiehe Took Witnesses to Helm Body.

MR. MARBLE—Did he wait for them to be called by the committee?

MR. HINES—No, I think he immediately telegraphed at the time he was called there.

MR. MARBLE—Exactly. He took witnesses the committee had not suggested.

MR. HINES—I think he did. Yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And witnesses who were expected to state facts favorable to your view of the case?

MR. HINES—He took witnesses there who were with him on this occasion alleged by Mr. Burgess.

MR. MARBLE—Why did not you have Wiehe ask that you testify to tell about the Funk story?

MR. HINES—As I explained to you—on the advice of my counsel. The said I would no doubt be recalled and then I should go to Springfield.

SENATOR JONES—Had you told Wiehe of this conversation with Funk before he was at the meeting of the committee?

MR. HINES—I do not think I did.

Hines' Counsel Advised Silence.

SENATOR JONES—Did your cousel advise you to say anything about it?

MR. HINES—My counsel advised me not to say anything to anybody until I was called back before the committee. I will say in this connection, I urged on my counsel as much as I was able to that in my judgment I should go to Springfield—that I should place before the country my side of the case. They advised me in the strongest terms possible to wait until I was called. They insisted on my taking their advice.

MR. MARBLE—Did you communicate the true facts to Mr. Tilden?

MR. HINES—No, sir, I did not.

MR. MARBLE—Did you not think he ought to consult his counsel?

MR. HINES—I did not see how the matter connected Mr. Tilden with me in any shape, form, or manner.

MR. MARBLE—Mr. Tilden went to Springfield, did he not, as a witness after Mr. Funk testified?

MR. HINES—Yes.

MR. MARBLE—And you allowed him to go down there and testify without putting him in possession of this fact, which is of such great importance?

MR. HINES—I just have stated that I advised no one.

MR. MARBLE—When did you learn of Mr. Cook's testimony at Springfield?

MR. HINES—Either that day or the next day. I read it in the papers.

MR. MARBLE—Did you discuss it with any one?

MR. HINES—I discussed it with my counsel.

Published Interview Produced.

MR. MARBLE—Have you ever read in any newspaper what purported to be an interview with you on the subject of Mr. Cook's testimony?

MR. HINES—Not to my recollection, I have not.

MR. MARBLE—What papers do you take?

MR. HINES—I take, as a rule, the Inter Ocean, and since this matter came up I have been taking all the papers in Chicago—that is, I have not. My wife has been taking them all; I do not real them all.

MR. MARBLE—I will show you the Chicago Inter Ocean of Thursday morning, April 27. On the second page of that paper is an article headed "Hines Again Denies Lorimer Charges." I ask you whether you were shown that article at or about the time it was published?

MR. HINES—I do not think I have read this before—this particular article here.

MR. MARBLE—Did you give that interview?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Does that correctly report any conversation with you?

MR. HINES—No, sir—in substance, no sir.

Inter Ocean Interview Incorrect.

MR. MARBLE—In any respect, does it correctly report anything that you said?

MR. HINES—It reports some parts of a conversation I had with somebody. Whether it was with a reporter or not I do not know.

The article quoted Hines thus: "With reference to the testimony of Mr. Cook before the Helm committee, I can only say it is too contemptible to be worthy of any reply."

Then it continued: "With regard to the telephone conversation which Mr. Hines held with Gov. Deneen, and about which Mr. Cook testified, Mr. Hines said the conversation related solely to personal matters and was held in confidence. He was surprised that Cook had referred to it. There was nothing about the conversation which I personally am unwilling to disclose," said Mr. Hines, "but it was a personal talk, considered in confidence between two gentlemen, and as such I respect it."

MR. MARBLE—In what respect is that incorrect?

MR. HINES—This interview was held over the telephone.

Hines Points Out Inaccuracies.

MR. MARBLE—Who talked to you?

MR. HINES—Some one of the Inter Ocean men. I don't remember who it was. I do not know that he gave his name, possibly. With reference to the last part of this where it says "a personal matter," that is wrong. It was confidential matters. I never used the word "personal." It was not personal.

MR. MARBLE—Is it wrong in any other respect?

MR. HINES—It is wrong in regard to the conversation with Gov. Deneen, because no such conversation took place with reference to Gov. Deneen that Mr. Cook could possibly have heard.

MR. MARBLE—What did you say to the reporter in that regard?

MR. HINES—I do not recollect now what I said to the reporter, but I did not say this. There were many interviews which I never gave out that were printed in the papers.

MR. MARBLE—The Inter Ocean was not an unfriendly paper, though.

MR. HINES—No, but it has printed some mistakes.

MR. MARBLE—Did you put Gov. Deneen in possession of the facts as to whom you telephoned from Mr. Cook's room?

MR. HINES—I did not.

Saw Reflection on Governor.

MR. MARBLE—Did not you regard Mr. Cook's testimony as reflecting seriously on Gov. Deneen?

MR. HINES—It was a reflection on Gov. Deneen.

MR. MARBLE—Did not you believe that the governor of your state had a right to absolutely set himself before the people in true colors?

MR. HINES—I was under no obligations to Gov. Deneen.

MR. MARBLE—Are not you under obligations to any man whom you see being wronged by such a story?

MR. HINES—Being wronged? Because a wintess goes on and makes a statement I do not see why I should go and refute that testimony all over the country. I was acting strictly under the advice of my counsel to say nothing about the details of my defense until I was called.

MR. MARBLE—And from the time of Mr. Cook's testimony that he had heard you telephone to Gov. Deneen and say you were going to bring money down to use in that connection until yesterday you allowed Gov. Deneen to rest under that cloud caused by that testimony?

MR. HINES—In my own judgment I was obliged to act as my counsel dictated and I tried hard to act as they counseled me.

MR. MARBLE—Did you think of Gov. Deneen's rights in the matter?

MR. HINES—Gov. Deneen never asked me if that was true or anything about it. He knew well that I did not talk to him from Mr. Cook's room.

Asked as to McCormicks and Lorimer.

Attorney Marble questioned the witness on the alleged bitter feeling between the McCormicks of the International Harvester company and Senator Lorimer. He said an attorney for the company, whose name he could not remember, had referred to differences with the senator on river matters.

MR. MARBLE—Do Chicago men mean there is a deep feeling between them when they differ in that way regarding public improvements?

MR. HINES—That is somewhat indicative——

MR. MARBLE—Tell us what else?

MR. HINES—One thing was that one member of the McCormick family had been president of the drainage board.

MR. MARBLE—Which one?

MR. HINES—I think it is R. R. McCormick.

MR. MARBLE—Has he anything to do with the plant of the International Harvester company?

MR. HINES—I think he is a cousin.

MR. MARBLE—Has he anything to do with the International Harvester company?

MR. HINES—I don't know positively whether he has or not. They are close friends.

MR. MARBLE—And R. R. McCormick is friendly with the other McCormicks?

MR. HINES—Yes, and I know a bitter campaign was conducted in his defeat as president of the drainage board.

Difference as to Policies.

MR. MARBLE—What did you hear this president of the drainage board say which led you to think that the McCormicks of the Harvester company were bitter in their attitude toward Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—He was pursuing one course and the congressman just the opposite, and McCormick finally was defeated.

MR. MARBLE—Did he have a personal bitter feeling towards Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—Very. From his newspaper talk and speeches I should judge so—very much so.

MR. MARBLE—Do you know whether or not Cyrus McCormick joined him in the sentiments he expressed regarding the drainage matter?

MR. HINES—I do not know.

MR. MARBLE—And yet you say you knew the feeling between the McCormicks and the Harvester company and Mr. Lorimer——

MR. HINES—Well, in the last election in Chicago the McCormicks were very much interested, and most of Senator Lorimer's friends were on the other side of the house.

MR. MARBLE—Whom did Mr. McCormick support?

MR. HINES—Mr. Merriam, financially, in a large way.

MR. MARBLE—What party nominated him?

MR. HINES—The so-called Republican party.

Merriam and Lorimer Opposed.

MR. MARBLE—Is it an evidence of bitter feeling against Senator Lorimer to support the Republican ticket in Chicago?

MR. HINES—That was a local question, not a national question at all.

MR. MARBLE—The Republican party nominated him, did they not?

MR. HINES—A portion of the Republican party, yes.

MR. MARBLE—Whom did Senator Lorimer support?

MR. HINES—I do not know whom Senator Lorimer personally supported.

MR. MARBLE—Do you know whether or not he supported Mr. Merriam himself?

MR. HINES—I do not know.

MR. MARBLE—Why do you think supporters of Mr. Merriam were evidencing a bitter feeling against Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—Because I knew a great many of Senator Lorimer's friends did not support Mr. Merriam.

"Evidence of Unfriendliness."

MR. MARBLE—And you think the support of Mr. Merriam was evidence of unfriendliness to Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—Absolutely.

MR. MARBLE—And you say you do not know whom Senator Lorimer supported?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

MR. MARBLE—And if he supported him, would you think that that he was unfriendly to himself?

MR. HINES—Personally, I might think that way, but his friends were not on that side. One of the largest campaign funds ever collected in this country was collected for the campaign for mayor of Chicago—over $200,000.

MR. MARBLE—Do you know that?

MR. HINES—The amounts were not denied by the different people who made the subscriptions.

MR. MARBLE—People do not deny all of the things said in the newspapers promptly.

MR. HINES—I think in some instances they would—in this case.

MR. MARBLE—Did you, when your honor was impuguned?

MR. HINES—This statement was given out by the campaign manager as showing the amount that each person subscribed.

He Feared Embarrassment.

MR. MARBLE—What was there about your conversation from Mr. Cook's room that you feared to have known to the state's attorney?

MR. HINES—I did not fear to have my conversation known except that the conversation, in my judgment, would in no way enlighten the district attorney on the subject matter. I understood what he was trying to disclose, but might embarrass Gov. Deneen politically, and might embarrass, possibly, Congressman Lorimer. For that reason I did not wish to embarrass either of the gentlemen. It was a subject matter that I did not think the public at large was interested in.

MR. MARBLE—How could it embarrass Congressman Lorimer for it to be known that you telephoned to him that Gov. Deneen had said that he would support him?

MR. HINES—It was a confidential message, and I did not feel it should be given out at all.

MR. MARBLE—You knew the state's attorney was trying to punish men who were charged with taking bribes?

MR. HINES—Yes.

MR. MARBLE—And you were anxious to assist that prosecution?

MR. HINES—The prosecution, yes.

MR. MARBLE—What did you do to assist him?

MR. HINES—I had nothing that I could assist him on. I did not know of anything about any bribes.

Feared Publicity from Grand Jury.

MR. MARBLE—Then in what way could it embarrass anybody for that to have been told to a grand jury under the oath of secrecy?

MR. HINES—My experience with grand juries under the oath of secrecy has been such that it is almost like publishing it broadcast.

MR. MARBLE—You feared that?

MR. HINES——I did not wish to have a confidential conversation that had no bearing whatever hurt Gov. Deneen, although he might not be a friend of mine, or embarrass Congressman Lorimer, who was a friend.

MR. MARBLE—And that is the only reason that you sent word to those men and asked them to keep out of the way of a subpœna?

MR. HINES—No, I did not put it in that way to Mr. Wiehe. I said I did not feel that Mr. Cook should relate the conversation in any way, or, if he had been relating it, that no doubt he would be subpœnaed.

MR. MARBLE—Yes; and then what was your request?

MR. HINES—I said he should not relate it, or, if he had related it at the hotel, if he left Chicago he might not be subpœnaed.

MR. MARBLE—And that he should leave Chicago?

MR. HINES—Yes, sir.

Explains Warning to Cook.

MR. MARBLE—You did ask Mr. Wiehe, then, to ask him to leave Chicago?

MR. HINES—No; I said that if he (Cook) had repeated the conversation he might be subpœnaed.

MR. MARBLE—Yes.

MR. HINES—And if he had repeated it, the only way he could avoid the subpœna, probably, would be to leave the city.

SENATOR JONES—How did you learn that Cook was in town?

MR. HINES—This gentleman that telephoned me from Duluth had said Mr. Cook had gone to Chicago either that day or the day before. That is the only way I knew he was in Chicago.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not call Mr. Cook at the Grand Pacific when you got that message yourself?

MR. HINES—Mr. Wiehe lived only a matter of six or seven minutes' ride from the Grand Pacific hotel, and I thought it would be more convenient to have him go there and see him personally.

SENATOR JONES—When you found he was out, why did you not telephone Mr. Cook?

MR. HINES—I do not know just what the reason was why I did not do it at this time. I do not know that I could give a reason really.

SENATOR JONES—What was the name of the man at Duluth who telephoned you?

MR. HINES—It seems to me now—it was either Mr. Harper or Mr. Cousins, our manager. I cannot say which telephoned—either one or the other.

Little Chance for "Expenses."

MR. MARBLE—You knew, did you not, at the time of the conversation with Mr. Funk that Senator Lorimer had not had his name

Q. If one there was? A. No.

Q. And you have no information along that line which you can give the committee? A. No.

Q. Did any one ever approach you and solicit you to subscribe to such a fund? A. No.

Q. At any time? A. No.

Q. Or any place? A. No.

Mr. Hines's Sworn Testimony in Washington.

Q.—Go on, say whether you met Mr. Funk that day and where you met him, and all about it.

A.—I was in the Union League club on a large leather sofa on the west side, just north of the entrance. I was sitting on the sofa in company with the following gentlemen: Fred Carney of Marinette, Wis., a lumberman operating at Marinette and at Owen Sound, Canada, with Charles Hall of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and with Isaac Baker.

Q.—Well, go on.

A.—I noticed Mr. Funk approaching me. When we first noticed him he was probably within six or eight feet. He came up to me, and when I saw he was approaching me I got up and shook hands with him. He said to me: "I am glad to hear that Mr. Lorimer has been elected senator," or words to that effect. I said: "I am pleased that you are glad that he is, and he ought to make a very good representative of the state." He then said to me: "I would like much, indeed, at your earliest convenience" or "convenience"—I am not positive which—"if you would arrange to introduce me to Senator Lorimer. I have never met him and I would like to have you introduce me to him." With that we walked over—he rather taking me by the left arm—toward the entrance to go out of the club. As we got to the entrance of the club going out there is a large pillar as you turn to go down Jackson boulevard, and he said to me then: "I understand," or "the senator must have been put"—I could not recollect just how the conversation was put to me—"the senator must have been put to more or less expense in this contest for the senatorship, and he ought not to stand that. The business interests ought to take it off his hands. We would like to contribute to that expense." I said to him that I did not know anything about the matter, but I said: "I will see, and let you know." We parted there. I went back to the gentlemen with whom I was engaged in business, and I presume he went out down the stairs.

Cross Examination Occupies Entire Day in the Lorimer Scandal Inquiry.

before the legislature for any period of time until he was elected?

MR. HINES—That is what I understood; yes, sir.

MR. MARBLE—Why did you not tell Mr. Funk of that fact, and that there could not be any expenses?

MR. HINES—No; I did not talk to him, I think, two minutes. At that time I said: "I do not know of any, but I will see." Our conversation was brief, indeed.

Attorney Marble and members of the committee questioned Hines with great persistence whether he was in New York in the early part of last February. He said he made two trips to New York from Washington.

MR. MARBLE—Have you the telegram which you sent confirming the first telephonic conversation to Senator Lorimer at Springfield, after Mr. Aldrich returned to you from the White House on the early morning of May 26, 1909?

Telegram Copy Missing.

MR. HINES—No, I have not got a copy of that particular telegram.

MR. MARBLE—Has Senator Lorimer, do you know?

MR. HINES—I do not know.

MR. MARBLE—Did you get a copy from him?

MR. HINES—Up to yesterday his secretary could not locate the telegram.

MR. MARBLE—What is your memory of what was in that telegram?

MR. HINES—It was a long telegram, in which I explained the meeting with Senator Aldrich and the president.

MR. MARBLE—Give us the words of your reference to Senator Aldrich and the president as nearly as you can.

MR. HINES—Something of this kind: "Confirming conference over telephone, Aldrich, Penrose, president, anxious to have you become candidate. Do all they can to assist you. Important administration have you elected senator. Some one to represent Illinois on tariff schedule to be considered soon. Authorized to have governor or others telephone or telegraph confirm this."

MR. MARBLE—You are positive that Mr. Aldrich did not tell you the president declined to have a telegram sent quoting him to that effect?

MR. HINES—Absolutely to the contrary.

MR. MARBLE—And if Mr. Aldrich should say that the statement by Mr. Hines that the president was anxious for and was urging the election of Mr. Lorimer is wholly unfounded, your testimony would be directly to the contrary?

MR. HINES—Absolutely.

MR. MARBLE—Understand, I was repeating from a statement made by the president.

Again Goes Over Meeting with Funk.

Mr. Hines then was asked further about the Funk story.

SENATOR KERN—How did Funk greet you?

MR. HINES—He shook hands with me. He said he was glad to see that Mr. Lorimer had been elected senator. I told him I was glad that he was pleased over the election.

MR. MARBLE—Nothing said in between these two remarks, or before the reference to Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—No, he came up and approached me and offered that suggestion himself.

MR. MARBLE—That was the very first thing he said?

MR. HINES—Absolutely. Absolutely. And then after I made my reply he said: "I never have met the senator and would like very much indeed if you would arrange to have me meet him." I told him I thought it would afford me pleasure to arrange to introduce him to the senator.

MR. MARBLE—You are sure you have given all of that conversation?

MR. HINES—Just at that period—just at that time—that was practically all that was said.

MR. MARBLE—And then did you walk away, the two of you?

MR. HINES—Then he took me sort of by the left arm——

Certain Funk Took His Left Arm.

MR. MARBLE—You are sure it was the left arm?

MR. HINES—Yes.

MR. MARBLE—Which hand did he use to take hold of you?

MR. HINES—I think it was his right hand to take hold of my left arm.

MR. MARBLE—Did he take hold tightly?

MR. HINES—No, just in a sort of a moving, pushing way.

MR. MARBLE—Are you sure of that?

MR. HINES—Absolutely.

MR. MARBLE—Did that attract your attention very much at the time?

MR. HINES—Why, just one of the incidents of the conversation.

MR. MARBLE—Did any of these other gentlemen with whom you had conversations take hold of your left arm?

MR. HINES—Which gentlemen?

MR. MARBLE—Senator Aldrich or Senator Penrose?

MA. HINES—I do not recollect the instance.

MR. MARBLE—Mr. Wiehe or any others? You don't recollect that as to any except Mr. Funk?

MR. HINES—Not at that time; no, sir.

Too Busy for Felicitations.

SENATOR KERN—Were many men in Chicago felicitating you that day on the election of Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—No, I did not see many men that day. I was busy.

SENATOR KERN—Did anybody else say anything to you about Mr. Lorimer's election?

MR. HINES—I met a couple of lumbermen there that day, or the next day. I think I talked with Mr. Perley Lowe of Chicago. He spoke in favorable terms, I think.

SENATOR KERN—Do you remember the conversation between yourself and any of these gentlemen beyond the mere fact of congratulation?

MR. HINES—Yes, the mere fact that they were pleased.

SENATOR KERN—Do you remember the details of the conversation you had with any other man?

MR. HINES—Not the details. I am in the club little of my time.

MR. MARBLE—Did you ever know of any large business corporation attempting to press a contribution upon the holder of a public office?

MR. HINES—Do you mean sending a contribution without being asked?

MR. MARBLE—No. I mean to say, do you know of any case where any large business corporation other than the International Harvester company in any case attempted to press a contribution upon an elected candidate?

MR. HINES—I do not understand this was pressing a contribution. He simply asked the question.

Told Funk Was Dissatisfied.

MR. MARBLE—And was dissatisfied with your answer that there were no expenses?

MR. HINES—I do not know what he wanted to see me after that for. He told Mr. Wiehe he wanted to see Mr. Hines.

MR. MARBLE—Did not Mr. Wiehe tell you that Mr. Funk was dissatisfied with your answer?

MR. HINES—He said he seemed to be dissatisfied at my answer, but I did not know what he wanted to see me about after that.

MR. MARBLE—You are quite sure that Gov. Deneen told you when you telephoned him, that morning—May 26, 1909—that he would help to elect Senator Lorimer?

MR. HINES—Why, he said he would assist. He would see Mr. Lorimer within ten minutes, and thanked me for calling him up.

MR. MARBLE—Did Mr. Lorimer tell you the governor was at that time actually engaged in attempting to provent his election?

MR. HINES—He did not.

Long had Heard of "Jackpots."

SENATOR JONES—Did you ever hear about the jackpot fund being used at any legislature of Illinois?

MR. HINES—O, I have heard it for ten or twenty years in the newspapers of Chicago.

SENATOR JONES—Have you heard it discussed by anybody outside of the newspapers?

MR. HINES—With nobody that appeared to have any definite knowledge.

SENATOR JONES—Did you ever contribute anything to promote or retard legislation before the Illinois legislature?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

SENATOR JONES—Were you ever asked to contribute anything—either personally or your company?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

SENATOR JONES—Did you ever hear of anybody's contributing any money to a jackpot fund?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

SENATOR KERN—Had it come to be an accepted fact in Illinois that there was a jackpot division in the legislature?

MR. HINES—Why, senator—just as I stated—I have heard it repeated at certain intervals more forcibly than at other intervals, that there was a legislative jackpot.

STEPHENSON CASE TAKEN UP.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—[Special.]—The United States senate now must investigate the title of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin to a seat in its chamber. The senate received today a resolution from the legislature of Wisconsin asking that such an investigation be made.

The records in the case, containing a report of the investigation by a joint committee of the Wisconsin legislature, came today from the secretary of the state of Wisconsin and was laid before the senate by Vice President Sherman.

On motion of Senator Heyburn, the documents were referred to the committee on privileges and elections, of which Mr. Heyburn is a member.

COMMITTEE WILL VISIT CHICAGO.

A special session of the Lorimer inquiry will be held in Chicago between July 4 and July 11, after which the committee will visit Springfield, where another session will be held.

The Congress hotel probably will be the place and July 5 the date of the first session.

This information was obtained late last night from F. N. Webber, an assistant sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, who has been in Chicago a week. He visited Springfield, where he served subpœnas on witnesses wanted at the hearing to be held in Chicago.

Suicide Found in Lincoln Park.

A man, supposed to have been Stanislaus Dlugoluske, about 60 years old, was found dead on the lawn near the animal house in Lincoln park yesterday morning. A bottle which had contained carbolic acid lay near the body.

TAFT TELLS FACT; REFUTES HINES

White House Statement Says the President Refused to Help Lorimer.

REFERS ALSO TO LETTER.

Declares Lumber Lobbyist's Testimony on Point "Wholly Unfounded."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 30.—[Special.]—Regarding the testimony of Edward Hines in the Lorimer inquiry that Senator Aldrich told him to notify Springfield the president was anxious that Lorimer should be elected to the senate, the following statement was authorized today by the White House:

"The fact with reference to the president's relation to Senator Lorimer's election is this:

"That during the tariff fight gentlemen came to President Taft and expressed their interest in passing the tariff bill and said that it had been suggested from Illinois that it would be wise for the president to express an opinion in favor of the election of Mr. Lorimer.

Refused to Authorize Message.

"He did not know Mr. Lorimer well, although he knew that he was an influential member of congress, but he did know Senator Hopkins. He knew very little about Illinois politics, but expressed a desire there should be two Republican senators from Illinois. When asked to put that in the form of a telegram urging the election of Mr. Lorimer, he declined to do so.

"The statement by Mr. Hines that the president was anxious for and was urging the election of Mr. Lorimer is wholly unfounded."

The president is therefore standing upon this official statement, which originally was made when Mr. Hines testified before the Helm committee, and will not add anything to it or take away anything from it.

Statement Made Also in Letter.

Attention was called at the White House also to an extract from a letter written by President Taft shortly after Lorimer's election in which the executive said:

"The reports, rumors, or statements that I consciously lent any weight of the administration to the election of Lorimer are wholly untrue."

SENATE AGREES TO RECESS.

Extra Session of Illinois Legislature Adjourns Until Oct. 2, When State Fair Will Be in Progress.

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—[Special.]—The senate stood for the house over-summer recess today, and the extra session of the legislature will resume business, theoretically, on Oct. 2—state fair week. By unanimous consent there will be no real business transacted until Oct. 10, according to the announcement of Lieut. Gov. Oglesby from the rostrum.

The waterway-water power proposition remains in statu quo until the October return of the statesmen.

Gov. Deneen said tonight he had no expectation of calling another extraordinary session. Whether the extra session call may be amplified by the governor in preparation for the October meeting also is in dispute

EXPRESS RATES REDUCED THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

Interstate Board Notified New Tariff Will Go Into Effect on Aug. 1—General Cut 50 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—Members of the interstate commerce commission were surprised today when packages were delivered to them containing new tariffs from all the express companies in the United States except the Long Island. The tariffs call for a large reduction in express rates beginning Aug. 1.

It appears that in the case of long hauls of express packages to noncompetitive points, the general reductions amount to 50 per cent. Officials of the commission say that the new rates will bring substantial reductions on 90 per cent of the traffic handled by the sixteen or seventeen express companies of the country.

The new tariffs show the companies have abandoned their double graduate system of charging for express packages weighing less than 100 pounds. Under this system, every express company participating in the transportation charged its separate rate for the distance hauled. The new tariffs provide for a charge based on a through haul.

LUMBERMAN GONE; FEARS EXPRESSED

Edward J. Petteys Drops from Sight When on New Orleans Trip.

WIFE SAYS FOUL PLAY.

Members of Family Notify Police and Friends; Started on Journey June 20.

For ten days the family of Edward J. Petteys, head of the Petteys Lumber company, has not been able to ascertain his whereabouts.

The family, consisting of a wife, two children, and an invalid father, yesterday communicated to friends their fears for his safety.

According to the story told last night by Mrs. Petteys at the family residence, 5400 Prairie avenue, her husband left for New Orleans on June 20 to attend a conference which involved a lumber deal amounting to a million dollars or more.

Expected Back This Week.

After the conference at New Orleans the man was to go to Dermott, Ark., and was expected to be at home by Monday or Tuesday of this week.

"Mr. Petteys said he would keep in daily communication with us," said Mrs. Petteys, "but we have not heard a word since he said good-by at the door and waved a laughing farewell as he turned into Fifty-fourth street on his way to the station ten days ago.

"He has disappeared to us as completely as if the earth had swallowed him up, and although we have written to New Orleans and to Dermott, we have been unable to get any trace of him.

Would Write if Alive.

"We are waiting, but it seems to be getting hopeless. We are certain that he would communicate with us if he were alive and well, and it is certain that he had no motive for leaving his family."

The missing man is described as being 31 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weighing about 145 or 150 pounds. He has dark brown eyes and hair, the former peculiar because of a slight squint in the left eye and the latter touched with gray about the temples. Two front teeth are slightly chipped.

When last seen he was wearing a large ring and had about $600. This added to the fear that he has met with foul play. The theory that the missing man might have committed suicide is rejected.

City Employes to Play Ball.

A challenge to all comers in the municipal service sent out by A. J. Callaghan, manager of the baseball nine in the corporation counsel's office, has resulted in a match being arranged. The city attorney's office will have a team ready to play Callaghan's aggregation at Comiskey park July 8.

The Price of Drinking
Is the Loss of Self-Respect.
Can You Afford to Pay the Price?

Personality is what counts in this world. The best salesman, the most successful business man, every one who depends upon the good will of his fellow man, knows the value of an engaging personality. The days when business could be gotten by the "good fellow" who took his customer out for a drink are gone.

How many business men do you know who like to have a salesman enter their office and put a proposition to them with a breath reeking with liquor?

How many patients place implicit confidence in a surgeon or doctor who drinks? We defy any one to name one particular line of human endeavor that necessitates drinking. One of the most successful saloon men in Chicago never took a drink in his life.

Has drinking ever helped increase your business assets in the slightest degree? Experience has proven to you that

The Drinking Man Loses
His Self-Respect

The square-shouldered, straight-eyed, clean man of the Twentieth Century business world does not take chances with statistics. He knows that he cannot afford to drink.

Perhaps you would like to break from the saloon and its expensive "treating" and "good fellowship." You would do it tomorrow if you could. You know that every cent you pour down your throat is absolute waste.

You know that you could save hundreds yearly if it were not for the liquor you absorb because "the rest of the crowd" do it. What would that crowd do for you if drinking cost you your position? Would they take care of your family, lend you money, get you another job?

"He was a good old scout; too bad," they say when history repeats itself and another "good fellow" meets his Waterloo. Commiseration doesn't help you then.

There is a way out. You can save your self-respect, build for your future, make the best of every opportunity and emancipate yourself from the craving for liquor in three days. The good results and complete eradication of the drink craving are guaranteed by the

Gatlin Original
Three Day Drink Cure

Are the years of your future worth three days of your present?

Eleven years of success are back of the Gatlin Institute. Our past success is a guarantee of your future happiness.

Drinking men, moderate and of the habitual class, have been successfully treated by us. Men who have been slaves to liquor for many years have been completely rejuvenated by the Gatlin Cure.

And the whole treatment is delightfully simple and sure. You will not know how the miracle was accomplished, but you can be sure of one thing—

We Use No Dangerous Drugs or Hypodermic Injections in the Gatlin Treatment.

Don't form the idea that the Gatlin Institute is a dreary hospital. The Institute is housed in the former home of Marshall Field, Jr., at 1919 Prairie Avenue. The founders of the Gatlin Institute choose every location with the one idea in mind that the neighborhood, surroundings and spirit of the place must be cheerful, refined and quiet. It was only with difficulty that the Chicago site for the Gatlin Institute was secured. The three days you spend with us will be restful and give you a much needed relaxation.

The Gatlin Cure Never Fails

We could show you hundreds of men right here in Chicago who have been revamped physically and mentally at the Gatlin Institute. Some of them had been pronounced hopeless cases by their friends and family physicians.

Any doctor can give you weighty reasons why you should stop drinking. You don't need them; deep down in your heart you know you should. To throw off this habit means restored self-respect, the good opinion of your personal and business friends and family. It will make you

Every Inch a Man

Write for descriptive literature today; we want to show you a certain chance for freedom.

The Gatlin Home Treatment is equally thorough and is intended for those who cannot come to the Institute.

Our system of treatment is based upon exact scientific principles. You owe it to your success to get in touch with us now.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Smith, 2746 Lexington street, announce the marriage of their sister, Miss Bertha Olkan, to Charles Rubin of New York on June 29. They will make their home in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McDonald, 364 North Normal parkway, announce the marriage of their daughter Dora to A. Roszel Cathcart of Baltimore.

Mrs. H. E. Coombs, 5008 Madison avenue, is spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Lincoln Wean, at her summer home, "Oakcliffe," White Lake, Mich.

Mrs. C. H. Browne of Mendor, Mich., is the guest of Mrs. Truman G. Palmer of Irving Park.

Mrs. M. R. White of New Castle, Pa., is visiting her son, Dr. Elmer T. White, 4641 Prairie avenue.

The marriage of Miss Grace Marie Hinton, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Hinton of Hollywood, to Herman Grueneberg will take place on Wednesday, July 5, at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother.

Miss Eugenia Hahn will be maid of honor and Clifford Hinton, brother of the bride, will serve as best man. A reception to the bridal party will follow the ceremony. The young couple will spend their honeymoon in the west.

The marriage of Miss Cherrill I. Wells, daughter of Mrs. Cherrill Hedenberg Wells, to Thomas Sinclair Moore of Portland, will take place Wednesday, July 5, at the residence of the bride's mother, 120 Honore street, Dr. Martin D. Hardin of the Third Presbyterian church officiating.

Miss Sarah Cecilia Wells will be maid of honor and the bridemaids will be Miss Frances Prentiss and Miss Irene Tripp. Mrs. Wells will give a dinner for her daughter's briday party on Monday evening. The young couple will live at 285 Winchell street, Portland, Ore.

The Naiveté club gave an informal dance last night at the Douglas park refectory. The patronesses were Mrs. F. Bacci, Mrs. O. F. Burlingame, Mrs. M. Burlingame, Mrs. Joseph L. McMahon, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. John McBreem, Mrs. F. Warner, Mrs. H. Walters, Miss Marie B. Pokorney, Miss Lillian Walters, and Miss Elizabeth Brisbane. The reception committee was made up of girls from the John Marshall High school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bosworth and children of Evanston will spend the summer at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of the Rev. W. F. Bostwick and Miss Alice Mabel Johnson, which took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mathilda Johnson, here Wednesday. Mr. Bostwick while pastor of the Yorkville Baptist church walked twelve miles from Aurora to Yorkville through the snow to keep an engagement. Both feet were frozen. Several weeks ago he declared a minister could not get married on $1,200 a year and said he would resign his position if his salary was not raised. Friends believe he got the boost he sought.

Mrs. William Isaacs is the guest of her mother, Mrs. S. Cohn, 5431 Indiana avenue, where she will be pleased to see her friends.

Miss Judith Drew Barker, daughter of Mrs. Susan Withers Barker, and John Stoker Miller Jr., Harvard '11, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoker Miller of Chicago, were married at the Unitarian church at Kingston, Mass., Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James De Normandee of the First Unitarian church, Roxburg. Miss Annie Wales Brewster was maid of honor and the bridemaids included Miss Janet Miller of Chicago, cousin of the groom. Ralph Hornblower of Arlington was best man. After a wedding trip to Europe Mr. Miller will enter the Harvard Law school.

Dartmoor—A World in Little.

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

EDEN PHILLPOTTS cannot drag himself and his fiction away from Dartmoor. In that exuberant portion of the world he remains spellbound, finding as rich and varied a return for his labors in the field of human lore as the farmers of that region find in the responsive fields.

"DEMETER'S DAUGHTER," his latest novel, tells the story of a woman of abundant nature, the very creature of the moors, who from youth to age gave of her love, her toil, her wisdom, and her womanhood, to perish frustrate at last, and to be forgotten by those she had so passionately served. The story is, it will be surmised, serious in the extreme, and no one addicted to mere diversion in fiction need turn to these significant pages. Mr. Phillpotts' idea has been to typify Nature in this woman of Dartmoor. She is the feminine principle incarnate. Her unwearying provision for those dependent upon her, her charm, integrity, and consecration, her narrowness and faith, her self-forgetfulness, her ideals, and her fury when that idealism suffers a wound, are characteristic indeed.

A story of this nature, having for its purpose the presentation of a great character, and set to the tragic note, must of necessity place the idea before the action. Its unity is the unity of abstract, not of concrete things. Mr. Phillpotts produces his result by the exposition of endless trivialities. All the mean and squalid incidents of a life of abject poverty, intensified by intemperance, licentiousness, and brutal selfishness, are brought forward, and against this background the figure of his woman, Alison Cleave, rises in heroic proportions. Her husband, a braggart, idler, and egotist, condescends to her while she supports him; her eldest son betrays the girl who loves him, and sinks into a shameful life; her favorite son is killed in the Boer war; her eldest daughter is without sympathy for her, her second daughter is a cripple; her best friend becomes the mistress of her husband. Yet her love proves indestructible, and when she is at last extinguished beneath the waters of a spate the reader feels a certain incredulity concerning it. Perhaps one reason for this incredulity may lie in the seeming senselessness of the conclusion. It might have been better for the story if Alison could have had some final hour of spiritual glory. The termination of her life at a moment in all respects inopportune and undramatic conveys a subtle offense. It would be difficult to tell why the reader resents the form the tragedy takes, but there is no getting away from the fact that the termination is disturbing and dramatically unsatisfactory.

Mr. Phillpotts has written a curious introductory chapter to his book in rhythmic prose. The theme is mythologic, the moral philosophic, the purpose the preparation of the reader's mind for the character of Alison Cleave. It is not essential to the tale, perhaps, yet it certainly assists the reader to receive the symphonic meanings of this tragic tale—it is the prelude, in which the themes are indicated to the educated ear.

Not the least enjoyable portions of the book are the discussions at the tavern by the men of the neighborhood. Here is heard much liberal debate, in which the author contrives to vent some of his own ideas, it may be surmised, along with the views of his characters. Mr. Phillpotts has a perfect willingness to discuss fundamental matters when the occasion arises. He is aware that no one can take more than a step or two in psychology without coming upon sex, and he is unabashed before the great questions that arise in this connection. But frank, confident, and unconventional though he is, he at no time sinks to pruriency. He has no love of filthiness; but a true recognition of the forces of nature. And nature, it appears, assumes no disguises in Dartmoor. Her aspects and moods are easily recognizable. Indeed, Mr. Phillpotts uses his Dartmoor as the little model of the world, and the catholicity of his tale is its strongest recommendation. There is now and then something which, for want of a better word, may be termed Shakspearean in his descriptions of men and moods.

The reputation which this novelist has built up for himself is unusual in character. He is more comparable, perhaps, to Thomas Hardy than to any other writer. Like Hardy, he seems to be of the very soil; like him, he delights in appraising the richness and fecundity of nature, and in facing her tragedies, and offering without palliation the sins of the world with as much unction as if they were virtues. A Nietzschean quotation which he has employed as a text explains this point of view.

"Everything is so absolutely bound and related to everything else in the real world," runs the excerpt, "that to condemn, or to think away anything, means to condemn and think away the whole. The words 'this should not be,' 'this ought not to be,' are a farce. If one imagines the consequences, one would ruin the very source of life by suppressing everything which is in any sense whatever dangerous or destructive."

Mr. Philipots has, emphatically, dug deep in the lore of human experience, and whether spade turns up blossoms or slugs is all one to him. (John Lane company.)

"THE IMMORTAL LURE," by Cale Young Rice, consists of four love tragedies in the form of short poetic dramas. The first, "Giorgione," is the story of that great painter's despair and death. He believes himself betrayed by his lady, and finding his error, takes from her dying lips the kiss of contagion and perishes of the plague.

The second drama, "Arduin," is a wild tale of Egypt in the fifteenth century, and of an alchemist who mistakes a living woman, his son's betrothed, for the revivified body of his long dead wife, and who submerges all in disaster. "O-ume's Gods" is a dark story of Japan. The struggle is between the Christian and the Buddhist religions in the heart of a girl. At the end she passionately repudiates them both, since between them they have cheated her of the essential thing, love and happiness. "The Immortal Lure," the concluding drama—and the best of them—is also a story of the orient. A young wanton is sent to undermine a hermit who, like herself, is in early youth. He has seen no women, and her beauty and kindness enchant him. In the final revelation she, as well as he, is overcome with anguish.

Intensity pervades each of these dramas. Mr. Rice has undeniable sincerity and deep feeling, and he forbids himself to decorate his tale with useless beauties, but keeps well to his theme, gaining in structural power what he loses in poetic elaboration. The result is a vivid, strong, and moving dramatic picture, well focused and moving in its effects. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

"LATER PRATT PORTRAITS," which have been appearing from the brush of that fine limner, Miss Anna Fuller, in the Atlantic, now are gathered together and sent forth from Putnam's publishing house. The Pratt family has established neighborly relations with the reading public, and like the good folk in Old Chester, concerning whom Mrs. Deland is ever ready to write, their goings and comings, blunders and repentances, interest us all. It may be of moment to those who are inquisitive to know that William's Willie, who thought he was a coward, found out that he wasn't after all, and won the approval of all the Pratts by an act of timely courage and married lovely Isabel Allen; and that Anson Bennett—whose mother was Jane Pratt—died without ever telling of his lifelong sacrifice, and that his mother's heart was warmed into something like other hearts when she heard of it; and that Peggy Spencer found that she loved her good old father better than a certain bad young man; and Georgiana Rice, the efficient, discovered wherein the real difference lay between the Marys and the Marthas; and that Robert Pratt made some delicious jests at the expense of everybody, etc., etc. There are many other pieces of news, some of moment, and others, equally entertaining, of no moment whatever, and none who has been addicted to looking in through the windows at the goings-on of the Pratts can afford to neglect them. Maud Tousey Fangel has presented the faces of certain of the Pratts in reproductions of water color sketches.

No one in his day has done better justice to the slangy office boy, full of impudence and good intentions, than Sewall Ford. His "TORCHY" (E. J. Clode, New York) is delightful in his destruction of the English language, his propensity to interfere advantageously in other people's affairs, his resourcefulness, and his disinterestedness. Mr. Ford made a real character out of Shorty McCabe, and Torchy is another. The two together could conquer the world. The book is a breeze.

Olive Schreiner Writes of "Woman and Labor."

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

OF all the authors writing today there is none more self-restrained than Olive Schreiner, who jumped into fame overnight years ago with "The Story of an African Farm." That was considered by a great many people an epoch making book. She followed it with another called "Dreams," and still another, "Dream Life and Real Life," both written soon after the "African Farm." But they did not cause a ripple; they were entirely different from her first book, and so very different and so very unlike what the public had a right to expect from her that they fell comparatively dead. Since then—and I think the last of these was published in 1897—Olive Schreiner, who in private life is Mrs. S. C. Cronwright, has written nothing.

But she has not been idle. In her early youth she began writing a book on "Woman," and she worked on it continually till 1899. She was then living in Johannesburg, but owing to ill health was obliged to leave that low country, and she left her manuscript behind her at home. She had been gone scarcely two months when the Boer war broke out, and the military authorities refused to allow her to return to her home or to communicate with any one there. When the British troops entered Johannesburg a friend on the British side, who had been allowed to go to her house to look for the manuscript, found that the house had been looted, her desk broken open, and its contents burned. Thus the labor of years had been destroyed. Some time later, when confined in an up-country hamlet, with the war still raging around her, to divert her mind she began writing her magnum opus, "Woman and Labor," a remembrance of a part of the manuscript that had been destroyed.

She says that armed guards stood at her windows, so that she could not open the shutters, and the light came through only in small streaks, but she wrote, though almost in the dark, and finished the book, "WOMAN AND LABOR," that the F. A. Stokes company will publish immediately. In the introduction to this book the writer tells how it came to be written. The original title was "Musings on Woman and Labor." From years of observation, particularly of birds, as she wandered alone in the African bush "and watched cock-o-veets singing their interknit love songs, and small singing birds building their nests together and caring for and watching over not only their young but each other, and which has powerfully influenced all I have thought and felt on sex matters since; the fact that along the line of bird life and among certain of its species sex has attained its highest and esthetic, and one might also say intellectual, development on earth; a point of development to which no human race as a whole has yet reached, and which represents the realization of the highest sexual ideal which haunts humanity."

When Olive Schreiner was 18 she once had a conversation with a Kaffir woman "still in her untouched primitive condition," a conversation which made a more profound impression on her mind than any but one other incident connected with the position of woman has ever done. It was this conversation which first forced upon Olive Schreiner the fact which she has since come to regard as almost axiomatic: "That the women of no race or class will ever rise in revolt or attempt to bring about a revolutionary readjustment of their relation to their society, however intense their suffering and however clear their perception of it, while the welfare and persistence of their society requires their submission; that wherever there is a general attempt on the part of the women of any society to readjust their position in it, a close analysis will always show that the changed or changing conditions of that society have made woman's acquiescence no longer necessary or desirable." From this she went on to deal in her writing with what is more popularly known as the "Woman's Question," with the causes which in modern European societies are leading women to attempt readjustment in relation to their social organism; with the direction in which such readjustments are taking place, and with the results which in the future it appears likely such readjustments will produce.

I am not sure but that the fire which destroyed Olive Schreiner's original manuscript was not a good thing, for the reason that if she had had that manuscript she probably would have published it in its entirety and would have made too big a book. The present work is more concise; it is written with riper judgment and is much more likely to be read by the people that the author wants to have it read by than if it had been more voluminous. Furthermore, it comes at a most opportune time. If it had been published ten years ago it would not have attracted half the attention question is the burning one of the hour. Whether the reader agrees with this writer's deductions or not, he must be impressed by the force and honesty of her arguments and the straightforwardness of their exposition. Let me quote from the last chapter of this book:

"To those of us who, at the beginning of a new century, stand with shaded eyes, gazing into the future, striving to descry the outlines of the shadowy figures which loom before us in the distance, nothing seems of so gracious a promise as the outline we seem to discern of a condition of human life in which a closer union than the world has yet seen shall exist between the man and the woman; where the Walhalla of our old northern ancestors shall find its realization in a concrete reality, and the Walkure and her hero feast together at one board in a brave fellowship.

Always in our dreams we hear the turn of the key that shall close the door of the last brothel; the clink of the last coin that pays for the body and soul of a woman; the falling of the last wall that incloses artificially the activity of woman and divides her from man; always we picture the love of the sexes as once a dull, slow, creeping worm; then a torpid, earthy chrysalis; at last the full winged insect, glorious in the sunshine of the future.

Today as we row hard against the stream of life is it only a blindness in our eyes, which have been too long strained, which makes us see far up the river where it fades into the distance, through all the mists that rise from the river banks, a clear, a golden light? Is it only a delusion of the eyes which makes us grasp our oars more lightly and bend our backs lower; though we know well that, long before the boat reaches those stretches, other hands than ours will man the oars and guide its helm? Is it all a dream?"

Olive Schreiner believes in the possibilities of the future and in the impossibilities of a return to the past. Today she exclaims: "We are found everywhere raising our strange new cry—labor, and the training that fits us for labor!"

Another book which Chicago will be interested in, but as unlike Prof. Moulton's as one could possibly imagine, is a novelette by George Barr McCutcheon called "WHAT'S-HIS-NAME." It is a delightful little book; not a Graustark story, but one inspired by present day conditions, that the man in the street thoroughly understands. It is a story of an unassuming little man who was the husband of a popular actress. This pathetic little chap was married to Nellie Deluth, whose friends knew that he was her husband, but couldn't remember his name. "He was not an imposing figure; you wouldn't have looked at him twice; you couldn't have remembered looking once at him, for that matter. He was the type of man who ambles through life without being noticed even by those amiably inclined persons who make it their business to see everything that is going on, no matter how trivial it is."

For a matter of four or five years he had been known simply as "What's-His-Name," Nellie Deluth's husband. Mr. McCutcheon has never written a cleverer character sketch than that of Harvey "What's-His-Name." It is not only a clever but a true sketch.

Mr. Joseph B. Gilder's Plans.

Mr. Joseph B. Gilder, who has been editing the New York Times Review of Books for the last year, has resigned his position and gone abroad for a vacation of several months. It was Mr. Gilder's intention to take a long vacation after the passing of Putnam's Magazine, but he was persuaded to accept the editorship of the Times Review, which he has just resigned to follow out his original plan. When he returns to the United States he will probably engage in an entirely new line of business, unless he elects to retire from business altogether. The new editor of the Times Review of Books is Mr. George Fife, who was at one time literary editor of the Evening Mail, and who has had a long experience in literary editorship.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

Note:—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. For years she has been a student of the art and is, as every one knows, a wonderful illustration of what her methods will accomplish.

Miss Russell has no affiliation with any special or professional beauty regime. She will talk and advise you of her experience just as a woman would to another woman friend. Write to her freely. She has agreed to tell the readers of The Tribune all the secrets of her toilet and give them all her tonic and cosmetic recipes, and more than any other American woman, Lillian Russell can tell what every woman should know who wishes to be beautiful. Those desiring a personal reply from Miss Russell should be particular to inclose an envelope properly stamped and addressed.

Don't Neglect Your Body.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

[Copyright: 1911: By Lillian Russell.]

"I DON'T want to think much about my body; it is too material," said a woman the other day.

The idea seemed rather like running up against a stone wall and insisting that there was no obstruction.

One must think of the body. It must be clothed and fed while it holds the life breath, and it must be decently disposed of after death. Why not give it the thought and care that are its due?

There is no material thing in the world that is so much abused as the human body. We allow it to grow gross and ugly from overeating; we see it become thin and drawn with illness which, with proper care, we might prevent.

We spend our days cleaning antique laces or mahogany furniture, while our skin shrivels up with clogged pores, as we have no time for the daily bath. We wear ill fitting shoes that deform our feet. We bite and tear our finger nails. We neglect our teeth and eyes shamefully. We allow unsightly wrinkles to appear in our faces because we are thoughtlessly grimacing all the waking hours. We neither sleep nor exercise enough. We simply abuse our bodies all the time and then rail at fate because we are not healthy and beautiful.

Let us think of our bodies as a machine just for a moment. If any one of us owned such a capable and intricate invention would not we be proud and give it much thought and attention? The man who owns a seventy horsepower motor car thinks nothing of paying another man $125 a month to care for it and run it properly; yet how many men or women of circumstances which will permit of seventy horsepower motor cars spend $1,500 a year on the proper care of their bodies?

They may spend many times that amount to pamper their pride, their appetites, their egotism, or other fads and fancies of mind and senses, but $1,500 a year for the care of the most wonderful machine that the mind of mortal can conceive, and which is the most important factor in this life, would not be considered for an instant!

One must give thought to material things, as in this world the spiritual and the mental are so bound up with them that they cannot be separated. Why not accept the physical part of ourselves as we accept the material part of everything else? Why not spend as much thought, time, and money upon our bodies as we do upon other matter? Surely it will repay us to do so, for not only long and useful lives will be our portion but the sum total of beauty and happiness upon earth will be greatly increased.

Remember—Women are right to crave beauty at any price, as it is the only merit that men do not contest with them.

Lillian Russell's Answers to Her Inquirers

B. B.: A clear, lovely complexion can only be acquired where fundamental principles of correct living and the general care of the complexion, applying the necessary creams and lotions, are harmoniously combined. The complexion is a correct barometer of the condition of the health. You will have to make a change in your manner of living before any improvement will be seen. Choose simple, nourishing food, with plenty of fresh and stewed fruit. Vegetables, lettuce, and cereals make for clear skins. Avoid heavy, rich foods, pastry, too many sweets, tea and coffee. Coffee sallows the skin; sweets bring out pimples, and rich foods coarsen the skin and make it greasy. Eat slowly and masticate thoroughly. Plenty of sleep and outdoor exercise have a beneficial effect upon the complexion, clearing it generally. If you will send me a letter, with a self-addressed stamped envelope, I will send you recipes for a simple lotion for bleaching freckles, and a cucumber cream which is whitening and soothing to all irritations. There is a great deal of natural arsenic in the cucumber that acts directly on the skin when applied externally.

Marjorie: A young woman should not be troubled with deep wrinkles and lines under the eyes. Occasionally hollows under the eyes are constitutional, but they are usually caused by poor circulation, lack of sleep, worry, or constipation. Plenty of sleep is a potent beautifier and exercises a most beneficial effect upon the eyes and the skin surrounding them. It brightens the eyes and erases lines from the skin. If you are thin or have worry or responsibilities, sleep from eight to ten hours every night. Outdoor exercise is also necessary if you would have beautiful eyes. The simplest and easiest form of exercise is walking, as it exercises all the muscles and offers an opportunity for deep breathing which stimulates the circulation. I would suggest your massaging about the eyes for five minutes daily. Use plenty of skin food and press on the flesh very gently indeed. After the massage dampen a cloth in cold water and lay it on the eyes for a few minutes. Every night before going to bed, fill the hollows full of skin food, but omit the massage. If you will send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope I will send you the recipe for an excellent skin food which I have used for many years.

A CONSTANT READER: The skin of the neck shows lack of care more quickly than any other part of the body. Wash your neck every night with hot water and a pure soap, then rinse thoroughly, dry carefully, and apply cucumber cream, massaging it in gently. If you will send me a stamped envelope with your address, asking for it, I will send you a fine cucumber cream formula.

M. W.: Am sending you by mail recipes for a good freckle lotion, skin food, which I have used for twenty years, and a glove paste for whitening and smoothing the hands. Red hands are usually due to poor circulation. Plenty of sleep in a well ventilated room and exercise in the open air will be helpful. Be sure that your corsets and sleeves are not too snug.

G. S.: A brush made of large pig's bristles set in a sort of pneumatic rubber top is excellent for starting up the circulation in the scalp. Such a brush helps to keep the scalp clean and will take the snarls out of tangled hair without pulling it out by the roots as a comb is apt to do.

A Constant Reader: Am sending you by mail recipes for an excellent cold cream for a thin, sensitive skin, and a tonic for thin, falling hair. Olive oil soap or pure castile soap, or any soap that does not bite the tongue when you taste it, is generally safe to use, as that test will prove that it contains no alkali. You will have to experiment with first one kind and then another until you find a brand which agrees with your skin and then you should stick to it like a long lost brother and never use any other kind.

M. C. V. S.: Cucumber juice is a good, mild bleach for freckles. Slice the cucumbers, peel and all, and simmer until they can be pressed through a sieve; then add a little alcohol and use frequently. Try this bleach for a few days, then if the freckles are obstinate and refuse to disappear, write me again for the recipe for a stronger bleaching lotion which I shall be glad to mail you if you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Woman and Her Interests.

Wayward Daughters.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

THERE is no "skeleton" in a family closet which parents are so eager to hide as the secret that they have a daughter who is inclined to be wayward.

Mothers cry out, "What shall be done with her? She will fall in love with some person who we know will wreck her life!"

It is late in the day for such mothers to crave advice. They have doubtless refused to accept wise suggestions long ago. Therefore they must abide the consequences of their folly. I point out, in all kindness, the fact that young girls do not become willful suddenly. It shows itself in their early childhood.

It is the duty of parents to check this tendency. Many a mother proudly robes her little one in the finest of laces, fluttering ribbons, impressing her with the knowledge that she is prettier than the rest of the little girls. She is sent to dancing school at an early age. The mother looks on with pride as she sees her floating around the ballroom, like a fairy butterfly, on the arm of some young boy.

At this age the mother forgets that she was finding delight—aye, her only pleasure—in playing with her dolls in the backyard. No boys ever entered into this sanctuary—only little maidens like herself, who likewise brought their dolls. Her juvenile mind was free from all thoughts of admiration and boys. She never knew what it was to have even a male caller or a beau until after she graduated from school.

Her heart was ripe for affection and life was ushered into the path where there were few briars. She should remember that her daughter's life had different environments. Dolls have vanished from her childhood—almost from the time that she has been able to toddle. She makes a vital mistake of fostering in her child the desire to take beaux away from the rest of the girls.

The mother fails to remember that all young men are not alike; that where one is modest, a dozen may be bold.

Strenuous efforts should be put forth to make the home attractive to the girl. She should be encouraged to invite her friends home—finding that she can have more pleasure there than any other place on earth. The choice of her companions should be the greatest study of her parent's lives. Forward girls are an abomination and a menace.

Modest girls are the world's blessings—pearls beyond price. A girl's mind should be filled with other thoughts than beaux.

If the parents are well to do, she should be given a little charity list; that is, a small number of poor families whose sufferings she should alleviate so far as possible.

She should be made to understand that she must do some good in the world. Under this wise training, of filling her mind with useful aims, she will gradually see life as it is, that "Love is of life, a thing apart." Parents should not criticise her choice of a lover too harshly.

Though they note that he has all the faults in the calendar, like wise generals they should skirmish around the battlefield and plan their campaign against him with as much care as if it entailed the overthrow of a citadel. The heart of the willful girl is perverse.

The more her loved ones dwell upon the faults of the lover upon whom she has set her mind the more stubbornly she will cling to him and fight his cause.

The safest way to bring about disenchantment is to bring around her a few worthy young men, also a goodly set of merry girls, towards any one of which his heart might veer, and a further catastrophe might thus be averted. The wayward daughter who defies parental authority must be coaxed lovingly and not pushed into the path in which they would have her go.

Only those are fitted to be parents who can control the lives of their children by love, not fear.

The father of a willful daughter should never encourage the attentions of the dissolute, rich lover, who is known not to be a marrying man.

If he does so he himself opens the primrose path to her. The wayward girl's safety lies in marriage.

It has always been held that five-and-twenty was a proper age for girls to assume the duties of wifehood. In the wayward girl's case we can be a little lenient and stretch it in favor of an earlier marriage.

"The Inseparable Three."

"Dear Miss Libbey: We are three girls, always ready to have a good time and ever willing to do something to make others happy or help things along. Would you please answer a question for us? Do you think it any harm to go to picture shows in a bunch of two or three girls alone in the evening?

"THE INSEPARABLE THREE."

No, there is no harm in a group of girls going unescorted to a picture show. If they conduct themselves properly there is no danger of them attracting undesirable attention.

Has She Waited Long Enough?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a widow, 53 years of age. I've been a widow for four years. I haven't much of an income and have to work hard to make things meet. There's a widower in another town who is trying to pay attention to me. He sent me a card and asked me to answer it. He is very well to do and is respectable. Now, Miss Libbey, what I want to know is, have I waited long enough to show my respect for my dead husband? Please answer soon. JOSEPHINE."

Yes.

* *

Might Recognize Him.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been working downtown for almost a year and nearly every day I meet a young man on the street who looks at me hard, and I presume I look at him the same way, but of course we do not speak. Incidentally he came in the office the other day where I work and it was necessary to talk with him. Now, what I want to know is, the next time I see him on the street should I recognize him? CARRIE."

There is no harm recognizing him, Carrie.

He Is a "Saloonist."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am in love with a man who is a saloonist, but never takes a drink himself, and I like to drink a cocktail once in a while and he objects. Of course he says I'll land in a drunkard's grave. I'm trying to give him up, and he follows me all over and tries to call me up all the time and I love him some, but I like my drinks best and can go with loads of men that will take a drink. Am a lonesome widow and need advice. MARTINA."

Indeed, you do need advice! The first advice you need is to stop drinking. Follow that advice before you attempt anything else.

Where Is the Boss?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young girl working in an office and there is a young man in the same office who comes around my desk often, and every time he gets a chance he asks me to kiss him. Now I don't know what kind of a fellow he is, as I have never been out with him, but he has got me kind of nervous by always saying that, thinking that he might care for me. Do you think it is advisable for me to kiss him. MABEL."

Keep away from him, Mabel. He is no one to go about with. He's only making fun of you. Tell him in a serious way that you are tired of his nonsense and won't put up with it a minute longer.

She Can't Decide.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young woman employed in a business office. There are two men in the same office with me for whom I care a great deal. One is a man some years older than myself and well fixed financially. The other is about my own age, good looking, but not so well fixed financially. Neither of these gentlemen has made any advances, but I want to choose rightly when the time comes. I know the older loves me dearly, as we are always together during our spare moments during the day. He is not as effusive as the other gentleman, but I know would make a true and loving husband. Now, my dear Miss Libbey, I ask your superior advice as to which of these young gentlemen I should choose.

"LILLIAN V. C."

I can't tell you, Lillian; you will have to settle the matter for yourself. I would suggest, however, that you marry the one you love the better.

Green Beans.

ANY green vegetable is improved about 100 per cent if when it is half done a piece of butter is added to the salted water in which it is cooked. This is especially true in case of string beans. They are thus prepared through and through for a dressing of butter simply, and are quite immeasurably more delicious than when no butter is used until after they have been cooked and drained.

Green beans fresh from the vines do not need this butter so much as do those of the market variety, but the latter, especially if they are not of the noblest genus for eating, call loudly for just this treatment.

Our grandmothers recognized this need of the beans for a flavoring of fat when they added to the pot, as they nearly always did, a piece of pork. But unless the pork was very thoroughly cleaned and made as dainty as possible the beans had a coarse flavor when so cooked. Such a flavor might satisfy the palate of an out of door man, but the most of us—city livers and sedentary workers—need today to have food of the most tempting æsthetic qualities to call out that digestive energy which in some measure takes the place of the hunger stimulus.

One of the most famous of the old French cooks is always directing, "Cook them green," in telling how to cook vegetables of green color. The beans in particular, as well as the asparagus, is more attractive if its green is not deadened, but rather enhanced. The butter seems to make the green greener.

The principle back of this use of butter is very much the same as applicable in the case of butter sauces, where a little butter is thoroughly cooked into the sauce with the thickening and the rest is stirred in when the sauce is taken from the stove. For the perfect sauce the butter must be used in both these ways.

The green bean is with us the year around, but its real season begins about July 1. It is then that we have the fresher home grown product in our markets, and can then enjoy this vegetable at its best.

The green bean may not seem to us as incomparably fine for salads as the asparagus, but it can be made rarely good, although no really delightful vegetable is so abused, so parodied, so humbled, by unfair treatement as the green bean.

The Italians call string beans French beans, and the French call them haricots. An Englishman comparing it with the broad bean of his island says that the kidney, "or as the idiotic French call it, the haricot bean," is a much more graceful vegetable. After telling of its special value with venison, he says: "Few people in Europe besides Frenchmen and convicts eat the dried seeds of this form of bean. . . . It it criminal to smother the kidney bean with melted butter at table. A little oil, vinegar, and pepper agree with it much better. In the great continent of America the kidney bean seed, dried, is freely partaken of."

String Bean Salad I.—Put a quart of beans into boiling salted water, cook, drain, and cool. Serve with a dressing of salt, pepper, vinegar, oil, and a little chopped onion, celery, or green pepper if you have it.—Anna M. Andrews, 649 East Forty-ninth street.

String Bean Salad II.—Pour over cooked beans a dressing of one-half teaspoon salt, a few grains of cayenne, two tablespoons vinegar, three tablespoons olive oil, or melted butter thoroughly beaten.—Miss Clara M. Ziesel, Elkhart, Ind.

Kidney Beans—Soak 5 cents' worth of kidney beans in cold water over night. Boil in salt water until tender. Add salt and pepper to taste and thicken with a teaspoon of butter and a tablespoon of flour which has been rubbed to a paste.—Mrs. M. I. Cohen, 4830 Calumet avenue.

Beefsteak en Casserole.—One and one-half pounds of round steak an inch thick and cut in three inch squares. Rub a hot pan with suet or good sweet drippings. Roll steak in flour, sear lightly on both sides to harden surface and retain juices. Place in casserole with one pint of boiling water, cover, and cook in moderate oven one hour, then season with salt and pepper. Add more water if necessary and return to oven for twenty minutes longer. Serve in casserole.—Mrs. Morton Sieg, Oak Park, Ill.

WITHDRAW PARKS FROM 4TH PLANS

President Kolacek of West Commission Rules Against 3 Night Celebrations.

WOULD SPOIL THE GRASS.

No Change to Be Made in Arrangements for Programs at Other Locations.

An eleventh hour effort at protection of the grass and shrubbery in Garfield, Douglas, and Humboldt parks has proved an obstacle to the plans of the Sane Fourth association.

According to an order of President William Kolacek of the west park board yesterday the health and beauty of the green grass and luxuriant foliage of the parks are more to be fostered than the more ephemeral Independence day celebrations.

As a consequence the elaborate evening programs prepared for the three west side parks have been thrown into the discard and the solitary beauty of the parks themselves will prevail alone on the evening of the Fourth.

No Change at Other Parks.

At the other parks, however, green grass and beautiful shrubbery will play but a small part in the affairs of the evening. On the south side the historical pageants at Washington and Jackson parks will hold the center of the stage in point of elaborate preparation.

Irish girls of Chicago have entered into the celebration plans of the Irish section of the Sane Fourth association with enthusiasm.

Their keen interest in the plans for observance of the occasion throughout the entire city indicates that the Irish American contingent will represent one of the most brilliant features of the day.

Programs for All Day.

Many of the most prominent Irish women of the city have expressed a desire to extend the Irish representation throughout the entire day, and to that end have organized in an effective auxiliary to the regular Irish-American section of the Sane Fourth association.

Of the younger women who have combined through the medium of the ladies' auxiliary to make the celebration of the Irish-Americans stand out above all others, an executive committee composed of the Misses Margaret Reidy, Evelyn McCarthy, Mae Coyne, Kathryn L. Murphy, and Grace McDonough have gone over practically the entire city in securing neighborhood locations for the extensive programs arranged by the Irish section.

Will Act as Patronesses.

These women and half a hundred other girl representatives of the Emerald Isle will act as patronesses of the numerous events in the city.

Club women of the city have played no small part in the organization plans for the celebration. Headed by Mrs. L. J. Reilly and Mrs. John MacMahon, present and former president of the Catholic Woman's league, Irish women, through the influence of their organizations, have proven invaluable aids to President John P. McGoorty and the officers of the Irish section of the Sane Fourth association.

BIRD KNOCKS OUT MILLIONAIRE.

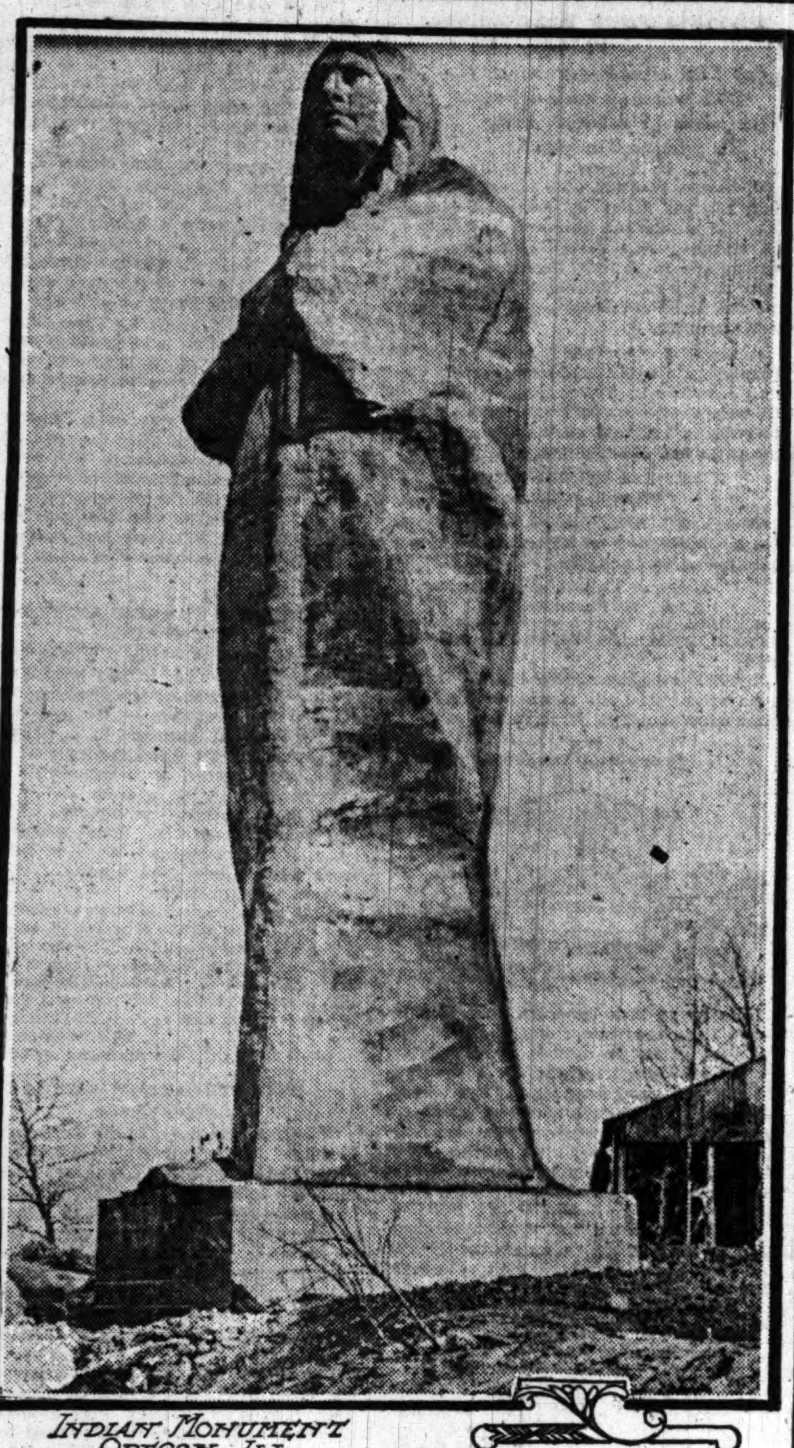
Wife Saves Autoist from Smashup When They Motor Into Flock—Warbler Dead.

San Diego, Cal., June 20.—[Special.]—While motoring through Balboa park this afternoon, accompanied by his wife, Fred Tompkins, a Pasadena millionaire, was struck on the forehead by a blackbird and rendered unconscious.

Going at a good rate of speed, the couple ran into a flock of birds, one of which struck Tompkins. The bird was killed.

Tompkins, who was at the wheel, fell against his wife's shoulder. Mrs. Tompkins reached over, took the wheel, shut off the power, and applied the brakes, avoiding a smashup. Tompkins revived in about five minues. He has a gash in his forehead where the beak of the bird struck.

Huge Statue of Black Hawk to Be Unveiled Today Near Oregon, Ill.



INDIAN MONUMENT OREGON, ILL.

BLACK HAWK'S RETURN.

[Suggested by Lorado Taft's Indian monument, to be unveiled July 1, 1911, at Eagle's Nest Camp, Oregon, Ill.]

BY HORACE SPENCER FISKE.

> There is no place like that where the bones of our forefathers lie. . . . Here the Great Spirit will take pity on us.—Autobiography of Black Hawk (1833).

To see once more the valley that we loved—
The Sinnissippi shining in the sun,
The leafy isles aslumber on its breast,
And headlands lifting bold their guardian fronts;
To catch again the corn leaves' tremulous sigh
As wandering winds touch soft their waiting lines,
And hear among the treetops near the sky
The whispers of the night's mysterious life—
This is our hoped for peace and this, in truth,
Our cherished heaven. Buried the tomahawk,
The scalping knife is rust, nor hisses more
The bullet's treacherous song.
No longer driven from our home lands sweet,
We stay in peace where our great forebears rest—
Watching the seasons in their mighty rounds,
Drinking the sunsets from the stream and sky,
And feeling oft the influence of that Power
Whose life is breathed through all created things,
Making our own immortal.

Lorado Taft's statue of Black Hawk, the Indian chief whose name cuts a large figure in Illinois history, will be unveiled at Oregon, Ill., this afternoon. The statue, which is of mammoth proportions, stands on Eagle Nest bluff, above Oregon. The bluff is 200 feet high and overlooks the Rock river. The big Indian figure is visible for several miles.

NOISY PEDDLERS MUST STOP YELLS

Corporation Counsel Rules the Council Cannot Grant Permit to Cry Wares.

END OF STUBBORN FIGHT.

Proposed Amendment to Aid Hucksters Declared Unconstitutional.

Peddlers, although licensed by the city to travel about the streets, have no more right to shout their wares than the proprietor of a grocery store has to howl his goods in front of his place of business, or the owner of a hardware shop to call attention to his place by the ringing of a fire gong.

This, in effect, is the substance of an opinion of the city law department declaring invalid the long contested amendment to the antinoise ordinance aimed to exempt licensed peddlers from the provisions of the law. To permit the hucksters to engage in vocal advertising while forbidding other noises would constitute class legislation that would be held invalid by the courts.

The opinion will go to the council committee on judiciary next week and probably will spell the final defeat of the peddlers, as no one has suggested that the entire ordinance be repealed. To do so would be to permit the use of bells, gongs, whistles, rattles, and all other noise making devices that any vender might desire to use, and almost the entire council, it is predicted, would balk at such a step.

The opinion was prepared by John W. Beckwith, assistant corporation counsel, and was approved by Corporation Counsel Sexton.

POLICE SEEK BOMB THROWERS

KEEPS HIS FACTS SECRET.

Says He Expects to Clear Up Conduit Explosions Mystery.

Twelve men whom the police suspect of having blown up six conduits of the Commonwealth-Edison company with dynamite bombs are being sought by detectives from Inspector Nicholas Hunt's office. The sleuths are armed with warrants sworn out by order of Inspector Hunt as the result of his investigation into the latest series of labor bomb outrages.

Malicious mischief is the charge set forth in the warrants, which were obtained after the police official had had a lengthy conference with State's Attorney John E. W. Wayman, in which he was given legal advice as to the proper method of procedure in bringing the offenders to justice.

Witnesses in Secret Meeting.

Another conference, which is said to have resulted in the furnishing of several names of suspected bomb throwers to the police, was held in Assistant Chief Schuettler's office in the city hall. Inspector Hunt and the assistant chief interviewed a number of men, whose names were withheld. This conference, in fact, was remarkably secret, the strangers being ushered into Schuettler's office by Detective Crandall through a rear door.

Guard Against All Errors.

The warrants were issued to Detectives Findlay and Crandall at the Harrison street court. Inspector Hunt said he had instructed them how to get the warrants so as to avoid any slips or technicalities after service. The inspector also admitted that several of the warrants were for "John Doe," but said that others were issued in the proper names and aliases of the men wanted.

Baby Falls Three Stories; May die.

Roy Pricket, 4 years old, rolled off an unprotected porch and fell three stories at the rear of 165 West Superior street yesterday afternoon, suffering internal injuries and a fractured skull. He is said to have little chance of recovery.

Candy So Pure You Can Feed it to Babies

Little children require the energy that sugar gives—they need a little candy just the same as they do milk. Impure or rich candy is harmful, but a little pure stick candy occasionally gives strength and robustness to growing children. For the child's sake, try a package of

Woodward's

Pure Sugar Stick Candy

It's not like other candies. It contains no glucose—no adulterations—no poisonous colorings—nothing but the finest grade of sugar.

Made only under sanitary conditions, each individual stick carefully wrapped in paraffine paper, then packed in sealed cartons. It's never exposed to dust, flies, germs or human hands. It's as pure and wholesome as childhood, and reaches you in perfect condition. Each package contains an assortment of flavors—peppermint, cinnamon, etc.

Children like it—so do grown-ups! It's the good, old-fashioned kind that everybody likes and never tires of.

Every up-to-date grocer and confectioner sells it. Be sure to look for the name Woodward's on each stick and package.

Hires

America's healthiest, most refreshing and invigorating drink.

Contains Nature's bracing virtues, the flavor and scent of roots and herbs, the fragrance of shrubs and flowers.

At any Soda Fountain. You need not say "Rootbeer." Just say "Hires."

THE DISCOVERY OF A NATIONAL DRINK

Hires Rootbeer the Result of Careful Scientific Inquiry.

Thousands upon thousands of chemists have experimented in past years to discover a drink which would combine pleasant flavor with health-giving properties. This presented a very difficult problem.

In some cases, chemists combined essential oils that produced delightful aroma and flavor, but which afterwards caused irritation to the stomach, disarranged the system and even changed the blood corpuscles. Others have made drinks of alkalies and acids flavored by gums and synthetic flavors. These, while delightful to the taste, proved injurious to the health.

Again sedatives and narcotics were used which caused a soothing effect on nerve and brain. It was found that these made slaves of men.

Hires Rootbeer solved the problem. It was worked out after a careful study of the medicinal properties and chemical action of the different ingredients. It is made of Sarsaparilla, Juniper Berries, Hops, Spikenard, Teaberry Leaves, Ginger, Sassafras.

No matter how much Hires is taken into the system, it can have only beneficial results. Its properties are never antagonistic to nature.

It is perhaps longer and more favorably known by physicians than any other temperance drink.

A LOST COMPENSATION.

Mr. Frederick L. Horton, writing to THE TRIBUNE, directs public attention to a calamitous condition of things. Bounteous offerings of cherries hang neglected on the trees, the farmers not finding it profitable to gather them at the price quoted. Thus are cherry pies lost to humanity.

A more unjust state of affairs would be hard to imagine. A cherry pie is one of nature's compensations for summer, and a consumer who sits down to give his close attention to it is able to forget or forgive the condition of things revealed by the thermometer, but the cherries, whose good red juices ought to be struggling for escape from the restraint of dough in which the housewife's skill has imprisoned them, hang as feasts for the robins.

This may meet the bird notion of a perfect method of disposing of a perfect fruit, but from the viewpoint of the unfeathered bipeds of city life it is a plain case of a lost blessing. No doubt the happy humans who live on the farms are gorging themselves with gushing pie, but city folk may only lament.

THE FARMERS AND RECIPROCITY.

To learn what the farmers think of reciprocity with Canada one should go among them and talk to them. That is what President Wheeler of the University of California has done. He has taken a trip of several thousand miles along the northern boundary of the United States. He discussed reciprocity with the men he met and was surprised to learn how slight was the opposition to it. The farmers to whom he talked while journeying through extensive agricultural regions were for it. The conclusion he reached was that "the lumber interests are the only ones actually organized in opposition to reciprocity.

One can easily believe that. The lumber interests fought to the best of their ability the reduced lumber duty of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act. They are against reciprocity because it would give the farmers cheaper lumber. They would not make so much money out of the men whose friends they pretend to be.

President Wheeler went among the farmers without prejudice or bias. His report of their state of mind is far more trustworthy than the reports of senators who are making anti-reciprocity speeches. They say that the prairies are aflame with indignation. President Wheeler saw no signs of any conflagration. He says opposition to reciprocity "has no formulated shape among the farmers."

The anti-reciprocity senators had better go home and talk the matter over with their constituents. They would return to Washington in a less belligerent mood.

THE "L" MERGER.

The merger of the elevated roads has been perfected. The financial men have managed the matter satisfactorily to themselves and to the stockholders of the respective roads. Now the public is waiting to see what it is to get out of the merger in the way of better service. The substitution of new bonds for old ones and of "participation shares" for shares of stock does not interest the patrons of the roads.

They look to the new management, controlling all the roads, to make the improvements in methods of operation which were not feasible while the lines were independent. They anticipate through routing, a less congested loop, and the single fare. They expect to see the surface tracks of the Oak Park "L," notorious for many casualties, elevated at last. They have strong hopes of extensions which are needed, and which would be profitable.

While the public is reaping the benefits of the merger the financial interests can at their leisure consider the greater question of a consolidation of the surface and elevated lines. It is a complicated question which capitalists alone cannot decide. The surface and elevated roads are largely competitors. The municipality has a direct pecuniary interest in the business of the surface but not of the elevated roads. The former are great money earners; the latter have not been.

Yet the transportation system of the city should be unified and will be ultimately. The best results for the public would be had if the long haul, rapid transit business were turned over as far as possible to the "L" roads and the short haul traffic were turned over to the surface lines. It should be so that a man who had come on the street car from Eighty-ninth to Sixty-third street could have a transfer to the Alley "L" and make quick time downtown. Those using crosstown lines in different parts of the city could get downtown more quickly if they could shift to an elevated road.

The elevated roads would at this moment object to an arrangement which would give them the less profitable class of business. Consolidation would remove that objection. Each line could be operated with an exclusive eye to the public convenience.

These are questions of the future. The question of the present is: What are the merged elevated roads going to do for their patrons and how soon will they do it?

SOWING THE WIND.

The remarkable incident in our political history which has masqueraded as a special session of the Illinois legislature offers to the people of the state a striking lesson.

A bill was presented at the instance of the chief executive of the state. It was a bill to put into effect not only a party pledge but a constitutional provision passed by the largest vote ever cast for a constitutional amendment in Illinois. It involved a question debated before the people for years, of great moment, involving great interests and greater principles.

A minority was opposed to this bill; a minority was opposed to any fair consideration or legislation on the question involved; a minority and the speaker.

The special session became anarchic chaos. The speaker rode down opposition regardless of parliamentary or any other law. A body elected, sworn, and paid to deliberate honestly turned itself into a pandemonium.

If this is representative government it is high time to adopt another form.

So far as are concerned the members of the house and the speaker of the house who disregarded their duties and joined in lawless tactics to defeat not merely legislation but even responsible consideration, THE TRIBUNE leaves them to their constituents.

But there is another factor of this disgraceful situation, the most important factor, the influences which, moving under the surface of this legislative fiasco, were primarily, not to say exclusively, responsible for it.

To these influences THE TRIBUNE addresses a few remarks. The gist of what it has to say is expressed in the title of this editorial. Wherever we look in America today we see a rising tide of popular feeling against organized wealth. Thus far that feeling has been moderate as such feelings go. Yet moderate as it has been, it has called forth the alarmed protest of conservatism, of men of property, of corporation officials. Solemn warnings are uttered at banquets and conventions against tampering with the sacred handiwork of the fathers, against interfering with business, against encouraging the demagogue, against radical legislation.

THE TRIBUNE invites the attention of the class which gives vent to such protests and which has, indeed, most to lose by social and political upheavals, to the special session of the legislature of Illinois, to the senate investigation of Mr. William Lorimer, to evidences malodorous and unmistakable in many places in this republic, that politics and a certain kind of business are interwoven in an alliance which strangles representative government.

It is nonsense to talk of the dangers of a direct resort to the people in the election of senators and in the passage of vital legislation when we have such an insolent distortion of the representative system before us. Lorimerism has almost destroyed decent politics in this state—Lorimerism, the alliance of big business, greedy for privilege, and grafting politics.

This alliance will not be tolerated by the American people. But unless the managers and directors of great corporations and business interests realize this and fill up their subterranean connections with the political machinery, they will find themselves confronted with corrective measures not at all to their liking. And they will not find that the people will be frightened out of drastic measures by appeals to academic doctrines, however venerable.

THE OVERWORKED HOUSEWIFE.

The bitter cry of the overworked Chicago housewife is heard. She asks why the lawmakers who have given other women the ten hour day, cannot give it to her also. Her life is one round of dreary drudgery. Her day's work begins before the summer sun rises and does not end until long after it sets. She cooks, sews, scrubs, darns, mends, scours, and minds the children. One laborious duty treads on the heels of another. There is no time for rest or recreation—nothing but "work, work, work."

The husband comes home when his few hours of toil are over. He has had his lunch hour. He has stopped on the street corners to chat with friends. He may have slipped off to see the end of a ball game. But he says he has had an exhausting day, is tired out, and should not be asked to do anything about the house. He says that he has been out in the heat or the cold slaving for her, while she has been attending to her light, congenial domestic duties.

There are some things the aggrieved housewife overlooks. The work of some of the women who are protected by the ten hour law is more monotonous and wearying than hers. If she had to paste labels on cans at lightning speed she might prefer the diversity of household work. Though the husband's work may take less time than hers, it may be more intense. He may in reality be more fagged out than she is. Household work can be scamped a little every now and then and the consequences are not so serious as when the girl in the factory or the man in the office tries it on.

But the fact remains that men usually fail to appreciate the quantity of never ending work the housewife does. He does not understand that she is bothered with a conscience which does not permit her to shirk. Everything must be done, and it must be done just so, in accordance with the venerable rules which her mother has passed down to her. The husband in his ignorance thinks she makes her work harder than it need be.

After listening to the plaint of the housewife one wonders that so many women are willing to get married. Perhaps there would be more marriages and more happy homes if the legislature were to pass a ten hour law for housewives. It may when legislators are emancipated from some old wild notions about the simplicity and lightness of domestic work—"something any man could do in a jiffy, you know, if he only put his hand to it."

MR. HINES EMBARRASSES HIMSELF.

Mr. Edward Hines, testifying before the senate subcommittee, said that Mr. Clarence S. Funk had been an enemy of William Lorimer, and that his antagonism had been such that Mr. Lorimer wished to be excused from the embarrassment of meeting Mr. Funk personally.

Mr. Funk, in Mr. Hines' narrative, was recorded as seeking an introduction and Mr. Lorimer as consenting to it reluctantly, and only because Mr. Hines had promised that he would bring about a meeting of the two.

For business and personal reasons, so said Mr. Hines, Mr. Funk and the corporation of which he is general manager were hostile to Mr. Lorimer, and in that hostility, it was intimated, the senators might find a motive for Mr. Funk's story of the request for $10,000.

This part of Mr. Hines' testimony should be kept in mind. Several hours after he had described the long and bitter hostility of Mr. Funk the witness related another incident. He said that Mr. Funk sought him out in the Union League club, suggested that Mr. Lorimer had been under heavy expense in securing his election to the United States senate, and that he should not be allowed to stand it alone. Mr. Funk, according to Mr. Hines, expressed his desire to be allowed to contribute on behalf of his corporation to this fund.

Mr. Hines may not have considered his two statements carefully. A bitter enemy of Mr. Lorimer—one who would not hesitate to make use of such a story as he told the investigators—was so much interested in Mr. Lorimer's election that he wished to bear part of whatever expense might have been incurred.

Of course, all this is subject to one sort of explanation or other. One sort of explanation or other probably will be made, but persons who are mystified by the conflicting testimony at Washington are likely to examine the explanations carefully.

Perjury is being committed at Washington, in the opinion of Senator Kenyon. It is for the investigating committee to determine who the perjurers are.

GOVERNMENT BY GAVEL.

An aggregation of shallow pated presiding officers have presented themselves to the disgusted view of the people of this state—Bartzen, Adkins, and now Smyth of the sanitary district. Gaveling down majorities is not always successful and in the long run when successful it has proved costly to the would-be autocrats. But these recent displays are instructive symptoms of the demoralized political condition of Illinois. The great state of Lincoln needs a strong purgation.

IT is painfully evident that Mr. Hines' memory needs scouring up.

AT the present stage of the fight it must be conceded that the third floor has the bulge on the second.

WE trust that Mr. Smejkal—pronounced Smykal—feels quite sure he has earned the salary the state of Illinois is paying him.

The editor pressed a button. Instantly the combined blasts of a dozen powerful electric fans struck the man and blew him out of the building.

[Copyright: 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

WHILE there have been several instances of mysterious disappearances of princes of the blood, among the most recent being those of Archduke John of Austria, who, missing for twenty years, has just been officially declared dead, and the late Landgrave of Hesse, who vanished from his cabin during a voyage from Java to Singapore, in the most inexplicable manner, there is, curiously enough, only one case in all the long history of monarchy of a full fledged king disappearing in this fashion—namely: Dom Sebastian, ruler of Portugal, who was no more seen by his people after the battle of Alcazarquivir in Morocco on Aug. 4, 1578. No trace of his body could be found on the battlefield, and all researches by those who believed that he had been carried off into Moorish captivity were in vain.

Twenty years later—that is to say, in the fall of 1598—a man appeared at Venice who was recognized by several Portuguese there as the missing King Sebastian. They followed him to Padua. But the republic of Venice, at the instance of the Spanish ambassador, whose sovereign had taken advantage of Dom Sebastian's disappearance to obtain possession of Portugal, demanded that the stranger quit Venetian territory, and when he refused to obey he was cast into prison. In course of time he was placed on trial, and his answers were of so convincing a character that the Venetians sent two of their most distinguished lawyers to Lisbon to communicate there the result of their investigation, and to bring back to Venice Portuguese of rank and note who had been personally acquainted with Dom Sebastian and would be in a position to establish his identity.

Five leading Portuguese statesmen and nobles and also an eminent Portuguese prelate were designated for this purpose. On their arrival at Venice they at once recognized him as the missing king. The resemblance was perfect, and if any doubts had remained they would have been set at rest by the scar of the wound which he had over the right eyebrow, by the other deep scar which he had of a sword wound on the head, by the phenomenal superiority of the length of his right hand to that of the left, by a missing tooth of the lower jaw, all the remaining teeth being perfect, and by the thick lower lip peculiar to the Hapsburgs.

So conclusive was the evidence that the Venetian government found no alternative but to set at liberty Dom Sebastian, who explained that he had been taken prisoner at the battle of Alcazarquivir, that he had long been detained in captivity and treated as a slave by natives apparently ignorant of his rank, and that after a number of years he had succeeded in effecting his escape and, wandering along the north coast of Africa, had eventually reached Sicily and thence Venice.

After being released by the Venetians he made his way with a number of his Portuguese followers to Florence, where he was again arrested, this time by the Grand Duke of Tuscany, who in deference to urgent requests from Philip II. of Spain turned him over to the Spanish viceroy of Naples. The latter, a Count Larmos, had him imprisoned for a time in the Castell del l'Ovo and has left documentary evidence to show that he himself had become convinced from his conversations with his captive that he was really the missing king of Portugal.

Some time afterwards, in obedience to peremptory instructions from Madrid, he embarked Dom Sebastian, under a strong guard, on board a warship bound from Naples to Barcelona. The ship never reached its destination. It vanished en route as mysteriously as the Santa Margherita of Archduke John of Austria twenty years ago while on its way around Cape Horn from Montevideo to Valparaiso, and, as in the later instance, no trace was ever found afterwards of its officers, its crew, of the troops on board, or of its distinguished prisoner, King Sebastian of Portugal, whose romantic history has furnished the theme of a number of poems, novels, and plays, notably by Dryden.

It is a wonder that the late King Leopold of Belgium did not disappear in the same fashion instead of dying unromantically at Laeken, near Brussels, the closing days of his reign being disgraced by the most sordid and unsavory scandals. These scandals blinded people at home and abroad to his good qualities, and, above all, to the benefits that he had conferred upon his country, and it would have been far better for his reputation had he never returned from one of those foolhardy expeditions which he was wont to take into the interior of Morocco.

Leopold would land from his yacht on some point of the Moorish coast, and, accompanied by only three or four companions, would be lost, not merely for days, but in some instances for weeks together in the interior, and the officers of the yacht, aware of the lawlessness prevailing in Morocco, never knew, when the king left them, whether they were ever going to see him again! For then, as today, people in the interior of Morocco were mainly engaged in brigandage, and the population of the coast in piracy.

On one occasion Leopold was missing for several weeks together, during the course of which a ministerial crisis broke out at Brussels, and it was not until eighteen days after the cabinet had announced its decision to resign that they were able to get into touch with the king in order to induce him to return to his capital to accept their portfolios and to appoint their successors.

King Richard of England, Cœur de Lion, was lost in Austria for a number of years on his way home from the Holy Land, the castle in which he was held in secret captivity by Duke Leopold of Austria, with whom he had quarreled in Palestine, being finally discovered by Richard's celebrated troubadour, Blondel, whereupon the Duke was forced by the German emperor to restore Richard to liberty and to allow him to proceed on his way to England.

Princess Clothilde's death at Moncalieri serves to recall the contrast between her own departure from Paris and that of Empress Eugenie, on the day of the proclamation of the republic in September, 1870, after the arrival of the news of the disaster to French arms at Sedan. Whereas Eugenie fled secretly, disguised, fearing the fate of Queen Marie Antoinette, her escape being managed by her American dentist, the late Dr. Thomas Evans, Clothilde, when she learned of the downfall of the empire, ordered out her state carriage with its four horses, postilions, and outriders, and, accompanied by her daughter and her two boys, none of them over 10 years of age, she drove in this open equipage through the streets of Paris to the terminus of the Lyons railroad at the other end of the metropolis, traversing on her way the St. Antoine quarter, densely populated by the working classes, and always renowned for its hostility to the imperial régime.

There, however, as everywhere else where she passed, heads were bared and handkerchiefs fluttered in token of regret at her departure and of sympathy. For it was known far and wide that she was in nowise identified with the frivolities and vulgar gayeties of the court of the Tuileries, but that she was a woman of the most blameless life, who had devoted herself throughout her then eleven years of unhappy married life entirely to her children and to unostentatious works of charity.

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

MAY SINK A NEW WELL.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—For some reason or other the well in Washington park at Fifty-first street and St. Lawrence avenue has failed. The little house containing the gas engine which pumped the water has been torn down. Many hundreds of people resort to this corner of the park to drink and carry away the well water, and many old men and women find the seats there a meeting place to visit and spend a few hours.

As far as the writer knows there is no attempt on the part of the park authorities to repair this break or stoppage. In my judgment the absence of the mineral water at this point is a great personal loss to hundreds of people, and steps should be taken at once to restore or install this pump again.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

This well has given out and the restoration is not practicable. Inasmuch, however, as the south park commissioners have received several petitions on the matter, the cost of sinking a new well in this locality is being investigated and will in all probability be passed on by the commissioners at an early date.

PLUMBERS' STRIKE AFFECTS FOUNTAIN.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish to call your attention to the condition of the drinking fountain at the intersection of Halsted street and Blue Island avenue. It is battered and broken, all the pipes are exposed and rusted, and instead of being useful and ornamental it is an eyesore and a disgrace to a civilized community. I am surprised that the Hull house people do not take the matter up, as it is within two blocks of them, and a number of the workers pass it daily.

RAY WIRE.

I wish to say that the fountain in question is under the control of the Women's Outdoor Art league, whose representatives some time ago reported that, owing to the plumbers being on strike, they were unable to have started the repairs that were contemplated, but that such repairs would be started just as soon as they could arrange for them.

W. J. McCOURT,
Superintendent of Water.

PRIVATE ALLEY NEEDS REPAIRING.

Chicago, June 29.—[To the Friend of the People.]—At the rear of the northwest corner of Lake avenue and East Forty-seventh street is a private alley opening on Lake avenue, which at present is so full of holes that a team pulling an ordinary load can hardly get through. Coal and other heavily laden wagons almost invariably "get stuck," and then the brutality and abuse the poor horses are subjected to is pitiful to behold, to say nothing of the vile, indecent language used by the drivers.

If the owner would repair this driveway any sized load could be hauled through it without difficulty. Cannot the proper authorities compel him to put it in good condition, and by so doing stop this brutal treatment of horse flesh?

DAILY OBSERVER.

The alley has been paved with cement and is at present in bad condition. There are ten deep holes in it and it needs repairing. It is a private alley owned by John Hamilton, 6216 Kimbark avenue. W. D. Higgins, agent for Mr. Hamilton, says he will speak to him and try to have him repair the alley.

FRONTAGE CONSENT FOR STEAM LAUNDRY.

Chicago, June 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please inform me if a steam laundry can be erected in a residence district. Must they have the signatures of the property owners on both sides of the street? What can be done to prevent such a plant? M. M.

A steam laundry in a residence district must have the written consent of a majority of the property owners, according to frontage, on both sides of the street.

WANTS CELEBRATION IN UNION PARK.

Chicago, June 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The gentlemen composing the committee which selected the various parks for the "sane" celebration of July 4 have very little respect for that large population that circumscribes Union park, or they would have selected that park as one of the centers for a celebration on that day. Living, as I do, within a mile of that park, I emphatically protest against the "slight" administered that portion of our population from Ashland avenue to Western and from Twelfth street to Lake who could have attended festivities in Union park, but who by the action of the committee are shut out from attending any park, because the population circumscribing the other parks will fill them, and those of us living in the territory mentioned above and denied a celebration will have to remain home, convinced of the fact that the people from Ashland avenue to Western and from Lake to Twelfth are without influence and undeserving of any of the pleasures a "sane" Fourth of July affords.

It was ever thus; the great west side always is and always was ignored by the city and county corporations when selecting sites for public buildings; they look upon our section as the dumping ground; that is why we have been generously given the "morgue," the "dog pound," and the "pest house" as our portion of public buildings. This same spirit must have actuated the committee selecting the several parks for exercises on July 4 when they ignored Union park. Will you, as the friend of the people, please obtain a reason why Union park has been left off the program, or can you cause reparation at this late hour to be made by the committee designating Union park as one of the places for exercises? The Fourteenth, Eighteenth, and Twentieth wards circumscribe this park. Are the aldermen of these three wards so forgetful of the duty they owe their constituents as to be unable to right the wrong thus inflicted, or will Ald. Lawley, Lucas, Brennan, Healy, Murray, and Stewart please tell their constituents the cause of this slight? An explanation from these aldermen will certainly prove interesting.

M. J. MALONEY.

A MANUFACTURER'S RUSE.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am inclosing herewith circular which was sent to us, and you will readily see that it is worded to lead owners of automobiles to believe that an ordinance has been drafted by the city wherein one has to purchase lamps from this particular concern. Upon receipt of the circular the writer inquired at the city hall and found out this was a ruse of the manufacturer. C. GLUCK.

The circular in question is, as the correspondent says, a ruse of the manufacturer, but we do not imagine any one intelligent enough to run an automobile will be taken in by it.

"THE FRIEND" BRINGS RESULTS.

Chicago, June 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—You returned my letter of June 20 and inclosed letter from George A. Mugler, secretary, West Chicago park commissioners, which I am reinclosing, as you will doubtless want this for your files.

I want to thank you for the attention you gave this matter. I desire to mention that one of the offenders was before Judge Sabath two days ago and placed on a month's parole, with the understanding that if he did not obtain a position before the expiration of that time a six months' imprisonment would follow.

I want to thank you again, both for myself and for the balance of the tennis players, because I am sure that from now on conditions in this respect will be changed. D. F.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

THE VOICE FAKERS.

Chicago, June 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I beg to refer to the article "Scientific Voice Cultivation," and I absolutely agree with the lady writing and also with Mr. Gunn. Just as all doctors, all chauffeurs, all employment bureaus are supposed to have a license before they are allowed to practice, just as well it ought to be demanded by the law that all voice teachers ought to pass some examination. If you, Sir Editor, study your own W. G. N. Sunday paper, you will find more fake advertisements covering the voice department than you ever could dream of. It certainly would be beneficial to those that come to the great city to study to be able to get advice from a well known paper telling what teachers to approach.

I am not an American and have studied abroad, but also in this city with a man who absolutely knew his business. Yet, be this as it may, I have met more fakers than you can place hands on. I have been to people who are renowned in this city for their ability, I have spoken to them, told them of my studies, etc., and each one would pat me on the shoulder with that same pitiful smile, "Your voice may be all right, but you have not the right method, my method is what you want if you want to get along here in America. I am the man, you bet." This and many other incidents happened to me, who had sung before royalty abroad (of course I did not tell that part of my story) and had been always applauded. I met with so much fake, so much ignorance, so much arrogance, so much doing, that I decided it would be degrading to belong to the class known as "voice teachers" of Chicago. I packed my voice into a private box, there it lies until the day comes and I have made sufficient money to take it out again and use it before critics who know.

I could write books treating just this line, telling of the pitiful scenes, the broken hearts of young men and women that have not only lost their voices, but their health by these modern "American" singing methods. Something ought to be done and those teachers, few that are in this city, who really are respectable and no "fakers" ought to stand up in arms and quench the voice quacks.

CARMEN.

POSITION OF TRADES UNIONISTS.

Chicago, June 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I recently read a communication in your columns in praise of the anti-trades unionist. Your correspondent lauds the nonunion man as an "independent" in industry, as one who loves his employer, sets a good example of patriotism, and, above all, discourages that foreign, revolutionary thing called Socialism.

The writer referred to evidently ignores the fact that society as at present constituted is a complex affair in which the interest of one is bound up with the interest of all. "No man liveth unto himself." What is to be thought, then, of the man who, forgetful of all but his own momentary advantage, lends himself to those who seek to beat down his brother workmen to the bare level of subsistence? But what is the use of denying the fact that, despite the close association of man with man in our modern life, classes exist in society based upon the unscientific and unfraternal relations of the workers to each other and to the means of life?

What is socially (or collectively) produced is not yet socially (or collectively) owned. And how shall this unjust state of affairs be remedied if all those who toil do not realize the truth of the class struggle, its cause and cure? Let the workers proceed, legally if possible, to take over and own for the common good all the wealth their work creates. Here is a work that calls not for the Fourth of July brand of patriotism but for such genuine love of freedom and right as inspired the founders of this country.

Socialism may be a foreign importation; so is Christianity, for that matter. Perhaps it would do the American workingman no harm to look across the Atlantic and learn how in all the parliaments of Europe representatives of his class are voicing his wrongs and championing his cause in the teeth of his natural enemies, the emissaries of capitalism in these same legislative halls.

A. B. MACKINTOSH.

KILL UNMUZZLED DOGS.

Chicago, June 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is reported in the public press, emanating from the medical authorities, that an unusual percentage of infection with rabies has been discovered in the dogs of the city. Numerous daily reports of persons bitten by rabid dogs are recorded in the papers. One of my neighbors in a near-by suburb was severely bitten this week by his own "old and harmless" dog and is now fearfully swollen and apparently infected. It is only yesterday that in the heart of the city a man of the true mettle of heroism—self-sacrifice—saved two girls from the bites of a savage, frothing beast of a dog. The hospitals have more cases of incipient hydrophobia than ever before in the history of the city.

With all these warnings and examples there seems to be the old supine indifference to the enforcement of the law on the part of the public and of the officers whose duty it is to enforce same. Not only in the city but in all the surrounding suburbs dogs of all kinds, large and small, powerful brutes and little dirty curs, swarm unmuzzled and to a large extent unlicensed.

Let us arouse ourselves to the peril threatening all of us, and especially our children who are outdoors so constantly, and demand from owners that they obey the law, and from officers that they enforce it—so that many may be saved from a dreadful infection, possibly a terrible death, and at all events from suffering and financial loss.

Neighbors, throughout the city and suburbs, insist upon the dogs in your neighborhood being rendered harmless to your children. PUBLIC SAFETY.

"JNO. SMITH," TAX DODGER.

Chicago, June 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Speaking of tax dodgers, I am one of them, but I feel it my duty to protect myself when the government tries to rob me. I am past work, and by denying myself most of the pleasures of life during forty years of arduous work, have saved $20,000, which is invested in city of Chicago bonds paying scant 4 per cent, or $800, which, by good management and the utmost economy, supports my wife, my invalid daughter, and myself. If I scheduled the ownership of this little hoard the tax eaters would rob me under guise of law of $350 to $400 of my little income.

There are more ways than one to rob a man, and I claim, in hiding my ownership, I am taking the only means of defense the weak have against the strong.

Who are the loudest in denouncing the tax dodger? In my acquaintance it is those who never saved a dollar or paid a cent of taxes. For obvious reasons I do not sign my own name. JNO. SMITH.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE SPREADS RAPIDLY

Shipping from Most of Ports in United Kingdom Tied Up by Walkout.

ATTEMPT TO BURN SHIP.

Several Fires Found Aboard Arabic as It Lies in Dock at Liverpool.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 30.—Conditions surrounding the seamen's strike became more serious throughout the United Kingdom today and threaten to tie up most of the ocean traffic out of all ports.

All hope for peace seems to be lost. Even where the officers of the union have tried to treat with the officials of the various lines the men have broken from their control and announced they would not abide by the agreements made.

The employés of more lines are walking out and the owners are preparing to retaliate with lockouts. There was a meeting of steamship owners at Newcastle, after which it was said that steps were being taken by the shipping federation which might lead to a quarter of the unchartered tonnage of the world being laid up.

Three Fires Aboard Liner.

The most sensational incident of the day was the discovery of fires in three different places on board the White Star steamship Arabic, which is berthed at the Canada dock in Liverpool. The flames were first found in the bedding of a bunk in the third class section. This fire had hardly been quenched when another started in the second cabin. This was more difficult to handle, as a dense smoke was created.

But when the fire had been extinguished, the firemen found that they had another one to deal with. It was amidships in the fourth berth forward of the dining saloon. Tons of water were poured into the vessel and the fire seemed to be out when a blaze was discovered in the fifth stateroom, just forward of the other fire. This was quenched easily.

The police and the officers of the ship stopped the gangways and allowed no one to leave until the ship was searched from stem to stern.

Hull Strikers Refuse Terms.

The strikers at Hull are as irreconcilable as those at Liverpool. They spent several hours in reconferring, but it brought no pacification. George R. Askwith, the representative of the board of trade, told the men that the concessions offered would bring about a settlement that was good and might establish peace at Hull for many years. He was indorsed by the leaders, but the dockers did not think as they and loudly refused.

There has been no renewal of rioting in Hull. Five hundred London police arrived there today to strengthen the local constables, and this probably had much to do with the peaceful outlook.

MRS. JACK BARRYMORE TELLS OF HER PARENTS' TROUBLES.

Both She and Her Actor Husband Declare Her Aunt, Mrs. Harriman, Approved of Their Marriage.

New York, June 30.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barrymore, one seated on a barrel and the other on a packing box in their dismantled flat, told a reporter this afternoon of the troubles that for fifteen years have involved Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris, Mrs. Barrymore's parents.

They said Mrs. H. M. Harriman, Mrs. Harris' sister, approved the match and had them as her guests every week this spring in her home, 123 West Fifty-sixth street.

Both say Mrs. Harriman made it appear she had stopped her allowance to her sister so Mrs. Harris could swear she was without means of support in her suit for alimony.

"The statement that my mother was engaged to three different men after she had obtained her divorce is a wicked lie," said Mrs. Barrymore. "If Mr. Barrymore were the cause of this supposed family row, would it be likely that he and I should be guests at my aunt's house every week? Mr. and Mrs. Harriman have been dear to us!"

Fall from Horse Kills Chicagoan.

Miss Ethel Leonard

Miss Ethel Leonard, manager of the women's dress goods department at Marshall Field & Co.'s store, died Thursday night at the home of R. W. McClaughrey, warden of the federal penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kas. She was thrown by a horse on Thursday. Her body was shipped to her home in Joliet yesterday afternoon for burial. Miss Leonard was visiting the warden's family at the time of the accident.

DAUGHTER OF BANKER DROWNS AFTER BOAT MOTOR EXPLODES.

Miss Pauline Alexander Leaps Into Lake to Escape Flames and Dies Before Rescue Reaches Her.

Oconomowoc, Wis., June 30.—[Special.]—Miss Pauline Alexander of Milwaukee, daughter of L. M. Alexander, one of the wealthiest men in Wisconsin, drowned here tonight following the explosion of a power boat in which she and three others were riding.

The others were rescued by Malcolm Rogers of Chicago, who was on the lake in his sailboat.

Miss Alexander, her mother, her brother John, and Miss Fanny Jones of Milwaukee, a house guest, were in the motorboat. The explosion covered John Alexander with burning oil and set the boat afire. Alexander, with his clothing afire, leaped into the lake. An instant later his sister and the other two women followed. Miss Alexander was considered a good swimmer, but, impeded by her clothing, she was unable ot keep afloat until aid reached her. She was a student at the Miss Dennett school, near New York, and a talented musician. She was nearly 19 years old.

Her father is president of the Merchants and Manufacturers' bank in Milwaukee, but was formerly better known as a paper manufacturer, still retaining heavy paper mill interests in the north. He was president of the General Paper company, which was dissolved by the government a few years ago.

Miss Jones is the eldest daughter of W. L. Jones, president of the Milwaukee Mechanics' Insurance company.

THANKS OF KING GIVEN TO PEOPLE

HOST OF POOR CHILDREN.

Britain's Ruler Greets 100,000 Youths from Lower Classes of London.

LONDON, June 30.—King George tonight issued a message of thanks to his subjects throughout the empire for the loyalty expressed during the coronation. His majesty says it has encouraged him to go forward with the renewed hope that whatever perplexities or difficulties may arise he and his people shall unite in facing them, and that the ultimate outcome will be to the common good.

Text of the Message.

The message follows:

To My People: Now that the coronation and its attendant ceremonies are over, I desire to assure the people of the British empire of my grateful sense that their hearts have been with me through it all. I felt this in the beautiful and impressive service in the abbey—the most solemn experience of my life—and scarcely less in the stirring scenes of the succeeding days, when my people have signified their recognition and their heartfelt welcome of me as their sovereign, for this has been apparent not only in the loyal enthusiasm shown on our passage to and from Westminster, and in the progresses which we have made in the different districts of London, but also in the thousands of messages of good will which have come to me across seas from every part of the empire.

Such affectionate demonstrations have profoundly touched me, and have filled me afresh with faith and confidence.

Believing that this generous, outspoken sympathy with the queen and myself is, under God, our surest source of strength, I am encouraged to go forward with the renewed hope that, whatever perplexities or difficulties may be before me and my people, we shall all unite in facing them resolutely and calmly and with public spirit, confident that, under divine guidance the ultimate outcome will be to the comon good. GEORGE R. I.

Host of 100,000 Children.

Festivities in connection with the coronation of King George, so far as the metropolis is concerned, ended today with his majesty's treat at Crystal palace to 100,000 of London's poorest children.

The king and Queen Mary personally attended the festival. Their majesties walked among the little guests, who, in batches of 25,000, were formed up in the open spaces of Crystal palace grounds.

JUBILEE NOW FOR GIBBONS

Cardinal Completes Half Century in Catholic Priesthood.

OFFERS UP THANKFUL MASS.

Religious Celebration in His Honor to Be Held Next October.

Baltimore, Md., June 30.—In a little chapel in a residence where he is visiting, about fifty miles from Baltimore, Cardinal Gibbons this morning offered up a mass of thanksgiving.

Today he completes fifty years of a successful priesthood and twenty-five years as cardinal and nominal head of the Catholic church in the United States.

Honored Twice in Cathedral.

After finishing his education for the priesthood at St. Mary's seminary, he was ordained at the cathedral here on June 30, 1861, by Archbishop Kenrick. The red hat was conferred on him at the same cathedral on June 30, 1886.

At his ordination there were present in the edifice only a few relatives and friends, but when the cardinalate was conferred upon him, representatives of the government, hundreds of leading churchmen, and a throng of admirers and friends from this and other cities were present.

Religious Celebration Planned.

The cardinal arose today at his usual hour, 6 o'clock, and with a single assistant celebrated a low mass without any musical program and with only the members of the household attending.

Following the great nonsectarian demonstration here in the cardinal's honor on June 6 in which President Taft and other high government officials participated, the religious celebration will be held at the cathedral next October.

CITY MUST PAY $70,000 FOR TRACK ELEVATION DAMAGES.

Jury in Superior Court Awards Biggest Judgment of Kind in Suit Brought by Peter Schuttler Company.

A jury in the Superior court yesterday awarded the largest judgment ever returned against the city in a suit for damages resulting from track elevation.

In Judge McDonald's court the Peter Schuttler company was given a verdict for $70,000 as damages to its property at Twenty-second street and Campbell avenue, abutting on the tracks of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which were elevated in 1909. The judgment also was declared the largest awarded in any case in Cook county this year.

This case was one of those pending settlement when the Citizens' association criticised the method of the city council finance committee's entering into a stipulation with property owners holding track elevation damage claims.

SMYTH RESCINDS DISCHARGE ORDER

Sanitary District Head Reinstates 5 Employes; Stormy Session Forces Action.

LOSES FIGHT ON RECORD.

Secretary Enters All Details; Clark Charges Attempt to Return to Spoils System.

Thomas A. Smyth, president of the drainage board, yesterday rescinded in part his order for the wholesale discharge of employés of the sanitary district, which precipitated riotous discussion in the meeting of the trustees on Thursday. Those whom President Smyth now says are reinstated are W. F. Flight, E. A. Kemps, J. P. Gallager, Arthur Dechman, and Miss Clara Cox.

The order for the discharge of the employés was to take effect at midnight last night. Many of those affected by the order said yesterday that they would return to work this morning.

Enter Proceedings in Record.

Isaac J. Bryan, clerk of the drainage board, said the account of the meeting following the abandoning of the chair by President Smyth had been entered in full on the records. The resolution introduced by Trustee Healy, which provided that the chief of each department should be notified that the communication of the president ordering the discharge of thirty-seven employés had not been authorized, also was entered.

The insurgent members of the board who opposed the president's policy of discharging expert employés to make room for political jobholders still maintain that Mr. Smyth exceeded his authority. They further hold that the continuance of the meeting after President Smyth left the chair when he foresaw defeat was perfectly legal.

Clark Calls Move "Subterfuge."

Wallace G. Clark decried the whole attitude of the president.

"This whole fight for economy is but a subterfuge," he said. "The real object which is behind the attempt to discharge these men is to carry out the intention of the president that there shall be a trustee behind every employé of the district, which intention has been backed up by Trustees Sullivan and Hazard. It is an attempt to put the district under the old spoils system which was overthrown years ago and especially when the former board took hold and the merit system was established."

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cincinnati, O., June 30.—[Special.]—Frank Chance, the big bear of them all, threw doctor's advice to the winds and jumped into the fray today with marked effect. Not only did the Cubs put the air brakes on their slump, but they won the game from the Reds by the narrow margin of 3 to 2 in their old fashioned way and it put them in a tie for second place.

Grabbing a lead of one lap in the first round, Chance and his men hung on to it with grim determination until luck brought them the opportunity to strengthen their grip in the eighth inning. A slight slip of the spikes while the Reds were on the defense gave Chance's men the opening, and in a flash they improved it to the extent of two runs before the enemy could recover its footing.

That slip proved the turning point of the scrap, for in the last half of the same round Griffith's gang jumped on Mordecai Brown for two cleanly swatted tallies, which would have won the game but for the break in the home fences right ahead of them.

Chance Steadies Wabbly Crew.

The Reds made no more errors than did the Cubs and batted Brownie considerably harder than the visitors hit Bob Keefe, but the presence of the dauntless leader on first seemed to steady the whole team in the pinches and its defense strengthened every time runs threatened.

Twice Freestone Graham and Tinker staved off what looked like impending doom. Twice with men on second and first and not a soul out this pair caught Red runners napping off second base and threw the monkey wrench into Griffith's whole machine.

In the second inning Hoblitzel was the victim of the trick and there was a loud roar because he did not try to go to third when Graham pegged to second to head off his retreat. In the fourth round the same situation arose and Downey was the victim. Instead of trying to retreat Downey broke for third when trapped, only to find the ball there in Doyle's hands far ahead of him.

Graham's Work Prevents Runs.

Each of those traps saved a run at least, for the plays that followed would have pulled the Cub infield in close, and grounders which were cut off back of the base lines, as things turned out, would have been safe drives through a contracted infield.

Hofman went back into center field and did the little that came his way in his same old style, once going almost to the bleachers for a drive from Bescher's bat.

Chance did not get a hit in four times up, but he was not the only one. Schulte and Hofman did most of the hitting off Keefe, each of them getting a double and a single. Doyle made the only other safe hit for us.

Brown held the Reds runless for seven innings in spite of the fact five swats were made off him and two errors behind him. Not a man who faced him walked to first. In the eighth a single, triple, and single came off in rapid succession and threatened the lead of the Cubs, but, safely weathering that storm, Brown and his backers braced and presented a bombproof front in the ninth.

Early Start for Cubs.

The Cubs got to Keefe for one run in the opener. Sheckard whiffed, but Schulte peeled off a liner to left center for two cushions. Hofman sailed a lofty one over Bescher's head almost to the fence and made two bases on it, scoring the bridegroom. Chance's out by the ground route put Hofman on third, where Zimmerman's fly out left him. Brown disposed of three Reds in a row. With two out in the second spasm Graham drew a pass, but was forced at second by Brown.

In the home half the enemy started something, but clever work by Graham and Tinker stopped it. Hoblitzel opened with a single over Zim. Mitchell nearly knocked Brown's head off with a screamer to center. In this hole Grant missed an attempt to bunt, and Graham shot the ball to Tinker, catching Hoblitzel two yards off second base. Grant struck out and Egan grounded out.

It took some swell fielding to make a blank out of the third session. With two gone in the Cub half Bates ran over and pinched a liner from Hofman's bat. McLean opened the other half with a smash which Doyle knocked down, recovering in time to beat the slow freight to first. Chance blocked a nasty bounder from Keefe and Brown covered first in time to complete a brilliant out. Hofman went almost to the stand in deep center after Bescher's wallop.

Pull Brown Out of Hole.

Doyle got on in the fourth by singling after two were out. He tried to steal second, but was flagged for the third out. Graham and Tinker came to Brown's rescue again in the domestic portion of the round. Doyle's high throw gave Downey his life and Bates mauled a single to left before a man was out. Again a missed bunt gave Graham an opening and he caught Downey 'way off second. This time the runner broke for third but Tinker relayed the ball to Doyle for the out. Hoblitzel and Mitchell then grounded out harmlessly locking the gates.

Nobody lived long in the fifth. Schulte singled to right with one out in the sixth, but Hofman popped and Schulte was arrested in the act of stealing second. Two down in Cincinnati's half, Downey boomed a single over short, only to meet the same fate that Schulte did in the first part of the round.

Five men, three Cubs and two Reds, died in a row in the lucky seventh, then Mitchell singled, stole second, and went to third on Graham's high throw. Grant poked the first ball pitched to Zimmy for the third out.

Downey's spikes slipped in the eighth and gave the Cubs two runs. His high throw to the stand gave Tinker second base right at the start. Graham bunted and Keefe fumbled it, Tinker scooting to third. Brown lifted a fly to right far enough to score Tinker. Sheckard walked. Schulte struck out. Hofman smashed a single into center, scoring Graham and putting Sheckard on third. They tried the double steal and Sheckard was stopped at the pan.

Reds Start a Rally.

Stung by these tallies the Reds rallied in their eighth and scored two runs of their own. One was out when McLean singled. Griffith called out the naval reserves, putting Altizer on to run for Larry, and sending Clarke to bat for Keefe. Tom responded with a three base crash to right, scoring Dare Devil Dave. Bescher struck out, but Downey ripped a single into left scoring Clarke. Bates fouled out to Freestone.

Fromme went to the slab and blanked the Cubs in the ninth, in spite of Doyle's walk and steal. A pop fly, a whiff, and a grounder to Tinker disposed of Hoblitzel, Mitchell, and Grant, respectively, in the ultimate half.

Lifts Ban Off Danny Shay.

President Chivington of the American association announced yesterday that as a result of the trouble on the ball field in Columbus last Sunday Manager Shay of the Kansas City team, who was suspended pending an investigation, will be allowed on the field tomorrow, making a five days' suspension. Umpire Hayes was fined $25 for striking Manager Shay, and "Jap" Barbeau of the Kansas City team was fined $25 "for improper conduct toward spectators" on the same day.

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

Cincinnati, O., June 30.—[Special.]—One more game here then the Cub-Red fracas will be transferred to the West Side park.

Brown got even for the curtailed defeat handed him in yesterday's game by going the full route today and winning.

The crowd gave Manager Chance a hearty round of applause when he stepped to bat in the first after so long an absence from the game.

Cole probably will be sent against the Reds tomorrow and given a chance to see if he can go the route yet after his base running feats of Wednesday in St. Louis.

President Murphy left for Chicago tonight. He refused to be considered the hoodoo on this trip because the Cubs won their first game in St. Louis. Consequently the jinx developed in some other quarter.

When the game finished the Red batteries were badly twisted in the batting order. Catcher Clarke having substituted for Keefe at bat in the eighth was below Pitcher Fromme, who replaced Altizer, subrunner for Catcher McLean in the same round.

Graham got an automatic put out in the second inning. Mitchell was on first with one out when Grant struck out on a tunnel ball which got away from Graham. Mitchell went to second on the passed ball, and Grant would have reached first safely, but was properly declared out under the rules because of the runner on first.

Mitchell's vicious drive in the second inning actually knocked Brown's cap off. The three fingered star stuck up both hands and ducked to protect himself. If he had stood up straight the drive would have mashed his skull. It shot through without touching his hands, and the breeze of it blew off his lid.

Owing to the continued sickness of President Johnson of the American league the national commission meeting was postponed indefinitely and President Lynch of the National league left this afternoon for New York. Mr. Johnson was suffering so severely with inflammatory rheumatism today that his doctors told him it was doubtful how long he would be confined by the attack.

Word was received today that the National commission had given the Danville club of the Three Eyes league three days in which to pay the Chicago club for players Kirwan, Smith, Fisher, and Ball, sold to the minor team last spring. If the debt is not paid in three days the players will revert to the Cubs, and in that case arrangements probably will be made to send Shortstop Fisher to the Vernon club to keep company with Ernie Ovitz.

EVERS TO RETURN ON SUNDAY TO TAKE UP JOB AT SECOND.

Trojan Decides He Has Recovered Sufficiently from Nervous Prostration to Resume Playing.

John J. Evers has nearly recovered from nervous prostration which attacked him early in the season and benched him for so long, and if nothing serious occurs he will be seen on the initial sack in the Sunday game against Cincinnati.

The ex-merchant, who says he would rather lose $100 than a ball game, feels that he cannot stand the strain of laying off any longer and during a conversation with Manager Chance over the long distance telephone yesterday said he was fit to get back into the game. He obtained the P. L.'s sanction.

The Trojan, Vic Saier, and Lew Richie were visitors at Cub headquarters yesterday. Having nothing better to do and pay day being close at hand, they dropped in to see if there was anything doing. Nothing doing, however, as President Murphy is not home to put his John Henry to the checks. Mr. Murphy is expected in the city today.

Richie says he is ready and willing to get back on the slab. He has worked out the crimp in his shoulder muscles and will be ready to take his regular turn when his pals get back.

Ray Corhan, the White Sox infielder, who got in the way of one of Russell Ford's shoots at Highlander park during the recent eastern invasion, is on the mend, and it may not be long before he is seen in uniform. According to his local physician the blow on the head caused the formation of a blood clot behind the left ear, accounting for the dizziness experienced by the youngster. The clot is gradually being dissolved and within a few days it is expected the injury will have disappeared.

Bresna Hens Gain in Race After Exciting Battle on Home Lot.

St. Louis, Mo., June 30.—The second game of the series with Pittsburg was won today by the locals after an exciting battle, 5 to 3. There was a ten minute demonstration in the first half of the eighth when the crowd in the bleachers took exception to a decision of Umpire Johnstone who declared Wagner safe on third after having called him out. A bombardment of soda bottles followed and it was with difficulty that the disturbance was quelled. Two arrests were made. Score:

HUSBAND BALL "FAN" UPHELD.

Court Rules Men Have Right to Go to Games, Even if Their Wives Do Object.

St. Louis, Mo., June 30.—[Special.]—Judge Hugo Grimm in the Circuit court today told Cornelius Campbell that "married men are entitled to some rights in this world and when a wife objects to her husband attending a ball game or any other innocent amusement he should assert his rights and go anyway."

He gave Mrs. Lillian M. Campbell of 3447 South Second street a decree of divorce because Campbell did not contest the suit. Campbell said they could not agree about anything.

Judge Grimm asked for some specific incidents as to their disagreements and Campbell said: "She fussed when I wanted to attend a ball game."

BAN ON FIGHT AT CHICAGO HEIGHTS

Sheriff Zimmer Delivers a Knockout Punch to Goodman-Roberts Mill.

FANS "SHOW ME" KIND.

More than Two Hundred "Bugs" Journey to Suburb to Find "Orders Is Orders."

BY KNOCKOUT.

The ancient order of "Knockouts" initiated a new member last night when Michael Zimmer, sheriff of Cook county, celebrated his entrance into this pugilistic division by knocking out the fistic entertainment scheduled at Chicago Heights in which the principal actors were to have been Danny Goodman and Jack Roberts, local lightweights.

The smash that kept the lights out in the Bonath Opera house at the southern suburb was delivered early in the day, but local followers of the game didn't think the sheriff's office had a knockout punch up its sleeve. This discovery came later when about 250 sports motored or railroaded it to Chicago Heights only to find that suburb sleeping soundly from the effects of the sheriff's thump.

A special train carried about 100 fans, while another hundred left in automobiles. When the Chicago delegation reached the scene of the proposed battle the doors were found tightly locked and the lights out. The fighters were on hand, but so were two stubborn deputy sheriffs, assigned by Chief Deputy Charles Peters, who had planted themselves in front of the doors. They announced that if any attempt was made to pull off the fight wholesale arrests would follow. After waiting until 8 o'clock to see if Sheriff Zimmer's jolt was the real thing, the fans motored and railroaded their way back to the city.

The calling off of the "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson-George ("Knockout") Brown fight, scheduled for July 4 at Gary, Ind., caused a lot of disappointment in local fight circles yesterday. The action of the Gary authorities was discussed from every angle, and the wire pulling by certain persons came in for a lot of harsh criticism.

Although the bout cannot be staged at Gary, managers of the fighters hope to have the bout take place before some other club. Already several offers have been received, among them being one from Winnipeg, which will take the match if the winner will agree to meet Tony Caponi, who made quite a hit there in his recent bout with Sam Langford.

Packey McFarland continued his hard and strenuous training yesterday at O'Connell's, despite the hot weather. When he is training Packey is as conscientious as any of the local fighters, and the manner in which he went through his stunts at the gymnasium showed he is ready to give "Young" Ahearn, the New York dancing master, a good lacing. Packey boxed with Sheridan, Charley White, and Henry Singer, and at the end of the eight round session he looked almost as fresh as when he started. McFarland and his manager, Emil Thiry, will leave tonight for Albany, N. Y., where the fight will be held on Monday. Packey said this will be his last ring appearance until fall.

John Graham, who looks after the interests of Jack Hendricks, the local welterweight, who won his last fight at Gary in the first round, is anxious to match his protégé with any of the fighters of Hendricks' weight.

Jimmy Walsh, the English bantamweight, is seeking a match with Frankie Conley, the Kenosha miller, who lost the bantamweight title to Johnny Coulon at New Orleans.

There wasn't any chance for the fight to take place, for Gov. Deneen also got into action during the day. Soon after the sheriff's office had sent deputies to the Heights a telegram from the governor was received at the sheriff's office which demanded that the law be enforced.

There were no crowds to meet him, and other passengers said he was inconspicuous on the trip over.

Sailor Burke Beats Nelson.

New York, June 30.—[Special.]—Sailor Burke, the Brooklyn heavyweight, made a quick job of it tonight at the Twentieth Century A. C., when he put Ted Nelson of Australia away in the third round of a bout scheduled to go ten rounds. The referee stopped the bout, as Nelson was staggering around the ring helpless.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Tattersall [175] defeated Rinehart [135], 175 to 101 in the 18-2 class B tournament at Foley's.

George Wheeler ran away from Charley Schaefer in the fifth game of their series at three cushions played last night at Flenner's, 50 to 23. The final block will be played tonight at Schaefer's.

In the three cushion tournament at the Romeo Meyers [35] defeated Peters [35] 35 to 21. Slapke and Randall tonight.

New Boat in Water Carnival.

Dubuque, Ia., June 30.—[Special.]—A new local boat, hinted at heretofore as a "dark horse," was entered yesterday in the twenty foot class of the July 4 water carnival to be held in Dubuque. The craft is the work, engines and hull, of Farwell Bros.' plant. The engines are of eighty horse power and of the aeroplane type.

BY SAM WELLER.

Cleveland, O., June 30.—[Special.]—Ed Walsh ground the helpless Naps into the dust today and got deep revenge for the things they did to him on the preceding day. The big Chicago twirler was going at his best speed from first to last, letting the struggling locals down with four tiny singles, and won his game without an effort, the score being 8 to 1.

Big Walsh hadn't pitched long before all the speed and daring the Naps had shown in the three first games had disappeared and they struggled like helpless school children before the big fellow from then on. Ed had dandy support or the game would not have been such an easy one for him to win. Old Cy Young, the veteran of twenty-three summers, was sent to the slab, and the way the Sox clouted his delivery was a shame. It was no way to treat an old man and the gallant warrior of past years retired in favor of younger blood after he had worried through six innings.

Fans Applaud Old Cy.

The Sox banged home three runs on the old man in the first inning, and though he revived a bit and held them down for the next three, they fell upon him in the fifth for four runs and added another in the sixth, which put an end to the day's work for the hero of so many battles. In spite of his overwhelming defeat Old Cy was cheered and applauded by the entire throng after every round.

Young Mr. Harkness finished the game and did some remarkable things with the ball, causing some of the Sox's proudest batters to whiff the air frantically in their efforts to get more base hits. In the three innings he worked the Sox got only one single and didn't have a chance to score.

That clouting quartet of the Sox was in fine fettle. Everything it attempted went well. McIntyre, Lord, Callahan, and Bodie scored all of the runs except one, little Amby McConnell getting around the bags for the extra one. Collins and Tannehill, too, had a hand in the offense and helped bring in a couple of the runs.

The fielding of the Sox, too, was superb. The only slip made was by Ping Bodie, the famed fence buster, and had he not made that slip Mr. Walsh would have shut out the local boys. Bodie let Olson's single get through him in the first inning with one man out, and before Ping could scamper back and recover the ball Olson was on third base, from where it was easy for him to score on a sacrifice fly.

Naps Helpless as Babes.

After that mistake the Naps couldn't get another man as far as second base until the eighth inning. Only two up to that time reached first, one by a single and one by a base on balls. One of these was forced at second and the other was caught napping off first base.

In the eighth the Naps threatened a bit and even got the bases filled, two singles and a base on balls coming in that round. One of the singles was made possible because Tannehill fell down after fielding the ball and couldn't make the throw. There were two out, though, before the bases were full, and Walsh fanned the next batter and got out of his apparent trouble.

The game was so easy for the Sox to win that one could hardly believe it the same team the Naps had licked the three straight times. The men were more active on the bases than at any time this year, making a total of five steals. Being in the lead from the first inning on, conditions were set for daring baseball, and the Sox improved their opportunities all the way.

Score Three in First.

From the way they clouted Old Cy in the first inning it seemed he would have to be removed before he could get the side out. McIntyre, the first batter, died on a long fly to left field, and Lord followed with a slamming single to center. Callahan flashed him the hit-and-run sign and then poked one to right field for a single that put the captain on third. "Cal" stole second on the first ball pitched, and he and Lord both scored when Bodie scraped a single through the infield. McConnell raised a difficult fly to left and Graney let it slip through his hands. This put Ping on second and left Amby safe at first. "Shano" Collins ripped a hot single over second base, bringing Ping home, but McConnell was nipped going from first to third. Tannehill's slap to Old Cy closed the first round of fun.

In the Naps' half of that round with one out, Olson bounced one over Walsh's head to center field for one base and tore all the way to third when Bodie messed the ball out in the garden. Jackson's fly to Callahan let Olson get home after Catcher Graney ended things with a roller to McConnell.

Cy O. K. in Next Three.

Old Cy fanned two of the Sox batters in the second and was loudly applauded. He got through the third and fourth nicely, too, but in the fifth the Sox lost all respect for old age and almost humiliated the old man.

McIntyre opened with a drive against the concrete wall in right center and pulled up at second base. Lord bunted toward third base perfectly and easily beat it for a single, Matty taking third. Lord then promptly stole second. With the infielders playing in, Callahan slapped into Olson's hands and was thrown out at first, the two runners being held on the bags. Old Cy refused to take a chance with the fence buster and passed Ping to first, purposely, filling the bases.

This was where Little McConnell made most decidedly good, for he slammed a clean single to right, scoring both Matty and Lord and sending Ping to third. Then McConnell stole second and when Jack Collins lifted a short foul fly to left Graney came in fast, made the catch, and then heaved home to stop Bodie from scoring, but Ping was off to a good start and two-thirds of the way home the ball hit him in the legs, bounding off to foul ground and letting him score easily while McConnell went to third. Tannehill then lined a sharp single to center field and McConnell trotted home. Sullivan's grounder closed the inning.

Walsh Robbed of Triple.

At the start of the next inning Walsh was robbed of a triple when Birmingham raced back to deep center and pulled down his long drive. McIntyre, however, lined one over second for a single and stole second base. Lord grounded out on another hit-and-run play and McIntyre stopped at third, from where he scored when Callahan ripped a single past second base. Olson robbed Bodie of a legitimate single, following this, when he knocked down Ping's hard smash with one hand and recovered in time to nail the fence buster at first by a hair decision.

That rally ended the scoring of the Sox and also the hurling of Old Cy Young. Harkness appeared on the mound in the next and had so much stuff that the Sox had trouble in getting a foul.

FLIES FROM MUNICH TO BERLIN.

Aviator Hirth in Monoplane Wins $12,500 Prize for Making Trip with Passenger.

BERLIN, June 30.—Hirth, the German aviator who, with a passenger in his monoplane started from Munich at 7 o'clock last evening, arrived here at 9:08 o'clock this morning. His actual flying time was 5 hours and 41 minutes for 345 miles. A stop overnight was made at Nuremberg and another landing was made at Leipsic. The airman wins a prize of $12,500. The express trains make the trip between Munich and Berlin in ten hours. Hirth recently made a world's record for height with a passenger, ascending 5,182 feet.

SAM WELLERISMS.

Cleveland, O., June 30.—[Special.]—One more tomorrow will wind up the series with the Naps.

No one seems to know tonight who'll pitch for the Sox. It can hardly be Walsh again. Duffy may try either Baker or Olmstead.

Jim Scott was sent home quietly Thursday night. No one but the manager seemed to know about it, and no one missed him.

The crowd today numbered 8,325 paid patrons. When Cleveland can attract that many on a Friday it shows the town is supporting the game. The management expects at least 10,000 tomorrow.

Bodie is much pleased to be put back in the outfield. "I'm off the second base stuff," he said after getting back into center garden. "I was hitting 'em and they were gettin' 'em and they were hittin' 'em and I wasn't gettin' 'em."

If the Sox had been given good pitching all spring, pitching like Walsh gave them today, they would be about eight games in the lead of them all now. With good pitching the White Sox look like the best in the league.

Old Cy is about the only pitcher left in the land who can have a bad day without the crowd calling to take him out. He's one baseball man who is applauded, not for the things he's doing now but for the things he has done. We don't know how long the fickle fan will stand for this.

Manager Duffy hinted that the Cleveland owner had been after him for a trade, but said the things offered were quite impossible for the things desired. He didn't mention any names, but it is thought Stovall wants Rollie Zeider. With the Sox infield so badly crippled just now, there is little chance to get Rollie.

George Stovall seems to have landed a permanent job as manager of the Naps, though he was put in there the first week of May to act only until a man could be found to take command. Cleveland has spent a lot of time and money in the last three years for managers, and had Stovall, better than any of them, on the team all the time.

TARS TO TEST RATING RULE IN RACE TO MILWAUKEE.

Cruise to Be Made Under Universal Code and Success Is Hoped For—C. Y. C. Promotes Event.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

What is hoped to be a successful test of the universal rating rule will be made today when boats of the Chicago and Columbia Yacht clubs engage in a cruising race to Milwaukee and return. The contest is to be conducted by the Chicago Yacht club, which is the only one of the three big organizations to try out the universal formulæ as adopted by the Lake Michigan Yachting association, and officials of the C. Y. C. have endeavored to interest as many of the owners as possible in the race.

Only yachts of five tons and over are eligible to compete, and last night it was announced that twelve or fifteen boats are likely to answer the starting guns this afternoon. The pick of the racing craft at the Chicago club will compete, while some of the thirty-five footers of the Columbia club squadron are to have a try at the tempting prize list provided by the promoters. During the cruise three distinct races are to be run. On the trip to Milwaukee all boats entered will be eligible to compete for a sterling silver cup which is to be awarded to the yacht having the best corrected time on a mixed rig basis. In addition prizes are to be awarded to the winners in other classes.

Commodore Thompson's schooner Valmore heads the list of Chicago club entrants. Other boats nominated are Dr. William L. Baum's schooner Amorita, McConnell & Clinch's schooner Hawthorne, Archie Andrews' yawl Juanita, E. M. Mills' sloop Mavourneen, Roy Barcal's sloop Illinois, H. A. Sellery's sloop Josephine, C. D. Chapin's sloop Capsicum, J. B. Keogh's yawl Omoo, and George Tramel's sloop Vencedor. The last named yacht, which has been chartered for the season by the William A. Lydon syndicate, has had the work of fitting out rushed during the week and at daybreak this morning Vencedor is expected in the harbor from South Chicago.

Four sloops have been entered from the Columbia club. Those named by the Randolph street organization are D. W. MacDonald's Larrikin, George B. Currier's Evanston, J. G. Glaver's Naniwa, and R. C. Stirton's Seboomook. The yawls will be started at 3:30, the sloops at 3:40, and the schooner at 3:50.

At the Cream city the visiting yachtsmen will be the guests of the Milwaukee Yacht club and S. C. Herbst.

James O. Heyworth left Buffalo yesterday in his racing yawl Polaris, which will be a prominent contender for the Mackinac cup on July 22. Polaris is expected to arrive in Detroit tonight or Sunday morning and should be at the Chicago Yacht club anchorage in about ten days.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 30.—Junior athletes of America made a glorious record today at Forbes field when four records were broken and several equaled in the first day's meet of the Amateur Athletic union junior and senior championship games.

In the presence of 20,000 spectators, and with a fast track, perfect field and ideal weather conditions except for the burning sun, the athletes put forth their best efforts.

Records fell in the running high jump, pole vault, five mile race, and throwing of the discus.

Pole Vault Mark Broken.

One of the surprises came when S. B. Wagoner of the Pittsburg A. A., competing in the pole vault, cleared the bar at 12 feet 5.64 inches, which is 5.64 inches better than the previous junior American record. Dukes of N. Y. A. C. was second with 12 feet in his first attempt, while Lambert of Washington university, St. Louis, cleared the 12 feet in two attempts and under the rules went into third place.

O. Johnstone, Boston A. A., made a new record in the running high jump with 6 feet 6-10 inch, while in throwing the discus A. M. Mucks of the Chicago A. A. broke the record with 123 feet 5 inches. Up to this time the discus record had been held by Bentz of Seattle, Wash., with 122 feet 9 inches.

Probably the most exciting event of the day was the five mile race, won by G. A. Dull of the Pittsburg A. A., in the record time of 26:08 4-5, beating the junior American record of 26:23 1-5, which had been held by Driscoll of New York. Dunlap of West Spruce Street A. C. of Philadelphia took second place, and F. Masterson of the Mohawk A. C., New York, was third.

When the events closed late in the afternoon a count of the team points showed the Irish-American A. C. of New York in first place. Chicago A. A., which, it was believed, would be a close competitor of this club, dropped into fourth place, with the New York A. C. second and the Boston A. A. third.

In every detail the opening session of the big meet excelled the expectations of the national officials. President Brown of Chicago stated that he never had witnessed such a meet for good sport, large crowds, and enthusiasm.

Senior Events Today.

The senior events will be held tomorrow. There is greater interest, naturally, in these events, and a record breaking audience is expected at Forbes field. Summaries:

880 yard run—Won by F. W. Riley, Irish-American A. C.; McLoughlin, Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., second; Holpin, Boston A. A., third. Time, 1:56 4-5.

100 yard dash—Won by Drew, South Boston A. C.; Meyer, Irish-American A. C., second; Courtney, Seattle A. C., third. Time, :10 1-5.

16 pound shotput—Won by Reich, Irish-American A. C., 42 feet 8.8 inches; Klayes, New York A. C., third, 42 feet 3.8 inches; Waite, Cleveland A. C., third, distance 42 feet 2.8 inches.

One mile run—Won by Bowne, New York A. C.; Marceau, Boston A. A., second; Noble, A. C., third. Time, 4:27.

440 yard run—Won by Prout, Boston A. A.; Dolan, Pastime A. C., New York, second; Wood, New York A. C., third. Time, :50 4-5.

Running high jump—Won by O. Johnstone, Boston A. A.; distance, 6 feet 6.10 inchs [new junior American record]; Jennings, P. A. C., New York, second; Oler, New York A. C., third.

120 yard hurdles—Won by Terhune, New York A. C.; Schobinger, Chicago A. A., second; Braun, New York A. C., third. Time, :16 1-5.

CRIMSON VARSITY MASTER OF YALE

Harvard Eight Makes Runaway Race on Thames, Winning by 19 Lengths.

LEADS FROM THE START.

Eli's Only Victory in Freshman Event, Cambridge Oarsmen Taking "Sub" Fours.

SUMMARY OF RACES.

Varsity race, 4 miles—Harvard, 22:44; Yale, 23:45½.

Freshmen, 2 miles—Yale, 11:53; Harvard, 11:59½.

Varsity fours, 2 miles—Harvard, 13:37½; Yale, 13:52.

New London, Conn., June 30.—Harvard's effort to sweep the Thames today for the third consecutive year was not quite accomplished, for although the Crimson won the great varsity event in runaway style by nineteen lengths and the substitute varsity fours by five lengths, the Yale freshmen captured the initial event.

In each race the winning crew led from the start. Harvard's giant varsity eight shook off the lighter Yale crew quickly and never was even challenged throughout the four miles. It was the fourth consecutive victory of the big Crimson crew, a record that has not come to Cambridge for nearly half a century.

The varsity race was rowed downstream with a favorable tide, but with a head breeze that made progress slow. The morning races were rowed upstream, also with the tide, but against a moderate wind, and the time also was slow.

Huge Crowd Sees Crimson Win.

The varsity race was seen by more than 25,000 people on shore, in observation trains, and on the river in a gayly decorated floating grand stand. Overhead hovered an aeroplane, while beneath stole a submarine which escaped the vigilance of the marine policemen.

Referee Meikleham waited half an hour after scheduled time for the wind to subside, and then sent the varsity eights away from the moored punts opposite Red Top at 5:30. Harvard caught the water first, and the initial stroke showed the power of its crew. A yard was gained there, and this lead was increased to more than a length before the half mile was reached. Yale rowed in perfect form and rhythm, but power was lacking. Every Harvard stroke meant a gain, and this continued to the finish.

The crews met rough water between the mile and two mile flags and both dropped the stroke to an even 30. After leaving the navy yard, however, the Yale stroke was hit up to 33 and even 35 for a few minutes, but there was no perceptible gain, and Harvard then was far ahead.

Noisy Demonstration at Finish.

Shouts were few and far between owing to the runaway race until the Harvard crew was almost at the line. Then cannon boomed, whistles schreeched, the crowds cheered. The Harvard oarsmen paddled over the line as if they had been canoeing, while Coxswain Abeles swung around in his seat for a first and distant view of the Yale shell. Yale athletic experts shook their heads gloomily and said that Yale was surprisingly inferior. Yale rowed the race out, although the oars trailed in limp fingers. The only consolation that Yale obtained throughout the day was the freshman race.

After the freshman eights at 11:30 o'clock received the signal Harvard caught the water first and dug out a quarter of a length lead before Yale got into action. The Crimson shell was kept in the lead with the youngsters pulling well up to forty. The half mile was reached with Harvard nearly one length ahead, and the advantage was maintained until the mile had been passed.

Elis Increase Stroke.

There Sheppard, the Yale coxswain, nodded to Stroke Snowden, who began hitting up the stroke. Foot by foot the Yale shell crept up on the flying Crimson crew and at the one and a half mile stake Harvard's advantage had been cut down to a few feet. On the home stretch the Yale shell passed Harvard, and as the Crimson oarsmen had shot their bolt the Blue crew had no difficulty in winning by two lengths. Time: Yale, 11:53; Harvard, 11:59½.

A few minutes before noon the fours were sent away. Harvard once more dashed into the lead at the gun and in the first quarter mile had made it a clear half length. This advantage was kept up until just before reaching the mile, when the Crimson oarsmen opened up clear water between the shells. In the remainder of the race over the smooth water Harvard steadily drew away and when the finish was reached in Bartlett's Cove there were more than four lengths between them. Time: Harvard, 13:37½; Yale, 13.52.

SEES RACE FROM AEROPLANE.

Aviator Atwood Circles Over River During Progress of Yale-Harvard Crew Event.

New London, Conn., June 30.—An added event, unexpected and spectacular, and never before attendant upon a Yale-Harvard regatta on the Thames was the flying of Harry N. Atwood over the crews in an aeroplane during the varsity eight race late this afternoon.

Accompanied by his machinist, Atwood arrived from Boston 135 miles away this morning. In graceful circles he floated over the river from bank to bank and landed on a hill to the west of the city.

Just before the finish Atwood swooped down the river and circling, dipped almost to the surface of the water and as the Harvard eight was crossing the finish line he made a landing on shore. Atwood had Mayor Bryan F. Mahon as his passenger during the afternoon flight.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR GOLFERS

Many Events Postponed from Last Week on Account of Rain to Be Played Off Today.

Local golfers have crowded schedules for this afternoon, a number of the events postponed last Saturday on account of the rain being down for decision in addition to the events regularly carded. Calumet members will replay the qualifying round for the Whiting trophy as enough players did not qualify last Saturday to fill a flight. Events for today:

Ridgemoor—Finals Blake, Price, and Hill cups and eighteen hole handicap.

Ravisloe—Third round mixed foursome.

South Shore—First round for Thompson and Bartlett and Baird prizes.

North Shore—Blind bogey handicap.

Elmhurst—First half qualifying round for Members' and Flight trophy.

Homewood—Semi-finals Coe trophy, final for Gillett cup, and play for Mackenzie and Morava prizes.

La Grange—Membership committee trophy.

Ravenswood—Second round Gates cup.

Calumet—Qualifying round for Whiting cup.

Beverly—First qualifying round for Morgan Park cup.

Onwentsia—Handicap against par for C. T. Atkinson cup.

Skokie—Qualifying round for W. M. Hoyt cup.

Evanston—Play for Directors' cup.

Glen Oak—Ball sweepstake.

Westward Ho—Play for Tom Morris cup, final for Hill cup.

Garfield Park—Play in June tourney.

Idlewild—Qualifying round for President's cup.

Edgebrook—Match play for Irving cup.

National A. C. to Give Meet.

The National Athletic club, a west side athletic organization, with clubrooms at Center avenue and Eighteenth street, will give its annual athletic meet and picnic tomorrow at new Elliott's Park.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

Frank Farrell has called John I. Taylor a "welcher" because Mr. Taylor, according to an allegation, reneged on the sale of a player, namely Pitcher Cicotte. Now, in the line of sporting effort in which Mr. Farrell mingled conspicuously and with ripe sophistication before he hooked his chariot to the ascending baseball star, "welcher" is a fighting word, a term of opprobrium a discreet man, unless he has the "goods" and his odds with him, would not apply to a mere tout. Perhaps it hasn't the same significance in baseball, or perhaps its significance in baseball hasn't yet been established, this being its first time out in the baseball vocabulary. Mr. Taylor may not be as resentful of its application to him as a member of that discredited profession, bookmaking, would. He may, forsooth, take it as a compliment to his smartness as a baseball magnate. Who knows?

The coroner's jury in the case of Basle, killed at the Hawthorne track while driving a racing car, rendered a verdict attributing the cause to "the blowing out of a rear casing, the narrow gauge of the car, and the shape of the track," and recommended legislation "regulating" such exhibitions. That will be all right. On with the dance.

Speaking of automobile races, Col. Bill Pickens, than whom, etc., says "It is the experience of promoters that they need friends more the day after they have pulled off their show than they did the day before."

Similia similibus curantur. It takes Pitcher Groom to tame the other newlyweds on the Athletic team.

It has taken this length of time for the bugs whose fun it is to checkup on the proofreader to rumble that we spell "Cub Sydelights" that way on purpose.

LEST WE FORGET.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 29.—Dear Hek: Quite a while ago there apeared in the w. g. n. a little thing about the ghosts of former equine heroes somnambulating among the flat buildings on the site of the old Washington park track, and I've been waiting ever since in breathless suspense for you to enlarge upon it, as it were. I think it is a quaint conceit, very, and, as you are familiar with the ground, or were before they "desecrated" it, you might "go to 't" to some mirthful or sentimental purpose. J. M. P.

(Gracious of you, but the suggestion doesn't quite register. Besides real estaters take real estate so seriously.)

It is expertly put forth that "after a club has been put to the strain of beating a formidable contender the reaction may leave it an easy prey to a club from which nothing stubborn in the way of contention is expected." Any opposition to that line of reasoning? Well, let it go at that.

ONCE MORE BEFORE WE CHOP.

Fat and forty, I'll admit;
Frowsy, too—a little bit;
Frumpish, that's the heieft;
Frayed and fagged, believe me.

But I'll "come back," never fear;
Now that Lillian is here,
With her three X beauty steer
She will sure retrieve me.

It used to be that the pitchers were suffered to starve to death for want of support, and now it is that the support is starving to death for want of pitching. This is but a slight variation of the zephyrism, "There's always some d— thing."

Tremendous excitement! Kansas City has sold Homer Smoot to Wilkesbarre.

"COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES."

When I was a little boy I had no way to choose
But bundle off to school each day and mind my P's and Q's,
Now, I am a big boy, a graduate and frat,
And with all those knotty things I'm going to the mat.
I can wreck a restaurant, I can stop a train,
I can pull all sorts of stuff, the fancy and the plain.
Speed, I have a lot of it, I know all the gaits.
I will show them how to run these United States.
'ELEVEN.

Just by way of a boost for the benefit for Charles Tindill which will take place at the College theater tomorrow night: Tindill has been identified with amateur, semi-professional, and college baseball hereabouts, as an umpire, for over twenty-five years, and is pleasantly remembered. He is in a bad way now after a long illness and deserves a substantial lift. If you can't go, buy tickets.

Put Gary, Ind., with the other foci of boxing activity. The promoters have "done" not wisely but too well. The best and safest of them can't last very long the way they are abused. Experience repeats with unerring accuracy in the fighting game.

IN A M—R K—Y!

Cub Fisherman—Gettin' any?
Sox Fisherman—Nah! How's it over there?
C. F.—Rotten.
S. F.—Let's go ashore.
C. F.—Let's.

There is as much trouble in getting a fifty foot sloop into the water as there is in putting a three act drama on the stage—not that we've had any but vicarious experience with either.

SKOKIE WINS HIGGINS TROPHY

Incomplete Returns Give Club Victory with 9 Down.

SAN GABRIEL TEAM SECOND.

Homewood Takes Third Place and Windsor Quartet Fourth.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

From the incomplete returns received last night it looked as if the Skokie Country club of Glencoe, Ill., would again win the Crafts W. Higgins trophy, emblematic of the team championship of the Women's Western Golf association. The quartet representing the club yesterday finished 9 down in the annual competition against par played on the home courses of the clubs competing.

Last year the team, which then contained Miss Katherine Forrest and Mrs. G. D. Forrest, finished 13 up. Miss Edna Owsley and Miss Ethel Copeland played yesterday in place of the representatives of the Forrest family. Mrs. Harvey L. Pound, who was runner-up in the Women's western championship last year, led the quartet with a medal score of 96, which enabled her to finish 3 up.

The San Gabriel Valley Country club of California finished second, 13 down, the scores being: Mrs. J. V. Elliott, even; Mrs. Alice Tobey, 3 down; Mrs. M. James, 6 down; Miss M. Clarke, 4 down.

Homewood Country club with three misses on the team finished third, 14 down; Miss Ethel Corbet leading, 2 up. The Windsor Golf club was fourth, 15 down; Miss Frieda Werner, who had a card of 96, finishing 2 up.

Miss Helmer Finishes 5 Up.

The Midlothian Country club team which last year finished second, 9 up, did not have as strong a representation, Miss Alva Sanders, Miss Marjorie Edwards, and Miss Caroline Painter being missing. Miss Myra Helmer, who finished 4 up last year, did even better yesterday, leading the side 5 up. Her god play enabled the team to finish 20 down and take fifth position in the incompleted list. Reports were not obtainable from the Exmoor and Hinsdale clubs.

Miss Helmer Finishes 5 Up.

The Northland Country club of Duluth finished 40 down, the Sheboygan Country club of Wisconsin 46 down, and the Blue Mound Country club of Milwaukee 52 down, the last named team being handicapped by the heat. Chicago scores were as follows:

Welter and Evans Tie.

Sixty members of the Chicago Paint, Oil, and Varnish Golf association competed in a tournament at the South Shore Country club. J. N. Welter and R. W. Evans tied at 5 down in the handicap, and will play for the Howard Elting cup next week. Both had medal scores of 84.

Chairman Jones of the sports and pastime committee of the Skokie Country club yesterday issued the program of July events calling particular attention to the annual open tournament to be held July 18 to 22. Two hundred invitations will be issued and it is expected the tournament will as usual be one of the biggest of the local season. It comes just before the western amateur championship at Detroit and some of the men who will try for the western title will play, although last year the age limit was 30 and this kept several of the best youngsters out.

The women's annual invitation tournament will be held Aug. 1 to 3, and it is the only one given by a local club lasting over the one day.

The Glen Oak Country club will hold the events schedule for last Saturday on July 4. Chairman Lambert of the sports and pastimes committee is working on a schedule for the rest of the season.

VARDON FIVE TIMES VICTOR.

Defeats Arnaud Massey for British Open Championship at South Herts Golf Club.

Sandwich, England, June 30.—In the play-off of their tie for the open golf championship today Harry Vardon of South Herts Golf club defeated Arnaud Massey of Nivelle, France, winning the title, the championship cup, gold medal, and $250. The Frenchman retired at the thirty-fifth hole when Vardon had an overwhelming lead. Vardon has won the open title five times, the last preceding time being in 1903. Massey was open champion in 1907.

SIMPSON REGAINS WESTERN TITLE

Kenosha Scot Defeats McNamara of Boston in Open Golf Tourney, 2 and 1.

CONTEST HARD FOUGHT.

Eastern Expert Trails in Morning, but Gets Even Twice in the Afternoon.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 30.—[Special.]—Old Scotia's supremacy on the links was well upheld here today when Bob Simpson, the Kenosha Scot, defeated Tom McNamara, the Boston Celt, in the final thirty-six hole match for the western open championship, 2 and 1 to play. It was Simpson's second success, he having won the western title in 1907.

The match was one of the hardest fought ever seen here, McNamara putting up a good, game battle to the thirty-fifth hole. The weather conditions were ideal, the fair greens crisp, and the putting greens keen. Both morning and afternoon rounds attracted goodly galleries, the concourse during the final in trip assuming the proportions of a crowd.

The morning match started off with Simpson well in the lead, he having McNamara four down at the nine hole turn by virtue of taking the second, fifth, seventh, and eighth. On the in trip the Bostonian reduced this lead to one up for Simpson by taking the eleventh, Simpson's Jonah hole, and the thirteenth and seventeenth. Simpson went out in 35 and came in in 41 to McNamara's out in 39 and in in 38.

Simpson's lead was twice wiped out in the afternoon round, after Bob had gained an advantage by taking the first hole. McNamara got this back at the second, the "twister," by some exceptionally fine approach work, making a five hole in three to Simpson's four. The next three were halved, a sensational drive of McNamara's with his brassie averting impending disaster.

At the sixth, the hardest hole of the course, McNamara got a three to Simpson's four, and the pair were on even terms for the first time since the second hole of the morning. McNamara immediately lost the regained ground on the next hole by driving into a bunker from which it took two shots to extricate himself, requiring four to Simpson's three. They halved the next and McNamara again brought it to evens by taking the ninth with four to Simpson's five.

Simpson regained his lost lead in the next, when, after pulling away out of the course into the rough he negotiated a masterly approach and took the hole in a boggy four, McNamara going past and falling to a five. Both players indulged in their worst efforts of the day on the next two holes, halving the eleventh in five, Simpson taking the twelfth four to five, putting him two up on the match at this point.

Faulty approach work by McNamara put him three down at the thirteenth. The fourteenth was halved, Simpson laying a stymie in the way of his opponent's chance to hole out in three, two under par. McNamara took the fifteenth, cutting the Scot's lead down to two with three to go. They halved the next and the next, after McNamara made a gallant try to force the issue right up to the clubhouse doors.

Immediately following the match the awards were presented, the W. G. A. medal and $200 in cash to Simpson, $100 to McNamara, and $50 each to Jack Croke and Wilbur Oakes, beaten in yesterday's semi-finals, and the most successful tournament ever staged on the local links came to a satisfying close. The match play governing the championship was satisfactory to officials and players alike. Scores:

HEAVY PRESSURE ON JULY FUTURE

Wheat Market Higher Early, but Eases Off as Result of Hedging Sales.

CORN HAS BIG ADVANCE.

High Temperatures in the West Cause Renewed Outside Buying; Oats Easy.

Pressure on the July wheat offset the more bullish news from the northwest yesterday and after scoring a sharp advance early in the session prices eased off in the last hour. July finished ⅛c lower, September ⅝c higher, and December ⅝@¾c up. The bull influences were the big advance in corn, hot weather northwest, and rumors of rust in southern Canada.

Hedging pressure was more marked, however, and it was estimated that 400,000 bu new wheat had been bought to arrive. The prospects for heavy deliveries this morning deterred the bulls from becoming aggressive, especially as a change in weather conditions northwest would deprive the bulls of their chief argument. During the session trade was nervous and there was not much outside business at any time. The Oklahoma report was bullish, giving condition at harvest 45, against 88 a year ago.

Cash Situation Is Weak.

The weak cash situation with the expected liberal movement of new wheat and the possibility of big deliveries tends to keep trade down to a minimum. There is no demand for wheat from the mills, and as a result the bad crop reports are not so effective in causing higher prices as they otherwise would be. Yesterday high temperatures were again reported all through the northwest, and reports from South Dakota indicated further damage, but in spite of this and of the advance in corn the buying response was disheartening to the bulls.

A little wheat was reported taken at the seaboard for export, 20 loads durum and 5 loads Manitoba, and there was one report of a cargo of 250,000 bu durum to go to Russia. Traders were skeptical of these reports, however, and they fell flat. Outside cash markets weak as well as here, with the exception of Minneapolis. Stocks at latter point decreased 415,000 for the week.

Dry Market in Corn.

Corn scored another big advance as the result of continued dry weather over the belt, and in spite of a sharp reaction in the last hour closed 1@1⅛@1⅜c higher for the day. Buying was of a general character early, and on the bulge there was free realizing. The profit taking sales were taken by commission houses. Temperatures in the west were reported high during the day, but the advance was a little rapid to hold.

The cash markets were strong in all directions. The local market was up 1@2c; St. Louis 1½@2c up; Kansas City about 2c higher, and Omaha up about the same. A brisk demand is developing for corn in the southwest. Receipts here were 213 cars, with 264 cars for today. In the west receipts were 489,000 bu, compared to 556,000 bu a year ago. Cables were ⅛@1d higher, on the strength on this side and reports of dry, hot weather in Russia. Cash sales here were 125,000 bu. Five loads were reported taken for export.

Heavy Realizing in Oats.

The big feature in oats was the heavy selling by holders. Prices finished ⅛@¼c lower, in spite of the big advance in corn, and there were enough oats on tap all the time to offset the new buying. Commission houses all appeared to have oats for sale, and several of the local longs were credited with selling. Cash trade was fair with prices ⅛@⅜c higher, and sales of 140,000 bu. New oats were offered quite freely. Primary receipts were 378,000 bu, against 272,000 bu a year ago. Local receipts were 88 cars, with 129 cars for today.

Hog Products Firm at Close.

Provisions were firmer, but net gains for the day were small. There was a little scattered liquidation in July lard, but for other product a fair demand existed. Receipts were 16,000, or 4,000 less than expected, and prices at the yards were 10c higher. This, with the strength in corn, gave the market its better tone. Western receipts for the day were 69,900, compared to 52,300 a year ago. Cash trade was called fair. Liverpool was 6d higher on backs and 1s up on hams. Receipts of product here were 56 cars; shipments, 63 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Several reports of rust in southern Canada and North Dakota were in circulation yesterday, but later advices were to the effect that no reports of this kind could be confirmed. It was not stated i nthe early reports whether it was black rust that had been discovered or not, but presumably it was. Winnipeg wired Barrell there was no foundation for such reports, and Bartlett-Frazier also had reports from grain men in the western Canadian market saying the reports were given no consideration there. The original report came to Shearson-Hammill from Brandon, Man. Some traders were inclined to credit the reports of rust, claiming conditions had been of just the right kind in southern Canada to give the black rust a start. It is understood the plant has a luxurious growth in that section, and there has been lots of rain. However, traders in general were skeptical and the rumors did not have much effect.

New wheat continues to be freely offered from the country and arrivals of new wheat are increasing at all winter wheat centers. Kansas City and St. Louis are already having a good run and large receipts are expected here by the end of next week. Buyers are not taking hold any more anxiously and are buying the grain at about their own prices. One house bought 150,000 bu, and there was enough hedging pressure throughout the day to be felt in the pit. In fact the July weakness was largely responsible for the late slump in the market. Prices were a little higher at outside points early, but compared to futures the cash article was draggy at St. Louis and Kansas City. Minneapolis prices were firmly held and there was a fair demand.

W. H. Lake yesterday made the announcement that he had made a connection with A. O. Slaughter & Co. and hereafter would clear all his trades through that house.

Reports of export business in wheat recived from New York did not receive much credence here. One report was to the effect that a cargo of durum about 250,000 bu had been sold to go to St. Petersburg, Russia. Local exporters smiled at this report. There was another message export sales comprised 20 loads durum, 5 loads Manitobas, and 5 loads corn. Local exporters insist there is no possibility of any important export sales at current prices.

Lyle wired Chapin from Watertown, S. D.: "Rode from Oakes to Aberdeen, Redfield, and Watertown. The situation on the state line of South Dakota much worse than week ago. There have been no good rains and some wheat has passed out. A big rain quick would save much grain now in distress. It has been warm again and the damage is increasing. Corn maintains high condition. There is no sign of rain."

A big milling concern at Winnipeg, owning ninety country elevators said conditions in Canada were fine, with wheat heading out everywhere, something never before known in June. Prospective yield in western Kansas now estimated at 200,000,000 bu, with good conditions from now until harvest.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, corn ⅜@1¼c higher, oats ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, and rye 1@2c lower. Sales were 5,000 bu No. 2 hard wheat, shipment by July 20, 88¼c track Chicago.

Cash corn was 1@2c higher and oats ⅛@⅜c higher. Country offerings of corn were moderate, but quite a few new oats are being offered to arrive. Shipping sales were 45,000 bu corn and 140,000 bu oats.

CHICKENS HIT THE TOBOGGAN; MARKET TOO WELL SUPPLIED.

Prices for Springs Drop Sharply, with Fowls Also Lower—Green Vegetables Liberally Offered.

Poultry dealers were given another illustration yesterday of the folly of boosting values on the least provocation when prices for both fowls and spring chickens were shoved still further down the incline. The former dropped 1c while the latter broke 2@4c per lb.

The higher prices established recently, while having a detrimental effect on the demand, proved interesting to shippers, as was shown by the heavy receipts yesterday. There were 14 carloads received by freight and the express runs were liberal. The supply on sale was the heaviest in some time and the trade in no condition to take care of it. Trading wa sactive at the decline, however, speculators, jobbers, and dressers all joining in the task of disposing of the offerings. The percentage of chickens was much larger than the other descriptions of poultry, which accounts for their relative weakness. Ducks, geese, and old roosters were without change.

Offerings of green vegetables were liberal and price reductions were necessary in some cases, though general trade was good. Potato receipts were lighter with 12 cars of old and 10 cars of new, and the market was firmer, old stock bringing about 5c per bu more. Butter and eggs were quiet and steady.

TO THROW 15,000 OUT OF WORK

New England Mills to Shut Down on Account of Vacation and Curtailment.

Boston, Mass., June 30.—Next week will see a general suspension of work in New England industries, due to several causes, including the closing of mills and factories for a vacation period, repairs, and a curtailment of production. As a result of conditions in the textile industry, many of the mills closed tonight until July 10, and others will stop work tomorrow. At least 15,000 persons will be affected.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Highest prices in three months were paid for hogs at Chicago yesterday, with light receipts and aggressive competition from eastern shippers forcing packers to pay an advance of 10@15c from Thursday's values for their droves. The supply sold at an average price of $6.55, which was the highest made since March 29. The top for the day was $6.72½, against an extreme top of $6.55 Thursday. The market eased up a little before the finish, but not many hogs were left unsold at the close.

Packers recovered a little lost ground in the market for lambs and bought fair to good kinds at a decline of 10@15c. They had to pay steady for choice lambs at $7.50, however, and bought sheep at the highest prices touched since the latter part of May. Cattle trade was sparingly supplied and firm, with a top of $6.55 on steers.

BAD MINING STOCK CUTS DOWN TAXES

Assessors Find That Wealthy Men Now Dead Were Often "Stung."

PROBATE RECORDS TELL.

Worthless Securities Not Inventoried in Making Out County Lists.

An examination of the county assessor's records of unsettled estates is surprising in the amount of worthless mining stock and other "dead" securities that are inventoried.

Probate court accounts of hundreds of thousands and millions dwindle to a few hundreds and skimpy thousands when subject to appraisement. "Desperate" and "doubtful" are common words on the assessor's ledgers. Stock and properties listed either as "desperate" or "doubtful" are not credited.

The mining stock that wealthy Chicagoans, now deceased, purchased is of all descriptions—gold, silver, copper, zinc, even salt.

Several estates are affected by John R. Walsh's and others' defalcations. Many are burdened with poor paper—notes that can't be collected and bad mortgages.

What Some Estates Show.

James D. Burris	$120,000

Leader in "400" Broke?

Frederick R. Babcock, one of the "400," and a leader in the affairs of the Chicago and Union League clubs, has three big ciphers written alongside his name on the assessor's books, and there is no evidence that he filed a schedule listing property of any more value than the ciphers.

Here are some of the men whose names are on exclusive invitation lists and their personal property accounts:

R. T. Crane, scheduled	$132,000
Stanley Field, scheduled	35,000
Frederick R. Babcock	000
James Hamilton Lewis, penalized $1,250	3,750
Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, penalized $1,000	3,000
Frederic McLaughlin, scheduled	000
Buckingham Chandler	10,000
Sterling Morton, estimated	500
Lockwood Honore	7,000
Eames MacVeagh, scheduled	300
Dr. J. B. Murphy, penalized $15,000	45,000
John Borden Jr., scheduled	4,544
Marquis Eaton, estimated	450
Edson Keith Jr., scheduled	6,225
Heaton Owsley, penalized $15,000	45,000
Potter Palmer Jr., scheduled	60,000
Lorado Taft, scheduled	60,000
Hamlin Garland, scheduled	717
Honore Palmer, scheduled	85,000

The penalties imposed are the increases of 50 per cent imposed in case a schedule is not filed and there is evidence on the books of the assessors that there exists record of property that should be assessed.

WIN ONE POINT IN COURT AGAINST COPPER MERGER.

Michigan Supreme Court Orders Judge to Show Why Injunction Should Not Be Granted.

Lansing, Mich., June 30.—An order was granted by the state Supreme court in the case of the Calumet and Hecla and the Osceola Mining company consolidation proceedings compelling Judge Streeter of Houghton county, who had denied the petition for a temporary injunction, to show cause why the same should not be granted. A restraining order was issued preventing further proceedings in the consolidation until the order to show cause has been heard. This is a victory for those opposed to the consolidation.

NEW SWITCH RATE AUG. 1

Uniform Absorption of Charge Advantage to Local Shipper.

SOME ROADS WILL DISSENT.

Injunction May Be Resorted to by Systems Claiming Worst of Bargain.

The new general switching tariffs, which have been the subject of conferences between the railroads and the shippers during the last two years, and which contain the important advantage to the Chicago shipping interests of providing for uniform absorption of switching rates by the railroads throughout the entire Chicago switching district, are to go into effect on or about Aug. 1.

Although the plan is declared by shippers and railroad men generally to possess great benefits to the community and has been tentatively approved by both the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission and members of the interstate commerce commission, a peculiar situation will be created by its adoption, owing to the opposition of six or eight of the western roads that have claimed it gives them the worst of the bargain.

Western Roads Are Objectors.

These western roads object to the provision for absorption of the inbound switching on grain, claiming that this is contrary to the original understanding on which the new tariffs were based. Therefore the roads that have participated in the agreement for the new rates are preparing to issue two separate tariffs, one to apply among those who have agreed to the reciprocal arrangement and a second applying higher rates for those roads that have withheld their concurrence.

On coal, for instance, the participating roads will pay each other a switching charge of 10 cents a ton in the central district, or district No. 1, and 15 cents in district No. 2, the outside district, while the roads not participating will be charged 20 and 40 cents. The rate for merchandise switching will be $6 a ton for the participating roads and $9 or $10 for the others. The tariffs provide that where the western roads refuse to absorb the grain switching charges it will be paid by the eastern lines.

Open New Postal Station.

The Canal street station of the Chicago postoffice, in the new Northwestern passenger terminal, just beneath the train shed, will be opened for regular business at 7 a. m. today, replacing station U, at West Jackson boulevard and South Canal streets, which was closed at 6 p. m. yesterday. The new station is a fully equipped postoffice, provided with the most modern devices for handling the mails, and its location in the railroad terminal will make it possible, Postmaster Campbell announces, to adequately serve the territory formerly served by station U. It will handle all local mail coming in over the entire Northwestern system, automatic mail conveyers of a new type handling the mail pouches from the track level in the train shed to the office below.

It was announced yesterday that the Gould lines have reconsidered the plan of abolishing the traffic bureau at Chicago, and that E. B. Boyd probably will remain here in his present capacity as the head of the bureau, with the title of assistant to the vice president in charge of traffic. The purpose of the bureau is to deal with other railroads principally regarding rates and traffic matters. Mr. Boyd represents the Missouri Pacific, Wabash, St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, Denver and Rio Grande, and Western Pacific railways.

DECLARE FUSE CONCERN BROKE

Bankruptcy Decree Handed Down in Case of Muskegon Company Owing $700,000.

Muskegon, Mich., June 30.—By the action of the United States District court, the American Electric Fuse company today was adjudicated a bankrupt, the decision being handed down upon a petition filed by John G. Emery Jr., Thomas Hume, and George A. Hume, directors. The creditors allege that the defunct company had liabilities aggregating over $700,000. Three petitions allege that the concern was indebted to the petitioners to the extent of about $25,000. The matter is now in the hands of Referee Wicks for settlement.

MONOPOLY IN ORE AIDS STEEL TRUST

while only about $66,000,000 has been added to capitalization.

Reviewing the combine's present position in the industry, the report says that from the beginning the corporation has overshadowed its principal rivals, even exceeding all of its competitors combined, and while in the ten years of operation its control of production has dropped from 60 to 50 per cent, approximately, its position in ore reserves is much stronger.

The advantage of controlling 75 per cent of the lake ores, on which the industry is based, is materially enhanced by extensive control of rail transportation from the mines to the lakes.

Stronger than Figures Show.

In his letter accompanying the report Commissioner Smith says that in capacity rather than in actual production the corporation is stronger than the production figures indicate and suggests that in case of continued trade depression this strength probably would show itself in increased control.

Today's report is the first of three parts of findings by the bureau of corporations in an exhaustive inquiry into the steel industry and deals with the United States Steel corporation, the causes leading to its formation, its actual investment contrasted with its capitalization, its rate of profits, and its degree of control of the industry.

Later reports will be devoted to the independents, those companies not subsidiary to the corporation.

MILD METHODS NOW, SAYS GARY.

LONDON, June 30.—The Duke of Devonshire and a committee of iron and steel manufacturers dined at the Savoy hotel tonight the American, German, and Belgian representatives of the same interests.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, in responding urged the importance of coöperation.

"We have reached," he said, "a higher method of doing business than formerly existed. We help ourselves by helping others. Competition means that we should take our competitor by the hand instead of by the throat. Formerly it was considered fair to drive out a competitor from the market. That time has passed."

DELAYS GAS REPORT; COUNCIL MAY NOT ACT THIS SUMMER.

Ald. Twigg "Hopes" to Have Findings Reviewed and Ordinance Approved in Single Day.

Instead of reaching the members of the city council today, as was promised by Ald. Charles Twigg at the meeting last Monday, the report of E. W. Bemis, "trimming" the recommendation of W. J. Hagenah that the price of gas be fixed at 77 cents, will not be placed in the hands of the aldermen until after the Fourth.

Although Ald. Twigg as chairman of the committee on gas, oil, and electric light told the council that the report would be completed Tuesday noon and sent at once to the printer, it was delayed following a conference with Mayor Harrison and did not go to the printer until last evening. Ald. Twigg also announced his "hope" that an ordinance would be ready for the council meeting next Thursday evening.

With this in mind Ald. Twigg "hopes" to get the printed copies of Bemis' findings on Wednesday so that he can call a meeting that day with the aim of having the report reviewed and an ordinance approved in the single day left before the council meets. The more conservative members of the committee declare this impossible and doubt that council action can be taken before the time set for adjournment for the summer.

Used Small "Peck" Measure; Fined.

Because he was using a "peck" measure which didn't hold a peck, Nicholas Caulis, a peddler, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Fry in the Hyde Park court yesterday.

SATTERLEE FAILS TO GET IMMUNITY

Appearance Before Grand Jury Does Not Exempt Son-in-Law of Morgan.

NO WARRANTS ISSUED.

Gary and Gould Refuse to Discuss Action Against the Wire Trust.

New York, June 30.—[Special.]—Delay of the federal grand jury in handing down the nine indictments on Thursday against the individuals in the wire trust pools was caused by debates over the case of Herbert L. Satterlee, son-in-law of J. P. Morgan. He was indicted as president of the Haverstraw Wire company. The indictments charge that this corporation's officers are identified with the Rubber Covered Wire association. It manufactures rubber covered telephone and telegraph wire.

Satterlee appeared before the grand jury, but not in a way to assure him immunity, according to the prosecution.

Deny Chance of Immunity.

Two assistant district attorneys, Frankfurter and Crim, said today that Satterlee's presence in the room in no way gave him immunity from prosecution. The district attorney, Henry M. Wise, is out of town. He is not expected to return before July 10.

No bench warrants have been issued for any of the eighty-three indicted steel men, nor have any arrests been made. It is expected that when court opens, a number of them will appear to plead to the indictments.

GARY AND MORGAN SILENT.

LONDON, June 30.—E. H. Gary and J. Pierpont Morgan declined today to discuss the federal indictments found against the company in the alleged wire pools.

INDICTED DIRECTOR'S AGENT TELLS OF A REFINERY DEAL.

Former Head of University of Pennsylvania Now Sorry He Sold Large Plant to Sugar Trust.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—Davis S. Stetson, a Philadelphia ship broker, and cousin of Washington B. Thomas, an indicted director of the American Sugar Refining company, told the house sugar trust investigating committee today how he acted as Thomas' agent in negotiating with Adolph Segal for the acquisition of the Pennsylvania Sugar refinery.

Thomas was indicted for conspiracy to restrain trade in connection with the absorption of the Pennsylvania concern by the so-called trust in 1903.

Former President Charles C. Harrison of the University of Pennsylvania, one of the owners of the Franklin Sugar Refinery company, which was sold to the "trust" in 1902, testified that then he did not know there was any risk of violating a federal law. He said the great plant had been idle since 1897 "because of the great overproductive capacity of the eastern refineries."

"I wouldn't sell out today to the American Sugar Refinery if I had it to do over again," said Mr. Harrison. "We sold our inheritance and we cannot do for our sons what our fathers did for us."

Door Company Head Testifies.

MICHIGAN CITY, June 30.—The examination of President J. J. Stevenson of the defunct Michigan City Sash and Door company, upon his sworn statement of the company's assets and liabilities, was held today in the Superior court. The La Salle Street National bank of Chicago, a creditor to the extent of $150,000, was represented by Attorney J. J. Crowley of Chicago. The statement gives the assets as $43,000 and liabilities as $123,000.

NEW YORK BEARS MAKE FALL-DOWN

Stocks Drop, but Downward Movement Fails to Develop to Any Importance.

WIRE CASE THE CAUSE.

U. S. Steel Loses, Though Thought to Have Attained a Strong Technical Position.

New York, June 30.—Movements of stocks today betrayed the uneasiness felt on account of the government's action against wire manufacturers, made known yesterday after the close of the market.

Indictment of various corporation officials had been foreshadowed in reports in circulation for several days, so that the effect upon the market was lessened. Intimations that this step represented only one branch of the investigation being carried on by the government, involving the activities of the United States Steel corporation, disturbed speculative sentiment further.

The bear party, however, failed to inaugurate a movement of sufficient size to give the market a decided impetus downward. Opinion was divided as to whether impressive support was offered so promptly as to discourage an extended bear raid, or whether the comparatively narrow movements of the market were due to inertia.

Irregularity, Not Weakness.

Declines of as much as a point were recorded in only a few of the leading issues, and the strength of isolated stocks was sufficient to give the list an appearance of irregularity rather than pronounced weakness.

United States Steel lost less ground than did a number of other stocks not directly concerned in the events of the day. The attack of the bear party against this stock has been so persistent that the short interest is thought to have reached large proportions, placing it in a strong technical position.

The Harriman issues, Southern Railway preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio and Kansas City Southern, were the weakest of the railroad group, while in the industrial list Amalgamated Copper and American Beet Sugar experienced setbacks.

The Erie issues all developed pronounced strength and rose to the highest prices of the year. Recent developments in Erie, including the favorable May report of earnings published earlier in the week and dispatches from Canada telling of a conference between a representative of the road and a Canadian Pacific official, were followed by buying orders from what were said to be important sources.

Upward Movement Follows.

During the afternoon trading in Erie was the one feature which gave an appearance of life to the market. Reports that control of the road might pass to the Canadian Pacific were followed by a brisk upward movement in Minneapolis, St Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, a subsidiary of the Canadian line.

Despite the weakness in Amalgamated Copper, reports from the metal trade told of increased activity. No large buying movement, however, is under way, and some price shading has been reported during the week. Domestic deliveries of copper during June are estimated at well up to 70,000,000 lbs, a figure which foreshadows a considerable decrease in stocks on hand as a result of the month's operations.

A considerable loss in cash by the banks is indicated by known movements of currency during the week, due in large part to heavy payments to the subtreasury on account of subscriptions to the Panama bond issue.

Increase in Loans Shown.

Completed returns from all national banks, as submitted in response to the controller's recent call, showed an increase in loans and discounts between March 7 and June 7 of nearly $53,000,000.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,290,000.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2½ per cent; closing bid, 2½ per cent; offered at 2½ per cent. Time loans, dull; 60 days, 2½ per cent; 90 days, 2½@2¾ per cent; six months, 3¼@3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange easy with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8425 for 60 day bills and at 4.8610 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83¾. Bar silver, 52⅝c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, irregular.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, June 30.—Money was scarce and dearer and discount rates were firm today. Despite the satisfactory conclusion of the settlement the stock market was weak. Consols declined ⅛ on dear money, politics and fears of new stock issues and Mexican rails were weakened by realizing. American securities opened quiet and steady and ruled about unchanged during the first hour. Then prices declined under realizing, induced by the indictment of the steel and wire corporations in New York and crop news. Later Wall street offerings caused further losses and the market closed easy.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 30.—[Special.]—Conflicting influences moved cotton prices slightly upward on the near months and slightly downward on the far off deliveries today. July notices to the amount of 20,000 to 25,000 bales were issued, but they were promptly stopped, and both July and August advanced. The anomaly is still witnessed, however, of July selling at 14.59c in New York, 15.05c in New Orleans, and 15⅝c in Liverpool. Some spot interests were buying July and selling August. Other spot people bought August. Liverpool bought July and sold August. Spinners were still buying fall months. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 14.80c; middling gulf, 15.05c. Sales, 400 bales. Futures closed steady at 6 points decline to 4 points advance, the latter on July. Estimated sales, 100,000 bales. Prices:

Municipal Bonds

The following bonds represent the highest type of investment. We have placed our own funds in these securities and strongly recommend them.

This banking house has been engaged in the purchase and sale of Municipal Securities for over thirty-five years and has handled in that time over One Thousand Million Dollars ($1,000,000,000) in bonds. Our large and growing clientage is evidence of the policy of conservatism that has been followed.

Our July Bond Booklet will be sent on request. It contains many additional attractive investments, including high grade Corporation, Railroad, Public Utility, Industrial, Timber Bonds, etc.

'L' MERGER WINS; MEETS ALL TERMS

Stock Deposits Average 91 Per Cent; Plan Becomes Operative Today.

SURFACE LINES ARE NEXT

Big Union Problem to Be Taken Up in Fall; Boxboard Defaults Interest.

Official announcement that the "L" merger plan was to become operative today caused a large volume of deposit of stocks to be made. Total deposits in Chicago yesterday and in New York up to the close of business June 28 were 91 per cent, or more than Henry Blair and his banking friends asked for before carrying out the plan. They wanted 90 per cent.

While the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, the local depositary, announced it considered the time for accepting deposits ceased yesterday, still a number of "agreements to deposit" were signed. These agreements were given in order to allow time for the deposits of stocks held by estates and by individuals abroad. These are to be made by Nov. 1.

The stockholders of the several elevated companies have until July 10 to indicate whether they will deposit under the all cash plan or the cash and securities plan. Then from July 10 until July 20 the bankers have the right to make payments for the deposited stocks. It is thought that few checks will be mailed much before July 20.

Northwestern Voids July Dividend.

Stockholders of the Northwestern Elevated will not receive the usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent, ordinarily payable in July. The dividend was not declared at the regular time last month and none will now be distributed.

Stockholders of the South Side Elevated received yesterday a quarterly dividend of ¾ per cent. Metropolitan preferred stockholders have already received their usual dividend, so that no more dividends will be forthcoming to stockholders under the present managements.

The big merger of both the surface and elevated lines will be taken up actively early this fall. Negotiations will be opened with the city for the purpose of securing necessary grants from the council which must be had before a consolidation can be effected. At the same time with the unified systems the street railroads will be in a position to grant extended service to patrons.

"L" Stocks Fill Requirement.

Boxboard Interest Default.

The United Boxboard company has issued a circular to bondholders and stockholders announcing that the directors have decided not to pay the July 1 interest on the $1,592,000 general mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund bonds and the $1,240,250 collateral trust 6 per cent bonds of the United Boxboard and Paper company.

It is explained in the circular that under the terms of the issue of these bonds it is provided that if the interest is not paid within ninety days after maturity a default may be declared by the trustees, and that the United Boxboard company directors have decided to take advantage of this ninety day clause.

Meanwhile the bondholders will be given an opportunity to consider a readjustment of the mortgage indebtedness. This, the directors say, is deemed expedient for the benefit of both the bondholders of the United Boxboard and Paper company and the stockholders of the United Boxboard company, its successor.

Change in Firm Members.

Announcement is made that William J. Louderback retired yesterday as special partner in the firm of Babcock, Rushton & Co., and that Clive Runnells and Emanuel Beranek were admitted as general partners.

Dividends Declared.

The board of the American Rolling Mill company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock and 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, both payable July 15 to stock of record at the close of business June 30.

The Indian Refining company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock, payable July 15 to stock of record June 30.

Money and Exchange.

Money in Chicago steady at 3½@4½ per cent on commercial and local collateral loans and 4@6 per cent over the counter. Foreign exchange was firm at the following quotations:

New York exchange sold at 20c premium before and 15c premium after clearings. Clearings were $41,320,813.

General Financial News.

Copper exports for the week ended June 29 were 5,380 tons, being a decrease of 2,150 tons. For the month of June the exports were 37,490 tons, being an increase of 4,810 tons, compared with the corresponding period last year; from Jan. 1 there was an increase in exports of 25,586 tons.

Chicago Securities.

The elevated shares were the feature of trading on the local stock exchange. The formal announcement that the plan would become operative today caused the deal to be considered and assured, and prices advanced accordingly. There were no trades in Northwestern L bonds, the market for them having been cleaned up. Within the last day or two one local firm, Babcock, Rushton & Co., has purchased more than $1,000,000 of the issue, the bonds going to New York.

Commonwealth-Edison shares firmed up to 130, an advance of 1½ points over the previous day's close. The Commonwealth company will profit in the present deal with the making of exclusive contracts with it by the merged roads for power.

The various participation certificates of the Chicago Railways company were quoted. Series 1 advanced ½ point to 87½; series 2, certificates, were well bought and the price moved up from 24 to 26⅝; series 3 sold at 9½ and 9⅝, while series 4 sold at 5.

POSTOFFICE RECEIPTS OFF: BAD SHOWING FOR JUNE.

Report by Postmaster Campbell Will Give Figures Indicating Poor Conditions in Business.

Preliminary sheets of the annual report of the postoffice will show a startling falling off of postoffice receipts in the last two months.

These receipts are considered a fair indication of general business conditions, and Postmaster Campbell says the showing will be bad.

Ordinarily the receipts of the postoffice from month to month have shown an increase of from 12 to 15 per cent over the same period of the year previous. The report of business for June, it is said, will show an increase of only 3 per cent over a year ago.

"We are preparing our annual report," said Postmaster Campbell yesterday, "and while as a whole it will show a healthy increase, yet the business done the last two months has not been indicative of the usual degree of growth at this business center."

Senate of Tennessee Takes Item Giving $500 to Every Member of Legislature Out of Bill.

Nashville, Tenn., June 30.—By a vote of 18 to 15 the senate of the Tennessee legislature today passed a resolution favoring the elimination of the item in the appropriation bill which grants $500 "expense money" to every member of the senate and house.

SUMMER'S QUIET RULES BUSINESS

R. G. Dun & Co. Say in Review Trade Shows Between Seasons Activity.

CROP PROSPECTS LEND AID

Railroads Start Fiscal Year and Plan Large Contracts; Strike Troubles Grow Less.

Dun's Review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"The summer quiet is now in evidence in commerce and finance and little change is looked for in production and distribution. Payments through the banks and trading defaults again compare unfavorably, but better tendencies appear in the prominent industries and leading retail lines sustain recent large dealings in seasonable apparel and necessaries.

"Wholesale activity in general merchandise is of between seasons character. Fewer outside buyers operate in staples, and road and mail orders decreased slightly, but June sales have been greater than in the same month last year in dry goods, boots and shoes, clothing, millinery, cloaks and suits, men's furnishings, hats and caps, furniture, carpets, and food products.

Hot Weather Enlivens Trade.

"Current shipments include a fair variety of textiles, outing, and sporting goods, and demands have held steady in jewelry, fancy goods, art wares, and musical lines. Hot weather was widely beneficial, stocks being amply depleted in all directions, and, with the improved consumption, the outlook indicates early replenishment and further liberal selections soon of fall and winter needs for the interior.

"Business prospects derive encouragement from crop conditions. Winter wheat thrashes out better than expected. Additional shrinkage affects oats, but corn maintains excellent progress in the leading states, and late advices show wheat loss in South Dakota is less serious than first reported. Rainfall and temperatures this week were unusually favorable for the growing cereals and pastures.

Breadstuff Movement Large.

"The markets for flour, grain, live meats, porviscions, and dairy products continue well supplied. Aggregate movements of the principal breadstuffs largely exceed those of a year ago, and new wheat arrives earlier than usual. Movements appear exceptionally heavy in hides and wool, but are decreased in iron ore, minor metals, salt, lumber, and coal. Dealings in crude materials for factory conversion disclose no perceptible gain in demands for future deliveries, and costs are without change, aside from firmer tone in hides and leather and weaker trend in factory woods.

"New contracts exhibit rising tonnages in pig iron and structural steel. The demand is yet strong for wire products, but little new business is done in rails, cars, equipment, and forge work. Railroads are now in the new fiscal year and are expected to make important contracts soon for power, track needs, extensions, and improvements. Strike troubles have been reduced in building lines and increasing effort is noted in heavy construction. June permits for business structures were seventy-three in number and $2,537,000 in value, and compare with sixty-one and $3,116,000, respectively, in June, 1910.

Grain Shipments Show Heavy.

"Total movement of grain at this port, 9,543,400 bu, compares with 10,079,550 bu last week and 6,775,450 bu a year ago. Compared with 1910 increases appear in receipts 38.5 per cent and in shipments 43.3 per cent. Flour receipts were 107,079 brls, against 104,677 brls last week and 110,483 brls a year ago, while shipments were 106,761 brls, against 115,786 brls last week and 139,692 brls in 1910.

"Aggregate receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep, 284,012 head, compare with 252,386 head last week and 254,743 head last year. Receipts of hides were 3,478,400 lbs, against 3,122,700 lbs last week and 1,954,310 lbs in 1910. Wool receipts rose to 5,474,700 lbs, and compare with 2,560,600 lbs last week and 1,343,900 lbs last year. Lumber receipts were only 40,526,000 feet, against 42,733,000 feet last week and 60,714,000 feet in 1910.

Cash Prices Generally Higher.

"Compared with the closings a week ago, cash prices are unchanged in flour and lard, but higher in corn ½c a bu, oats ⅝c, choice cattle 5c a cwt, and sheep 40c, and lower in wheat 1⅝c a bu, hogs 2½c a cwt, ribs 25c, and pork 37½c a brl.

"Bank clearings, $249,000,605, are 8.7 per cent under those of corresponding week last year and compare with $279,109,156 in 1909. Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 25, as against 26 last week, 21 in 1910, and 23 in 1909. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 8, against 5 last week, 6 in 1910, and 5 in 1909."

Bradstreet's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"A quiet week in trade and industry ends a six months' period which has proved disappointing to the business community.

"Perhaps the most notable feature of the week has been the partial breaking of the drought in the west, which has led to a better tone in merchandise lines but to little real expansion in trade. One of the lines at present showing a good tone is iron and steel, which reflects the effects of recent price cuts in a larger volume of business in crude and finished lines and more doing in the matter of output.

"Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 29 were 227, against 222 last week, 197 in the like week of 1910, 218 in 1909, 236 in 1908, and 135 in 1907. Business failures in Canada for the week number 31, which contrasts with 17 last week and 27 in the corresponding week of 1910.

"Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending June 29 aggregate 2,078,405 bu, against 1,538,478 last week and 1,531,177 this week last year. For the fifty-two weeks ending June 29 exports are 122,873,761 bu, against 143,072,304 in the corresponding period last year. BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE: SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1911.

MORE LAND SOLD BY HETTY GREEN

Twenty-eight Acre Tract at Sixty-ninth and Halsted Brings $155,000.

NEW LOOP LEASE RECORD

Morrison Hotel Company Pays $20,000 a Front Foot for Another Parcel.

Mrs. Hetty Green has disposed of more of her south side property, having sold a tract of about twenty-eight and one-half acres at the southwest corner of South Halsted and Sixty-ninth streets, for $155,000, which is at the rate of about $5,087 an acre.

The name of the purchaser, who was represented by Madlung & Eidmann, is withheld, while H. O. Stone & Co., who had charge of Mrs. Green's Chicago properties for fifteen years, represented her in the transaction.

The property has about 900 feet of frontage on Halsted street, 1,582 on South Green and Peoria streets, 1,357 on Sangamon, 700 on Morgan, and 931 on Sixty-ninth street.

The corner of Halsted and Sixty-ninth is a permanent transfer corner, and the tract sold is entirely surrounded by improved property and streets.

New Morrison Hotel Lease.

The recording of the long term lease of the Andrews estate property at 108 Madison street, old number, between Clark and Dearborn streets, to the Morrison Hotel and Restaurant company discloses the fact that the lease establishes a new high record value for that street, $20,000 a front foot and $105.21 a square foot.

The property adjoins on the west the Rosenfeld property, which recently was acquired by the same lessee under long term lease on a basis of $17,523 a front foot and $90 a square foot. These are strong figures for Madison street, but the $20,000 established by the Andrews lease is suggestive of the best part of State street and indicates the remarkable appreciation of Madison street values during the last few years.

The lot fronts twenty-two and one-half feet with a depth of 190 feet, and the lease, which runs for a term of 105 years and six months, provides for a net annual rent of $18,000, which capitalized on a 4 per cent basis, gives a leasing value of $450,000, which is equivalent to the front and square foot valuation indicated. The lease provides further that the lessee is to erect a first class, modern, fireproof building not less than ten stories high, to be completed by May 1, 1923. It is planned to have it eventually form a part of the site of the proposed new $5,000,000 Morrison hotel.

New $100,000 Masonic Temple.

A Masonic temple to cost $100,000 is to be erected by the Hyde Park Masonic Temple association on ground which it has just acquired at the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Fifty-first street. The ground, which is vacant, fronts 120 feet in the avenue and 160 feet in Fifty-first street, and was purchased from Mary J. Hervey and others for $30,000. Louis Grollman of Weinberg & Grollman, attorneys, taking title for the association.

The Fifty-first street frontage will be improved with a two story building containing eight stores on the ground floor and offices above, while the Michigan avenue frontage, where the temple proper will be located, will be three stories high. There will be large and small lodge halls and the work of construction will begin about the middle of July.

The association, of which Alexander L. Levy, the architect, is president; Harry Morris, vice president; Lee Michael, secretary, and Adolph Pike, treasurer, has just been organized and a charter applied for. There are seventy-five subscribers and the capital stock is $40,000. There is considerable inquiry already for space in the building.

$6,000,000 Bond Issue Secured.

Record has been made of the mortgage by the Knickerbocker Ice company to the Central Trust company of New York and Charles G. Dawes, trustees, securing an issue of $6,000,000 bonds running thirty years at 5 per cent. The bonds, which are secured by all the property of the company, including seventy parcels in all in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, all redeemable on any interest payment day at par and accrued interest, with premium of 5 per cent.

John W. Ries has sold through S. Rogers Touhy to John A. Bickford the eight flat building at the northeast corner of George and Robey streets, the nine flat building at Bryn Mawr and Hermitage avenues and flat buildings on Rogers avenue and Robey streets. Mr. Ries took in part payment the northeast corner of North Clark street and Rogers avenue, 431x150 feet. The total value of the properties is $86,300, and Mr. Ries is having plans prepared for the improvement of the Clark street property with stores and flats.

Negotiations have been concluded whereby the purchase of the northeast corner of Astor and Scott streets has been closed. This transaction takes off the market the last large available corner Astor street. The lot has three frontages, 86 feet south exposure on Scott street, 135 feet west frontage on Astor street, and a north exposure of 98 feet on Union square.

The owners are about to erect a three story and English basement nine apartment building. Two of the apartments will be occupied by the owners of the property, H. L. Street and G. A. Ranney.

WEST RAVENSWOOD

The most complete subdivision in Chicago, lying between Western-av. and Rockwell-st. and Montrose-blvd. and Lawrence-av. Ravenswood Branch of N. W. "L" runs directly through the property, two stations Western-av. and Rockwell-st., 34 minutes to the loop.

Our street improvements are all in and paid for and of the best quality and workmanship money can buy. We do not offer property for sale until it is complete in every detail, so that you do not have to rely on promises of what is going to be done, but can see for yourself what is done.

We have established building lines on all residence streets, thus preventing one owner building out beyond his neighbor. Also restrictions as to cost of buildings, insuring a better class of improvements.

Lots from $800 and upwards, all improvements in and paid for. Terms $10 cash, $40 in 30 days, and the balance $5 per month.

Some exceptional opportunities in business lots on Lawrence, Western, and Montrose-avs.; no restrictions on business lots.

We have several houses and two flat buildings for sale on easy terms.

TO
ARDMORE
45 MINUTES FROM STATE-ST.
WHERE EVERY LOT IS AN ACRE.

WHY LIVE IN A HOT, STUFFY FLAT, IN A smoky, dirty city, looking out upon brick or stone walls, when you can have a view of the beautiful country for miles around?

WHY MAKE THE CHILDREN PLAY OUT IN the streets, where they are threatened with all sorts of dangers, say nothing of the evil companions?

WHY PAY EXTRA HIGH PRICES FOR POTAtoes and other vegetables, besides eating cold storage eggs half the year, when you could have these things fresh at one-third the expense?

WHY PAY RENT TO ANOTHER MAN ALL of your life when a few monthly payments would make you the owner of a beautiful Ardmore home, with trees, shrubbery, flowers, and every city improvement?

WHY PAY A BIG PRICE FOR A 25 FOOT CITY lot, hemmed in everywhere, when you can have a 200 foot Ardmore acre, with every improvement, for less money?

ARDMORE HAS A CHURCH, $10,000 SCHOOL house, water, electric lights, $300,000 in new, modern homes, and two new stations on the famous
AURORA ELGIN CHICAGO R. R.

SALARY LOANS.

SALARY LOANS—
Every person in Chicago getting a salary, kindly call at our office and get all the money you want on your OWN NAME, without security; a written guaranty will be given you not to enforce payment through your firm.
WE MUST GET OUR MONEY OUT,
so everybody come and get it; our rates are the lowest in the city. You can pay us back in easy weekly and monthly payments at your own convenience.
NO ONE REFUSED MONEY.
Whether you borrow or not, come and get our rates first; honorable, fair, and just treatment accorded to all.
Present this ad.; it's good for money. You get the money the day you call; all we ask is to investigate our special rates first.
STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 8516.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan Credit and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4303 Grand-blvd., and having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

MONEY FOR SALARIED PEOPLE — IF YOU hold a permanent salaried position we will loan you any reasonable sum from $10 upward WITHOUT security or knowledge of employer or friends. Our rates are LOW, payments easy. REBATE IF paid before due. QUICK SERVICE; long time if desired; no red tape; no extra charge; nothing taken out of loan in advance. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Will receive courteous treatment whether you borrow or not.
